HARVARD OARSMEN BEST OLD ELI IN BOTH BOAT RACES

(By Associated Press.)

REGATTA COURSE, NEW LONDON, Conn., June 20.—Rowing true to form, Harvard crews won both preliminary races in the annual regatta with Yale here this morning. Disagreeable weather conditions appeared to have no effect upon the Crimson oarsmen, for, in both varsity four-oared and freshman eight races, they led their Eli rivals from start to finish.

RAIN IN FORENOON.

It rained steadily during the entire forenoon, but the Thames was almost without a ripple.

The four-oared race was little more than a procession. Harvard took the lead at the pistol crack and steadily increased it. At the finish of the two miles the lengths separated victors and vanquished. The official time was:

Yale, 12 minutes, 11 seconds.

The struggle between the first-year crews was a real race. Although the Crimson won, the showing of the Eli youngsters was excellent.

HARVARD SHOWS FORM.

Both eights caught the water at 10:32 and raced up river toward the two-mile mark at a 38-stroke clip. In the opening dash Harvard showed a little more finish and drive in its stroke and gradually went into the lead until at the first half-mile mark the Cambridge crew led by half a length, rowing at 38 to Yale's 32.

Passing the mile mark both eights rowed steadily. Harvard dropped to a 36 mark but had increased her advantage to a length.

Here the blue youngsters started a spurt that set the Yale clan shouting. Jumping their stroke to 36 and then to 38, they gradually cut down the crimson lead to a scant half length at the mile and a half mark.

Still rowing smoothly the New Haven combination worked the stroke up to 40 and it began to appear as though Yale would nip their rivals before the finish was reached.

AT 40 STROKE CLIP.

Harvard had power in reserve, however, and also increased its stroke until both crews were racing at 40 strokes.

A quarter of a mile from the finish the pace proved too much for Yale. A scant length separated the two shells as they passed between the finish flags.

Both crews finished without signs of excessive exhaustion and held perfect stroke form until the end. So far as could be judged, there was very little difference between the so-called Wray stroke and the English stroke rowed by the Yale oarsmen.

DIFFERENCE IN RIGS.

The Yale crew used the English method of seating and Thole pin oarlocks in place of the swivel outrigger of the Harvard shell. There was nothing to indicate an advantage one way or the other in these differing forms of rigging.

Only four seconds separated winner and loser. Harvard finished the two miles in 10:41, as against Yale's time of 10:45.

Cincinnati Ice Famine

(By Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, June 20.—The city of Cincinnati went into the ice business today when it established depots at all of the fire stations.

Families were supplied who could not obtain ice from their regular dealers on account of the strike of ice wagon drivers, their helpers and engineers of ice plants. A number of plants were closed.

SENATE DEMOCRATS ADD MANY ARTICLES TO TARIFF FREE LIST

Wheat, Pig Iron, All Animals Suitable for Human Food, School Books, Cement, Asphaltum, Leather and Films

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Democratic senators caucused today on the tariff bill as revised by the majority of the finance committee. Only the income tax feature was held back for revision. The committee expects to meet Sunday to complete that work.

Chairman Simmons indicated he expected opposition in the caucus to the sugar and wool program, but believed the schedules would not be changed.

The amendment permitting the president to proclaim special rates when former nations discriminate against the United States, provides that he shall exercise this authority on certain articles as follows:

"Fish, fresh, smoked and dried, pickled or otherwise prepared, 1 cent per pound; on wheat, 10 cents per bushel; on wheat flour, 45 cents per barrel; on coffee, 3 cents per pound; on tea, 10 cents per pound.

"On the following articles a duty not to exceed one and one-fourth times that specified, on earthen, stone and chinaware, lemons, cheese, wines of all kinds, malt liquors, knitted goods, silk dress and piece goods, leather gloves, laces and embroideries of whatever material composed, and articles made wholly or in part of same, toys, jewelry and precious, semi-precious and imitation precious stones, suitable for use in the manufacture of jewelry.

"On the following, in addition to the duties as provided: Sugars, tank bottoms, syrup of cane juice and concentrated molasses testing by the polariscope not above 75 degrees, 15-100 cents per pound, and for every additional degree by the polariscope test, additional 1-100 cent per pound; on molasses 2 cents per gallon."

CHANGES MADE.

Here follows the principal changes made by the senate finance committee in the rates of the house tariff bill and presented today to the Democratic senate caucus.

Added to the free list: Alizarin; single jute yarns; school books; cement; creosote oil; anthracene and anthracene oil; glaziers and sand and engravers' dia-

CONGRESS TURNS ITS EYE FROM TARIFF TO CONSIDER CURRENCY

President Wilson's Consolidated Currency Bill Will Be Introduced in Both Houses During Next Week

TENTATIVE DRAFT BRINGS DISCUSSION IN CONGRESS

Interest Now Centers in the Powers of Supervision to Be Exercised by Federal Reserve Board Over Banks

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Congress turned its eyes away from the tariff today and scrutinized the administration's currency bill.

While the measure will not be introduced in both houses until next week the tentative draft brought about informal discussion generally by which President Wilson and the Democratic leaders hoped to develop complete harmony when the bill is launched.

While it has been known for some time that framers of the measure—Secretary McAdoo, Senator Owen, Representative Glass and the president—contemplated a system of twelve regional reserve banks in districts whose areas were not necessarily equal geographically but followed the lines of trade and domestic commerce, interest centered today in the powers of supervision to be exercised by the federal reserve board of nine members over the reserve banks.

Though originally it was planned to give the banks representation on the federal reserve board, it was argued that the banks practically would have the entire management of the federal reserve banks and that by placing the board entirely in government control, a check on the operations of the reserve banks might be assured.

The underlying idea of the bill in the minds of the former has been to effect an easy and unembarrassing change from the present banking system by using existing machinery.

RETIREMENT OF BONDS.

The bill is expected to be the subject of liberal amendment. Provision for retirement of two per cent bonds by which $700,000,000 of national bank notes now are secured, so as to provide against depreciation, will be one of the foremost problems.

The provision for note issue the administration hopes will no be changed. It is said to be the result of a canvass of prominent bankers, but of business men who thought it practical and sound.

Whenever a state or national bank desires to obtain currency, it applies first to the federal reserve bank in its region, submitting with its application a tender of collateral security. The security thus offered must be notes and bills of exchange endorsed under rules laid down by the federal reserve board, which may issue up to $500,000,000 in notes.

The federal reserve banks must hold 33 1-3 per cent in gold of the amount of notes advanced. The notes also become a first and paramount lien on all the assets of the federal reserve banks.

ELEMENT OF ELASTICITY.

The element of elasticity is obtained, according to administration officials, in levying an interest charge on the note issue. This rate is to be established by the federal reserve board with due regard to the prevailing charge in the money market. It is calculated that a fall in the demand for funds accompanied by a decline in the market rate of interest would furnish an incentive for the retirement of the treasury notes.

In permitting the federal government board to direct the transfer of funds among federal reserve banks, the board may at its own discretion act as a clearing house for the reserve banks and can require the federal reserve banks in turn to act as a clearing house for share-holding banks.

Attention was centered today in the re-discounting feature as one of the fundamentals on which the entire plan is based. The power of the regional reserve bank is specifically broadened to discount notes and bills of exchange arising out of commercial transactions.

RELIEVES STRINGENCY.

It is this power which, in times of stress, administration officials think, will alleviate money stringency. While the federal reserve board through its agent in the federal reserve bank would have the right to determine and define the character of the paper eligible for discount, that definition will not include

FRANK CASE MAY NOT BE TRIED JUNE 30

Dorsey Expects to Be Ready, He Says, but Postponement Seems Probable

That Leo M. Frank will go on trial for the murder of Mary Phagan on June 30th is not a certainty, although it is generally conceded that Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey will set the case on the court's calendar for that date when he returns to the city from New York.

Solicitor Dorsey will return to Atlanta on Sunday. In reply to a telegram from The Journal relative to the time of the trial he makes the following statement: "Cannot say definitely that state will be ready on June 30, but expect now to be."

As to whether or not the trial actually will be commenced on that date depends largely upon the defense, although there is a bare possibility that the court may wish to hold up the trial of the long case until after the jail is cleared. It is the general policy of the criminal division of the superior court to clear the jail for the summer at this time of the year, and it is known that thirty or forty routine cases could be disposed of in the time that it will take to hear the Frank case. The court will grind on routine business for the week of June 23rd, but in that time, it is said, it will be impossible to clear the jail.

However, it will remain largely with the defense as to whether or not the case comes to trial.

ROSSER LEAVES CITY.

Luther Z. Rosser, counsel for Frank, is expected to leave the city on Friday on business which is said to have no connection with the Frank case. He refuses to discuss the defense's attitude toward an early trial.

Reuben R. Arnold, who probably will be associated with Mr. Rosser in the defense, is spending the week end at Atlantic Beach.

Mr. Arnold has been busy on a number of court cases, and while he is said to be quite familiar with the evidence in the Frank case, if he does become associated with the defense, it is probable that he will want additional time to study the case before he enters into the trial of such an important matter.

Mary Phagan was killed on April 26th, little more than two months from the date the case will probably be set on the court's calendar.

It is not often that a person is brought to trial for a criminal offense in Fulton county two months after the commission of the crime with which he is charged.

Another element which, while it may not figure in the court record, is an important factor behind the scenes, is the intense heat at this time of the year.

A trial like that of Frank will be a tremendous strain on the attorneys, the court, the jury and everyone else concerned, and many of those engaged in the case would like to put it off until fall for that reason.

All of which means that while Frank may be brought to trial on June 30th, the chances favor a postponement.

NO PREPARATIONS MADE.

While it is still believed that the solicitor will set the case for June 30, no preparations for the trial have yet been made by the court attaches, and this is taken as an indication that the state itself does not seriously entertain the idea of actually entering into the case on that date.

A hundred or more talesmen may be examined before a jury is finally chosen in the case. No talesmen have been summoned for the week of June 30, and preparations have been made by the court attaches for only a one week's ses-

School Children Slain By Mad Teacher

Armed Like a Small Arsenal, Male Teacher Opens Fire Emptying Six Revolvers; Kills Three and Wounds Six Others

(By Associated Press.)

BREMEN, June 20.—A school teacher and two children were shot dead, another teacher and three children fatally wounded and three other children less seriously hurt today by a former teacher named Schmidt, who, armed with six-loaded revolvers and carrying a quantity of extra cartridges, entered a Catholic school and started a fusillade.

The man, who was apperently demented, was overcome and arrested by persons attracted to the scene by the reports of the firing. He refused an explanation of his action.

MORE COUNCIL MEMBERS ARE READY TO RESIGN

Several Say They Will Join Councilman Thomson Putting Recall to Mayor

A number of council members, since reading Councilman Albert Thomson's recall proposition in an exclusive interview in The Journal Thursday, have expressed a willingness to join him in it.

His proposition is that the general council and the mayor resign, effective January 1, and go before the people in the fall primary for election for election to their own unexpired terms.

In other words, he proposes that council and the mayor voluntarily enter into a recal lelection.

The object of such an election, as he says, is to determine whether the people are in sympathy with the policies and plans of council, or the policies and plans of the mayor.

THOSE WHO WOULD RESIGN.

Among those who say they will join with Councilman Thomson in putting the proposition up to the mayor are Councilman C. D. Knight, Councilman Claude L. Ashley, Councilman George H. Boynton, Alderman James R. Nutting, Alderman F. J. Spratling, Councilman Warren D. White and Councilman laude C. Mason.

Some others say they are perfectly willing to resign, as far as giving up the office is concerned, but they won't resign to "satisfy the mayor."

Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee of council, has more than once said he was half a mind to resign, as much on account of the situation between the mayor and council as on account of the demands of his personal business.

Alderman I. N. Ragsdale, of the Tenth ward, another conservative who tries to apply business methods to the city's business, has several times expressed disgust over the state of affairs in the city government.

"My only reason for not resigning now," he says, "is that I would hate to give the mayor that much satisfaction. I have tried to get along with him, but I have come to the conclusion that he don't want harmony."

HAVERTY WILL RETIRE.

Councilman Clarence Haverty, of the Eighth ward, whose term expired on January 1, says that so far as the

LOCKER CLUBS MUST BE SHUT TO YOUNG FOLKS

Police Chief Orders Strict Bar Against Boys, Girls, and Drunk Women

War against locker clubs which sell liquor to youths and girls was declared by Chief of Police James L. Beavers shortly after noon Friday, when he issued an order to his subordinates calling for the arrest of organizations suspected of violating the law.

"The officers and men of the force are instructed to keep a close watch on locker clubs in the cty where they have reason to suspect that boys and girls are allowed to congregate and drink intoxicants, or where they are being furnished whiskey or other intoxicants illegally; and to make cases when sufficient evidence can be obtained."

A copy of the order was handed to Chief of Detectives Lanford and another was tacked on the bulletin board in the assembly room at headquarters. It will be read laso to the members of the different watches as they go on duty.

Chief of Police Beavers said that he had issued the order because he had received numerous complaints from various sources recently of the conduct of several clubs. He declared that the order had no relation to his appearance before the grand jury Friday morning.

"These clubs will have to toe the mark," said the police head, commenting on his action. "Many people have complained to me recently that they have seen youths drinking in these places and some have declared also that young girls frequented certain places. We are going to stop that.

Under the law a locker club breaks the law when anyone under twenty-one years of age is allowed within its doors. Recently the police head received a letter from S. Zane Batten, a Philadelphia minister, who declared that he had seen probably twenty-five boys and girls in a club he visited during the Presbyterian convention here. It is said that other like reports have been made to the police.

Cases of women becoming intoxicated also have been told Chief Beavers. He is determined to stop this also, he says.

"Several have told me lately that they have seen women under the influence of liquor in different clubs. If my subordinates find cases like this in their investigation, I will instruct them to arrest the women and the management of the club also."

Masked Women Hold Up Postmaster and Rob Georgia Office

(By Associated Press.)

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 20.—Two women wearing masks entered the post office at Georgia, Okla., early today, covered Postmaster Stotler with automatic guns, and looted his till.

They secured $150 in currency, a bar containing 2,000 pennies and two gold watches. The bandits then told the postmaster to sit down.

"Now you keep quiet until we beat it from this burg, or we will plog you," said one.

LOAFERS GET PROD; HUSTLE ORDER OUT; POLICE BEHIND 'EM

Chief Beavers Issues Orders to Clear Idlers and Loiterers From Pool Rooms and Other Resorts in Town

ACTION OF CHIEF GETS GRAND JURY'S APPROVAL

As a Result of Chief's Order a Dozen or More Arrests Are Made—Two officers Have Close Calls

A dozen or more habitues of near-beer saloons and pool rooms who have no occupation or visible means of support were caught by the police Friday in the clean up ordered by Chief of Police James Beavers earlier in the day. Most of those arrested were negroes. In a ten-minute talk to the officers and patrolmen of the day watch Chief Beavers instructed them to wage a vigorous campaign against lotterers and idlers who, he thinks, are guilty of most of the burglaries and other depredations reported to the police recently. He intends to continue the crusade until the city is rid as far as possible of the undesirable element.

Two policemen had unpleasant experiences in arresting negroes following the chief's order. One was a consequence of putting out the drag net.

HAD WEAPON CONCEALED.

Policeman Frye was riding to the station in the patrol wagon with an intoxicated negro who had been picked up by officers in the vicinity of Forsyth and Marietta streets. He noticed the negro's hand steal stealthily to his bosom as if to grasp a knife. Drawing his club the policeman threatened to beat the negro into submission if he drew a weapon. When search of the police station a large revolver with an eight-inch barrel was taken from beneath the negro's outer shirt. It was fully loaded. More than a score of loose bullets were found in his pockets. The prisoner gave his name of W. A. Mahone.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Patrolman L. O. Askew probably owes his life to the fact that the trigger of a revolver in the hands of a negro he was trying to arrest fell upon an empty chamber when the black drew the weapon and tried to shoot his captor.

The negro, Charles Edwards, had created a disturbance at Elliot and Foundry streets and was brandishing the pistol in the air when Askew appeared on the scene. He ordered the negro to surrender. Instead of complying with the request Edwards leveled the gun at the policeman and pulled the trigger. It fell on an empty chamber, however.

Policemen are investigating all the pool rooms and near-beer saloons on their beats and questioning those found inside. Chief Beavers intends to get the names of suspects and, if they claim to be working, to investigate their cases before taking them into custody.

COMMENDED BY JURY.

Foreman L. H. Beck, of the county grand jury, stated Friday afternoon that the grand jury had called the chief before it Friday forenoon to compliment him upon his order stirring the loafers. The jury considered the order wise and fine, said the foreman.

MANSLAUGHTER SENTENCE FOR DRIVER OF AUTO

Son of Personal Friend of President Wilson Convicted for Running Over Boy

(By Associated Press.)

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—The supreme court today affirmed the conviction of Daniel A. Dugan, Jr., of manslaughter. While driving his automobile on Christmas day, 1911, Dugan ran down and killed Leo McDermott, a boy. Dugan's sentence of imprisonment at hard labor for not more than ten nor less than five years stands, unless there is an appeal to the court of errors and appeals.

Dugan is a son of Judge Daniel A. Dugan, of the Orange district court, a personal friend of President Wilson, who appointed him to a judgeship pabout a year ago.

LOCKOUT IN CHICAGO AFFECTS 45,000 MEN

20,000 Members of Building Trades Unions Locked out, 25,000 More Out of Work

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—A deadlock existed today between 500 members of the Building Construction Employers' association and the 20,000 members of seventeen building trades undions, who were locked out yesterday.

The contractors discharged the workers after 150 marble workers employed by a firm furnishing ornamental stone for a large bank building struck for higher wages. They have been out six weeks, and the employers assert that the lockout will continue until these few return to work.

More than 25,000 laborers whose work dovetails in with that of the lockedout men automatically lost their jobs, making a total of 45,000 men thrown out of work. The lockout affects more men than any similar action in the history of labor unions in Chicago.

The lockout suspends work on improvements aggregating an expenditure of $35,000,000.

GEORGIA HUSSARS TO CAMP AT ST. SIMONS

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—With a full accompaniment of officers and a large representation of the troop, the Georgia Hussars left last night for St. Simons Island on an encampment which will continue for ten days.

The order from the adjutant general came very unexpectedly, but the Hussars quickly made preparations and left on time.

ONLY TWO MEN AMONG 41 WOULD-BE TEACHERS

QUITMAN, Ga., June 20.—In the annual teachers' examinations held at the court house by County School Superintendent J. F. McCall there were only two young men applicants for teachers' licenses out of the forty-one white applicants. The same proportion of women applicants obtain in most of the county examinations held in this section.

There were forty negro teachers applying for licenses.

WOULD HARNESS WAVES OF OCEAN TO GET POWER

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Permission has been granted by the United States government, through the engineer's office, to S. L. Stribling, a young inventor from South Carolina, to carry out a plan by which he proposes to harness the waves of the Atlantic ocean and use the power for the generation of electricity.

The power plant is to be located on Little Tybee Island, a small tract of land jutting out into Warsaw sound.

MR. L. H. TAYLOR DIES SUDDENLY AT CORDELE

CORDELE, Ga., June 20.—Mr. L. H. Taylor, a prominent insurance man of Cordele, dropped dead this morning at 10 o'clock from heart failure. Mr. Taylor was seated on the veranda at the home of Mr. S. Barber discussing a business matter when death came to him.

Mr. Taylor leaves a wife and several children.

YEGGMEN BREAK INTO CHARLOTTE POSTOFFICE

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 20.—Yeggmen yesterday morning forced an entrance into the North Charlotte postoffice and blew open the safe with a charge of nitro-glycerin. They were frightened away, however, and only secured $25 in cash that was in the safe, leaving approximately $1,000 in stamps, together with the money order book untouched. There is no clue to the robbers.

OIL INSPECTOR CAMPOS DIES AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Frank W. Campos, state oil inspector, state vice president National Association of Master Plumbers and secretary of the Chatham county Democratic executive committee, died soon after midnight as the result of injuries received in an automobile accident June 7, when he ran his automobile into a tree, injuring himself and several others, including his two children.

Jury Recommends That Old Sing Sing Pen Be Abandoned

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 20.—In a presentment handed down yesterday by the Westchester county grand jury, a recommendation is made that Sing Sing prison, at Ossining, be abandoned and a new state institution built. The presentment denounced the cells at Sing Sing as unfit for occupancy, and the general situation at the prison as "a scandal to the state."

The cell house was built in 1825, and there are many cells where sunlight never penetrates, hence chill and dampness exist; many inmates have rheumatism, and others have left the prison permanently crippled or suffering with organic heart trouble; cells are infested with vermin, which it is impossible to exterminate; as many as 2,000 prisoners have been lodged in the prison at one time, whereas its capacity is given as 1,200; there are instances of convicts in pronounced state of tuberculosis being housed with men in perfect health; men have been driven insane by incarceration in the "dark cell," or "the cooler," and have lost from twenty-five to thirty-five pounds in weight, and, in consequence of agony and suffering, have attempted suicide. At night there is no physician on the premises; contagious disease cases are not segregated, and the hospital is infested with vermin. The only cooked food served is boiled, there being no other means of cooking.

JUDGE THOMAS NORWOOD DIES AT SAVANNAH HOME

Was Former United States Senator and One of Georgia's Foremost Men

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Judge Thomas M. Norwood died last night at his residence here, after an illness of several weeks. He served gallantly in the Confederate army in the Civil war, and after a term in the Georgia legislature he was elected to the United States senate, serving that body in 1871. He was a member of the Forty-ninth and Fiftieth congresses.

Judge Norwood was born in Talbot county, Georgia, April 26, 1830. He graduated at Emory college, Georgia, in 1850, and was admitted to the bar two years later, establishing a practice at Savannah. He served as a private in the Confederate army, was United States senator from Georgia from 1871 to 1877. Later he was a member of the legislature and served as judge of the city court of Savannah from 1896 to 1908.

Judge Norwood was author of a number of well known books, among them being the politico-social novel, "Plutocracy or American White Slavery," "Mother Goose Carved by a Commentator," "Patriotism, Democracy or Empire," a satire. He was for many year one of the most prominent figures of Georgia.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED BY EPWORTH LEAGUE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

EASTMAN, Ga., June 20.—The Epworth League conference adjourned last night. Cordele was selected as the next meeting place and the following officers were chosen for the coming year:

President, C. M. Killian, Valdosta; first vice president, Albert W. Rees, Sparta; second vice president, Miss Alice Burden, Macon; third vice president, Miss Lena Phillips, Waycross; fourth vice president, Miss Julian Johnson, Thomasville; secretary, Miss Archie Clark; treasurer, George Neel, Thomasville; junior league superintendent, Miss Grace Beverly, Thomasville; field secretary, Rev. Arthur Moore, Blackshear.

The conference closed with an impressive consecration service conducted by Rev. George Matthews, of Fitzgerald.

NOTED JAPANESE CALL ON PRESIDENT WILSON

Viscount Chinda and Others Pap Unofficial Visit to the White House

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—President Wilson today received Viscount Chinda, the Japanese ambassador; Kakinoicke Ibuika, president of the Federation of Christian Churches in Japan; Dr. Juichi Soyeda, former president of the Industrial Banks of Japan, and Tadeo Kamiya, chief member of the chamber of commerce of Tokio.

The delegation expressed themselves as highly pleased with their audience with the president. The president declared the Japanese had expressed themselves in a "most friendly and cordial way." He said the visit was unofficial.

KIDNAPERS ARE GIVEN TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Frank Sullens and Ernest Harrison Were Saved From Mob by Militia

SALEM, Ill., June 20.—Frank Sullens and Ernest Harrison were found guilty here today of kidnaping Dorothy Holt last March. The jury fixed the penalty of each at twenty-five years in the penitentiary. The state had asked the death penalty.

Important evidence in the case was a confession by Sullens that he had kidnaped the girl and taken her to an abandoned mine where he was to turn her over to Harrison. For this, he said, Harrison was to give him $5. The girl was found in a critical condition. Sullens was arrested and a mob demonstration against him resulted in the calling out of several companies of state troops.

MIS MARY MOORE IS DEAD FROM INJURIES

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 20.—Miss Mary Moore, who was struck by an automobile belonging to C. C. Ely and driven by Frank Rivers, died this morning. Miss Moore was a native of Leeds, Ala., but had been living in Macon with her mother, Mrs. Ella Moore, until recently, when she came to Savannah to secure a position as a stenographer. The authorities are investigating her death.

Only One Death in Storm Swept Area Three Miles Square

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 20.—Although a trail of splintered poles, twisted trees and unroofed buildings was left in an area about three miles square by the storm that struck Tallahassee late Wednesday afternoon, only one person, a negro, was killed, and none other was seriously injured.

Today the work of removing the wreckage went forward rapidly and will probably be finished by tomorrow night. Telephone and lighting service may not be restored for several days yet, however.

The storm struck Tallahassee with the suddenness of a flash of lightning, and its main force had bee nsigent in fifteen minutes, leaving damage to buildings that it will take weeks to repair.

The capitol grounds are covered with a mass of uprooted trees, practically all of the beautiful oak and shade trees being torn to pieces. The storm tore away a big portion of the roof of the capitol building, also of the state printing plant and the store of Walker & Black. Damage to other stores consisted of little more than shattered windows and skylights and stock damaged by rain. No residences were seriously damaged.

About fifteen negro workmen on the plantation of A. G. Wells narrowly escaped death when a tobacco barn in which they had taken refuge was blown down. One negro's leg was broken, and several others slightly hurt.

SLEPT ON CROSS TIE; NURSES BROKEN THIGH

DALTON, Ga., June 20.—Seating himself on a cross tie to remove a gravel from his shoe, Lon Pierce dropped off to sleep and was hit by a Southern train near Waring, this county. He suffered a broken thigh and was severely bruised, but will recover.

AUSTRALIAN PREMIER AND CABINET RESIGN

MELBOURNE, Australia, June 20.—The Australian federal premier, Right Hon. Andrew Fisher, and the cabinet resigned today as a result of the recent elections in which the Liberals obtained a majority of one over the Labor party in the house.

CENTRAL SUPERVISOR IS HURT IN MOTOR WRECK

DOTHAN, Ala., June 19.—W. W. McDaniel, supervisor of the Dothan division of the Central of Georgia Railway company, was seriously and probably fatally injured yesterday by being thrown from and run over by a motor car in which he was riding. The accident occurred near Epperson, a small station forty-three miles west of Dothan.

Mr. McDaniel and his stenographer, C. L. Collins, left Dothan on a small motor car to go to Sampson. Near Epperson, the car while running about fifteen miles an hour, from some unknown cause jumped the track and ran a short distance on the ties.

Mr. McDaniel, who occupied the front seat, was thrown forward in front of the car and run over. His right arm was broken, his left shoulder dislocated, his skull broken and almost completely scalped. Collins, who was driving the car, was thrown forward, and landed between the front and rear seats. He was badly bruised and skinned, but not seriously hurt. A special train brought McDaniel and Collins to Dothan.

A. B. T., Leverett, Ga.: 1. What time is indicated by the clock in No. 42? Decide for yourself. 2. Is the object flying in 51 a bird? Yes. 3. Are the books on a mantelpiece in No. 61? Yes. 4. Is picture No. 62 a park scene? Yes. Are the people in No. 33 dummies? Yes.

G. J., No. 2, Ga.: 1. Are they men or boys in pictures No. 48 and No. 60? Men. 2. In picture No. 34 is the man the woman's husband? Decide for yourself. 3. Read rules No. 1, 2, 3 and 4. Rule No. 1 will answer this question.

Miss S. C., 1. Referring to your answer to W. Mc., Macon, Ga., on June 12, do you mean to say that in all the talks in your Daily Campaign Stories on "How to Select Titles" that no correct title has been mentioned to any picture? Decide for yourself. 2. Or if that question should not be answered, did the campaign story, "The Land With No Name to Guide Talks Titles," mention the correct title to picture No. 1? The answer to No. 1 was not given.

H. A. M., Greensboro, Ga.: 1. Is the boy's foot in water or sand in No. 59? Decide for yourself. 2. Decide for yourself the questions on No. 62. 3. What is the lady in No. 66 picking up? CONVENTION FOR GEORGIA CHAMBER WILL BE CALLED

State-Wide Committee Meets Friday Afternoon to Discuss Plans

Whether or not a state convention will be called in Atlanta at an early date to discuss final plans for a state-wide chamber of commerce will be decided Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the committee in charge of the movement meets in the Empire building.

The meeting was called several days ago by Charles J. Haden, chairman of the committee. Mr. Haden will present to them at this time an exhaustive report explaining along which lines he deems it best to proceed in order to make the venture a success.

From what can be learned the committee will undoubtedly call a convention of the different trade bodies of Georgia and also ask representatives from counties where no such organizations exist to attend. The meeting will take place in July and an effort will be made to have a full representation of every part of the state.

A basis of organization has been outlined by Mr. Haden and it is along these lines that the committee will work toward a successful consummation of the project.

BEAVERS DENIES STORY OF ARREST FOR KISSING

Chief Indignant at Allegation That Arrest Was Made for Frivolous Offense

Indignant at the story printed in a local newspaper to the effect that a couple were arrested Saturday night merely for kissing in a taxicab and at a published editorial and cartoon deriding the local police for making arrests for frivolous offenses and passing more serious ones by, Chief of Police Beavers issued a statement Friday morning, denying the story as originally printed.

"The couple in question," said the chief, "were not arrested for kissing as that was a very minor detail that led to their apprehension. The real facts in the case have not yet been printed and cannot be printed.

It was for extreme disorderly conduct, and not for kissing, that the woman and the man were arrested."

LEGISLATORS ARRIVE FOR SUMMER SESSION

The first member of the house of representatives from Richmond county to arrive in Atlanta for the meeting of the general assembly was Judge Charles A. Piquet, former city recorder at Augusta. Judge Piquet and his wife drove through the country in their automobile on Thursday. They have taken a house in Decatur and will live there during the legislative session.

Representatives Sam Garlington and Sam Olive, Richmond's other two members, are expected to arrive in Atlanta on Monday.

FERTILIZER MEN HAVE INDORSED CORN SHOW

Resolutions Approving Work Chamber of Commerce Is Doing

The Georgia corn show for 1913 was indorsed in hearty resolutions by the Fertilizer Dry Mixers' Association of Georgia at a luncheon in the M. and M. club Thursday.

Present at the luncheon were three members of the chamber of commerce, who are especially interested in the corn show. This trio presented the importance of the corn show to the fertilizer people and told them what had been done to forward the show this year.

The fertilizer men listened with great interest to the several speeches that were made, and at their conclusion unanimously indorsed the show and all that the chamber of commerce has done to aid it.

Some discussion also took place in regard to the best methods of interesting the farmers of Georgia in modern methods of corn growing. O. A. Stevens, of Carlton, Ga., made a speech in which he said that not only the boys of the state should be interested, but the men as well, and especially the colored population, which, he argued, oftentimes is ready to take up modern methods.

Friday Will Be Warm But No Record Breaker

No excessive heat is booked for Atlanta this Friday, according to the conditoins that prevailed in the morning. At 7 o'clock the government thermometer registered 74 degrees and at 10 o'clock the mercury had reached 85.

It will be quite hot through the north, but Atlanta will experience no such breaking of heat records as was the custom during the first days of the week. "It will not get up to any 96," says the weather forecaster.

The coolest the mercury registered in the weather bureau's office Thursday was 69.

The forecaster would not predict any thunder showers, and said that Thursday was a comparatively cool day, as the highest was only 89 degrees.

GRAND JURY ASKS COUNTY MONEY FOR YANCEY FUND

Community as a Whole Owes Obligation to Slain Officer's Family, It Says

SHOCK LAYS DEPUTY'S DAUGHTER LOW AGAIN.

Lois Yancey, the twelve-year-old daughter of Court Deputy Dave Yancey, who was killed last Monday by a negro whom he was about to arrest in performance of his duty, is back in a local hospital in a serious condition.

The little girl has been sick for sevral weeks. Just previous to the death of her father she became so much better that she was removed from the hospital to the home on the Jonesboro road. The tragedy of Monday so affected her that she grew rapidly worse and Friday morning was taken back to the hospital. Physicians say that her condition is serious.

That a substantial amount from the public funds be appropriated for the destitute family of Court Deputy Dave Yancey, who was killed by a negro resisting arrest, was recommended to the Fulton county commission Friday by the county grand jury in a resolution upon this subject solely.

The resolution recited that the community as a whole owes an obligation to the family of the officer killed in the performance of his duty. It commented upon the crime itself, deploring it, and urged that steps be taken to prevent the frequent recurrence of crims of violence here.

Although an exact calculation of the fund received for the family of the late court deputy, Dave Yancey, is impossible to reach at present, it may be said with all safety that it is over $1,000, counting the subscriptions that were received at the sheriff's office Thursday afternoon and at local newspaper offices.

The subscriptions have been generous and have reached the Yancey family in time of dire need, when their only support suddenly had been taken from them, with a $900 payment on their home facing them, and with no money at all to live on.

It is now a certainty that the home will be paid for and that a fair sum will be left over. Quantities of food and clothing also from local merchants have been contributed.

As its contribution to the fund, the Porter Fertilizer company, to which the Yancey family owed a bill of $12, has sent a receipt for that amount to the sheriff's office.

The contributors to the fund have come from all classes, both black and white. The Journal received a letter enclosing a check for $2 from one who signed himself "a preacher, almost blind, who earnestly hopes that the generous-hearted people of Atlanta will not only pay every dollar for the Yancey home, but give a good sum to help the widow in caring for the children."

Militant Escapes From Jail in the Attire of a Man

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 20.—Miss Lillian Lenton, the militant suffragette, who was convicted of having started the fire in the Kew tea garden pavilion, and who has given the police much trouble, has escaped in men's clothing from the house where she was living in Leeds, pending the expiration of her license.

Miss Lenton was released from jail in March because of illness, caused by a hunger strike. She broke her license, and was not heard of again until June 10, when she was arrested at Lancaster under dramatic circumstances. A woman named Winship was charged with breaking into Westfield house at Dorchester with the intent to burn it.

A witness for the defense who called herself May Dennis confessed that she, and not the Winship woman, was guilty. She proved to be Miss Lenton, for whom the police had been searching. The Winship woman was released and Miss Lenton was sent back to jail.

Miss Lenton immediately started another hunger strike and got out on license a few days ago. She was placed in a house at Leeds until she had sufficiently recovered to be returned to jail, and police guarded the house. She again eluded the police and got away early yesterday.

Militant Arson Squad Burn Solihull Mansion

(By Associated Press.)

BIRMINGHAM, England, June 20.—A large unoccupied mansion at Solihull, near here, was burned by an "arson squad" of militant suffragettes today.

A number of suffragettes placards were found in the vicinity. One of them demanded the release of the women suffering imprisonment for the cause. Another was addressed to Sir Walter Phillimore, who sentenced six suffragette leaders to imprisonment. It read:

Owls Club Benefit for Yancey Fund Is Planned

On next Friday night the Owls' club, of which Court Deputy Dave Yancey was a member, will give an entertainment in the club rooms in the Thrower building, the proceeds to go to swell the fund being raised for his family.

The Owls' club entertainment is under the direction of H. L. Latham, city court bailiff; Newton Garner, deputy sheriff, and Emmett Blount, Atlanta lawyer.

DOES GEORGE PERKINS EXPECT INDICTMENT?

Former Partner of Late Morgan Says He'll Probably Be Criminally Indicted

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—George W. Perkins, former partner of the late J. P. Morgan, viewed it from the witness stand in the International Harvester company anti-trust hearing today.

Edwin P. Grosvenor, attorney for the government, knows but little of "deals." Mr. Perkins also expressed his fear of being criminally indicted.

The particular 'deal" in question was incidental to the formation of the International Harvester company, (a project fathered by Mr. Perkins) particularly with regard to the witness' efforts to purchase the McCormick, Deering, Plano, Osborne and Milwaukee Harvester companies.

Mr. Perkins under cross-examination by Attorney Grosvenor stood by his testimony that these concerns were under consideration, but not these alone.

The government lawyers said four contracts were signed on July 28, 1892, and Mr. Perkins explained that a deal might be completed without anything being actually put on paper. That was a formality.

"That," replied the witness with emphasis, "would have been the last thing in the world I would have done. You cannot know much about deals to suggest such a thing. I was particularly interested in keeping the men apart. Had they come together they would have known I was trying to get the five or more firms and they would have advanced their prices on me.

"I wish you could see this organization as I see it. You are looking back at it over ten years while I look at it as a constructive whole.

"Yes," retorted the government attorney, "we are looking at the legality of its formation ten years ago. That is what we are interested in."

"You could have learned this long ago," replied Mr. Perkins, "if you had only called them. I had to wait until now. I probably will be criminally indicted for having given you this information."

AUTO TRUCK CRUSHES MACON LAD TO DEATH

MACON, Ga., June 20.—Garard Hall Waller, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Waller, of 835 Walnut street, died last night from injuries sustained yesterday afternoon, when he was run down on Mulberry street by a heavy automobile truck.

The lad was playing in the streets when the truck came by, and thinking that he might enjoy a ride, he boarded the side of the machine. When he was being assisted from his position to the street at Mulberry and Second streets, he fell directly in the path of the machine and was run over.

His father is a conductor on the Macon and Birmingham railroad and was on one of the trains at the time of the accident. The accident, according to eyewitnesses, was no fault of the driver.

CONTRACT OR PROPOSAL IS CREMATORY QUESTION

Long Hair-Splitting Contest Reaches What Looks Like Final Issue

Mayor Woodward says now that if council will pas sup a regular contract with the Destructor company for the new crematory, he will sign it; provided, of course, it is a contract that protects the city's interests and does not conflict with the decision of the supreme court.

There are two ways for the city to make a contract. One is to pass up a regular contract, which the mayor signs. The other is for council to accept a proposal. If the mayor then vetoes the acceptance, council can pass it over his veto.

In contracting with the Destructor company, council undertook to employ the latter method, for fear if a regular contract were passed up the mayor would refuse to sign it.

But as the mayor has the final signing of checks in payment of money out of the city treasury, he blocked this procedure by announcing that he would refuse to pay the Destructor company a dollar unless a regular contract were made.

Hence council will be obliged to make a contract in the way the mayor wants it made, or else put the Destructor company to the necessity of going into another lawsuit to get its money.

When the acceptance of the company's proposal came up in the aldermanic board Thursday afternoon, Alderman Harwell opposed it on the ground that such a contract would mean more delay. He urged the aldermen not to concur in the acceptance, and to recommend that council pass up a contract. Being voted down, he held up the acceptance until the next meeting of the aldermanic board (three weeks hence) by giving notice of a motion to reconsider.

INSPECTOR NOT PROBING RECORDS OF MR. GODWIN

MACON, Ga., June 19.—Cook Clayton, clerk of the United States court of the southern district of Georgia, has stated for publication that Inspector Lewis, who recently came here from the department of justice at Washington to investigate the federal court records for the past thirty years, has not gone to Savannah to investigate the alleged shortage of Walter Godwin, the late clerk of the court there. Mr. Clayton declared positively that he desired to state in behalf of his deceased friend, that he was not short in his accounts and that the inspector from Washington had not gone there to check his record individually.

Inspector Lewis is expected back in Macon any day to continue his probe of the federal court records here.

SETH LOW URGES ERDMAN ACT BROADENING

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Seth Low, of the national civic federation, Judge Martin A. Knapp, of the commerce court, and representatives of leading bothehoodsr of railway employes, urged the proposed amendment to broaden the Erdman arbitration act at a hearing today by a joint congressional committee.

"Unless the law is revised in the near future," said Mr. Low, "this country in all probability will face the most serious railroad labor difficulties in its history."

STATE W. AND A. MEETING DECIDED BY CONFERENCE

Future of State's Railroad to Invite Statewide Discussion, Speakers Urged It

Two resolutions, one calling for a statewide meeting of the trade bodies of Georgia to discuss what disposition shall be made of the lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad, and the other giving President Wilmer L. Moore the authority to appoint a committee of five to select a date and make the proper arrangements for the convention in Atlanta, were passed Thursday night by a general members' meeting of the chamber of commerce held in the tariff hall.

The unanimous vote of the meeting called for the state gathering at an early date, in order that the deliberations of the convention may be made known to the legislature during its session here this summer.

The two resolutions both presented by C. H. McKinney, were as follows:

"Be it resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that a convention of representatives of the people of this state should be held in the city of Atlanta at an early date for the purpose of giving consideration to the great question of what use or disposition shall be made of the Western and Atlantic railroad upon the expiration of the present outstanding lease.

"Resolved, That the president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce be requested to appoint a committee of five to select a date and to make the necessary arrangements for holding a state convention in the city of Atlanta for the purpose of considering the proper disposition of the Western and Atlantic railroad."

The adoption of the resolutions followed strong speeches by W. A. Wimbish, C. Murphey Candler, James H. Gray and Hooper Alexander, stressing the importance of the state road and the necessity for careful consideration being given to the disposition after the expiration of the present lease.

Wilmer L. Moore, president of the chamber, presided at the meeting. He introduced W. A. Wimbish, chairman of the Western and Atlantic committee which has been at work on the subject for several weeks. Mr. Wimbish declared that he thought the best interests of the state should be directed to the disposition of the property and that the public should have the fullest information on the subject.

THE FUNDAMENTAL QUESTION.

The fundamental question to be determined, the speaker declared, is whether the road shall continue to be regarded as an investment or whether it shall be operated by the state.

Mr. Wimbish gave a brief history of the road from the time it was established in December, 1836, by an act of the legislature, up to the present day. From 1845 until 1870 the road was operated by the state through its agents under legislative direction. Following the Civil war, or in 1870, it was leased for a term of twenty years at $25,000 a year to a private company.

At the expiration of that lease, declared the speaker, the road was leased to the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad for a period of twenty-nine years for $420,012 a year. This second lease will expire in December, 1919.

"It is apparent," continued Mr. Wimbish, "that if the road is again to be leased, it becomes an investment only and cannot be made to perform the functions of a public institution. The rates cannot be controlled by the state in that case to any further limit other railroads can be regulated. Those who advocate the lease say that no necessity exists for the exercise of control on the machinery of the state railroad commission and of the interstate commerce commission is adequate to secure for the public just and reasonable rates.

LEASE LIMITATION.

"Whether or not this be true, the point I wish to make clear is that under the lease the property is valuable to the state only as an investment to be measured by the return derived therefrom."

The speaker declared the value of the road at the time of the lease was approximately $7,000,000 and that it is now worth $12,000,000 or perhaps $15,000,000. At the present rental, he said, the road is returning about 5 per cent on a valuation of $8,500,000, whereas fully $600,000 should be received annually instead of but $420,000.

"I think it will be conceded that the state cannot profitably operate the road as a local line between Atlanta and Chattanooga. It will be further necessary that the state should secure adequate terminals at the ports, and that it should encourage or establish a line of steamships from eastern cities to be operated in connection with the railroad. Those who advocate this plan are confident that the cost of the service will be greatly reduced, and freight rates correspondingly lowered from New York and other eastern cities to practically all points in Georgia. It is further stated that the Tennessee river is now navigable to Chattanooga, and that under the impetus of the plan proposed, the government will be induced to make larger appropriations for the improvement of that navigation.

A VITAL CONNECTION.

Thus connection can be had with the great system of interior waterways afforded by the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and thereby not only will tonnage be secured for the Western and Atlantic railroad, but the rates of freight to and from the west will be materially reduced.

"The committee of which I have the honor of being chairman does not desire at this time to express any preference as to the disposition of this great property. Indeed, the committee has arrived at no definite conclusion concerning the matter, although individual members doubtless have their personal views. We are, however, unanimous in the opinion that the time is ripe for a full and free discussion on the part of the people of this state; and we therefore venture to recommend that a convention be called of representatives of various interests from all parts of the state for the purpose of giving sober, thoughtful and patriotic consideration to this most important subject. We think the convention should be held in Atlanta at as early a day as may be practicable."

FAVORS STATE OPERATION.

Chairman C. Murphy Candler, of the state railroad commission, was in favor of state operation. He said that it is the people's right to direct the running of the road. He favored the convention. He spoke of how rates could be controlled by the road if operated by the state itself, and declared that he would oppose the re-leasing of the property.

"The state can and should run the road, operating it as a common carrier for the people of Georgia," said Mr. Candler. "It must be either a state institution or a freight regulator and place the people of the state in a position to direct the routing of their freight via the Western and Atlantic railroad."

Mr. Candler was followed by James R. Gray, editor of The Atlanta Journal. Mr. Gray said that while he had formed some ideas as to the disposition of the property, he still was open to conviction along certain points. He declared it is the duty of the 1913 general assembly to take some step looking toward the disposition of the road.

"The people of Georgia," said Mr. Gray, "should give the matter the consideration it deserves. It would be a crime to sell the property.

FAVORS LONG LEASE.

"Its value is priceless, and I believe it should be leased again. And I do not believe that it should be operated as a regulator of freight. What we want to do in the state is to invite more transportation, and not make rates that would be prohibitive to other companies coming here. To do such a thing as that would bankrupt the other roads of Georgia."

Mr. Gray declared himself in favor of a long lease, a lease of ninety-nine years on an ascending scale of rental. He referred to the ter company, and suggested that the building there should be such as to accommodate a central market as well as the proposed permanent exhibit of Atlanta-made goods. Other privileges could be leased at an immense profit to the road, said he.

In conclusion, Mr. Gray expressed himself as favoring extension of the state road to the sea, either by building or acquisition.

The last speaker, Hooper Alexander, of Decatur, Ga., favored state ownership and operation for the control of rates and a greater profit to the state government. He said that while politics would play a part in the affairs of the road, adequate protection could be gotten through the proper sort of civil service regulation.

SENATOR FOSTER URGES NEED OF PENAL REFORM

Proposed Commission Would Sift Best Details of All Plans, Says He

Senator E. F. Foster, of the Twenty-seventh district, who will introduce in the Georgia senate a resolution creating a special commission to consider proposed improvements in the state prison system and criminal procedure, declares there is urgent necessity for that action.

The proposition is to submit to this commission the proposed legislation dealing with penal and criminal court reforms in order that practical and corelated action may be taken. Says Senator Foster:

"Some of our most important legislation is the product of this commission method. A striking instance is what the insurance commission has recently accomplished.

"No matter what a man's individual views may be on the penal question, he should favor this commission, for it is created precisely for the purpose of sifting out and discovering what views and what methods are best.

"It is not proposed to interfere with the plan of working convicts on Georgia roads. It is the idea, on the other hand, that convict road work shall be brought to a state of higher efficiency. It is admitted that in many counties the present method of handling convicts is good, but it is urged that there is great necessity of standardizing the good methods. Now each county is almost a system to itself. Our own prison commission will be able to render extremely valuable assistance."

Senator Foster was particularly impressed with the interview of Judge Patterson, of the prison board, commending the commission idea."

FORMER ATLANTA MAN KILLED IN 'FRISCO

Mr. D. Q. Bramlett, a former Atlanta man, died Thursday night in a San Francisco hospital, where he has been since last Tuesday morning when he was shot and robbed by thugs in that city.

Mr. Bramlett conducted a restaurant some years ago in Atlanta at 51 Whitehall street. He has many friends here who have hoped for his recovery since it became known that he was in a dangerous condition. The body will be brought to Atlanta for interment in West View cemetery.

METHODISTS PLAN BIG CHURCH IN WASHINGTON

Dr. Sexton Here to Ask Georgia's Share for Church Conference Decreed

The south is to have a great representative church meeting in Washington, D. C. The Methodists of the south and southern people who do not belong to the Methodist faith are making liberal contributions to a fund that is being raised for this purpose.

Dr. George S. Sexton, the secretary of the commission that has the enterprise in charge, at the Piedmont hotel Friday morning, said that more than $200,000 already had been secured in cash and good subscriptions.

Dr. Sexton is in the city arranging for special services in several of the Methodist churches Sunday morning, when bishops and prominent ministers of the church will deliver sermons on "The South and the Building of the Nation," or reasons why the southern Methodists should have a representative church building in the national capital.

Dr. Sexton stated that this was not a new movement. The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South in 1858 passed a resolution which was introduced by Drs. Dogrett, Bennett, and others, authorizing the erection of such a building. The war which followed soon after so depleted the south that the purpose of the general conference could not be carried to a successful conclusion.

In 1906, just forty-eight years after the passage of the first resolution, the general conference in session at Birmingham, Ala., took the matter up afresh. Considerable progress was made and more decisive action was taken by the general conference in its session at Asheville, N. C., in 1910. A commission was appointed, composed of Bishops W. A. Candler, John C. Kilgo and E. E. Hoss, with Drs. W. F. McMurry and George F. Sexton.

It is the purpose to put at least $500,000 into a building. It is intended that the building shall embody the south's highest ideals and give expression in concrete form of its loyalty to the government and devotion to God. Following the idea of the commercial men of the south who saw that it was necessary for the south's commercial life to be put properly before the nation at the seat of national government, the church people would do the same for the south's social and religious life.

Sixteen of the southern states have representatives on the national building committee. Asa G. Candler, of Atlanta, is the representative on that committee for the state of Georgia. Dr. Sexton said that as this building was to be in a sense a Westminster for the south, the state of Georgia should be interested especially in it, since Georgia is the only state in the western world where John Wesley lived and preached.

It would be a fine thing, said the doctor, for this building to be erected out of Georgia marble, setting forth the fact in a suitable memorial that it came from the state in which John Wesley lived. Some Georgia citizens have made liberal contributions to this enterprise, as have citizens from the sixteen southern states that are represented on the national building committee.

MAN WHO FORESAW END HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Thomas Jefferson, Teacher of Indians, Did Not Expect to Live but Few Weeks

Thomas Jefferson, aged fifty-eight yes. s, a southerner who has spent more than thirty years of his life as a school teacher among the Indians of the western states, and who came to Atlanta two weeks ago, broken in health and spirits, to spend his remaining years, was injured Thursday night in an automobile accident. His injuries may prove fatal.

Mr. Jefferson was struck and knocked to the pavement by an automobile driven by J. L. Hughes, of 380 Peachtree street, at the corner of Whitehall and Mitchell streets, early in the evening. He was carried to the Grady hospital, unconscious. Friday morning he was still alive, but has not regained consciousness. Surgeons feared that he had a fracture at the base of the skull, which may result fatally.

Mr. Hughes told the police that the man darted across the street just in front of his car, and that it was impossible to stop despite the fact that the auto was moving at a very slow rate of speed.

Little is known of the injured man. He had been staying at the Salvation Army Industrial home, 158 Whitehall street.

Two weeks ago he presented at the Grady hospital letters certifying to his long service as an Indian teacher and was admitted to the clinic for treatment for epilepsy, from which he suffered. He then told the doctors that he expected to live only a few weeks.

According to reports from the Salvation Army, he has no immediate relatives.

ITALIANS DEFEAT ARABS IN FIERCE ENGAGEMENT

Arabians Completely Routed by Italians at Ettangi, Tripoli, Friday

(By Associated Press.)

ROME, June 20.—A severe battle fought between the Italian troops and the Tripolitan Arabs at Ettangi yesterday cost the lives of one Italian officer and 19 soldiers, while five officers and 217 men were wounded.

According to an official dispatch from Derna, General Salssa surprised a native camp and hard fighting ensued, lasting an hour.

The Arabs, he reports, were completely douted. Their losses are unknown.

SCOTS MAKE MERRY IN HONOR OF THE LADIES

The Burns club barbecue on the grounds of the Burns club last Wednesday was enjoyed by some two hundred ladies, gentlemen and children. It was ladies' day.

Before the storm came, the crowd enjoyed outdoor sports of all kinds, and then took to shelter. The balance of the afternoon was made just as enjoyable by songs and recitations, as well as dancing. Mrs. Frank Pearson sang, and a Mr. Galloway, a newcomer from Scotland, proved himself an entertainer of ability.

Several speeches were made by Scots, all of whom paid tribute to the poet, Burns. Among them were Judge Marcus W. Beck, Judge Arthur Powell and Dr. Lyndon, of Athens.

R. M. McWhorter, Alexander Taylor and C. W. Smith had the entertainment in charge.

PERSONS GIVEN PLACE ON BOARD OF PHARMACY

Macon Druggist Is Named by Governor to Succeed H. C. Shruptine, of Savannah

Governor Brown Friday morning appointed Ben S. Persons, of Macon, to succeed Herman C. Shuptrine, of Savannah, on the state board of pharmacy.

Mr. Shuptrine, who was chairman of the board, resigned his place because he had been nominated and will be elected to succeed Hon. P. A. Stovall as a member of the legislature from Chatham county. Under the law, he could not hold both offices.

In making the appointment Friday Governor Brown was limited to five druggists selected by the Georgia Pharmaceutical association, at its annual meeting in Columbus, June 10-11. These five men were Ben S. Persons, of Macon; W. L. Meadows, of Columbus; Joseph P. Walker, of Montezuma; S. M. Hunt, Cordele, and C. E. Bruner, of Macon.

The law requires that the governor shall appoint one of the men so selected to fill any vacancies which may occur on the state board. When the five named above were selected by the association it was not known that Mr. Shuptrine would resign. T hey were really chosen as the list of eligibles from which the governor is to select a successor to R. H. Land, of Augusta, whose term on the board ends in November.

CHARLIE ISOM TO BE TRIED ON WEDNESDAY

Former County Policeman Will Be Arraigned on Old Bail Bond Charges

An echo of the old bail-bond investigation prosecuted last fall by Solicitor Hugh S. Dorsey, will be heard in criminal division of superior court next Wednesday, when Charles Isom, former county policeman, indicted with H. J. Roswell and others on the charge of making false arrests, is arraigned for trial.

Isom is under four misdemeanor indictments—one of them for extortion in the case of Ella Harris, a negro—and two indictments for felony said to have grown out of the alleged false arrests.

It is not certain upon which of the indictments Isom will be sent to trial, but it is believed that it will be one of the felonies. H. J. Roswell, former Atlanta lawyer, who was charged with Isom, pleaded guilty several months ago, was fined and disbarred, and left the city.

Similar cases are pending against W. Y. Jordan, J. A. Harris, John Stephens, Thomas W. Bullin and T. D. Albright, but none of these names appear on the calendar for trial on the week of June 23.

Isom at present is under heavy bond for his appearance to answer charges and is said to be eager for a speedy trial.

DRAYMAN'S NEGLECT OF REPORT ENDS SEVERELY

William Swan, a negro drayman, was given a ten-day sentence in the stockade without the alternative of a fine, by City Recorder Nash R. Broyles, Friday morning, because he moved the personal effects of a family from one part of town to another and failed to report that fact at the city hall. There is a city ordinance which provides that draymen must make a report of all individuals and families moved by them. This has not been rigidly observed in the past, and Recorder Broyles imposed the severe sentence upon Swan to make an example of him, he said.

City Marshal J. M. Fuller was the complainant against the negro drayman. He declared that he had intercepted him in the street in the act of moving household goods and that the black did not have a record of the affair.

SIMPLE SPELLER WANTS TO FIND DAYTON'S KIN

Chief of Police James L. Beavers spent a busy half-hour Friday morning, attempting to get the drift of a letter fro mMrs. W. W. Keller, of Denver, Col. The woman is a disciple of simplified spelling, and practiced the innovation so faithfully as to cause the local police head considerable trouble in deciphering her message. So much of a simplified speller was Mrs. Keller, and so sparing was she of silent letters, that she left out one in her own name and spelled it "Kiler."

Mrs. Keller wants Chief Beavers to find relatives of A. L. Dayton, who is sick in her hotel in Denver. She says she thinks that members of Dayton's family live in Atlanta and she is desirous of locating them to notify them of the man's condition.

CHAMBER "HOUSE" TO DISCUSS MILK SUPPLY

For the purpose of discussing the milk supply and making arrangements to bring an expert here to study the situation, the "house of representatives" of the chamber of commerce will meet at an informal luncheon in the Piedmont hotel at 1 o'clock next Thursday afternoon.

This matter is considered of great importance and a full attendance is urged that something definite may be accomplished.

SOCIAL SURVEY NEARLY COMPLETE; REPORT SOON

Experts From Russell Sage Foundation Leave for New York on Saturday

Atlanta's preliminary "social survey" will be completed Saturday afternoon, and Franz Schneider, Jr., and Zenas L. Potter, the two remaining experts from the Russell Sage foundation, will leave for New York city to take up the work of assimilating the facts gathered here in preparation for their report later.

Shelby M. Harrison, the director of the foundation, who had charge of the work in Atlanta, finished his part early in the week and left his assistants here. The facts and information will be submitted to experts in every field of the work and the report, when finished, will be the recommendations of not only the three men sent ner to do the work, but will bear the stamp of approval of their co-workers also.

Possibly ten days or two weeks will be consumed in completing the report. It will be forwarded immediately to the chamber of commerce for its consideration, and its contents will be made public at the direction of the committee in charge of the survey.

AD DEATHS

ACADEMY FOR BLIND SATISFIED WITH FUND

Macon School Only State Institution Not Expected to Ask Larger Appropriation

Perhaps the only state institution which will not ask the legislature for increased appropriations is the eGorgia Academy for the Blind at Macon.

The board of trustees of this institution have just filed their annual report with Governor Brown, and they make only one recommendation, which is that the annual appropriation of $30,000 heretofore allowed the academy be continued.

According to the report, the work of the institution can be maintained and the buildings kept in proper repair on this sum. A smaller appropriation, says the report, would result in the deterioration of the buildings and equipment.

The advantages offered by the academy for the blind are now enjoyed by forty-two white boys, thirty-nine white girls ,twelve negro boys and eleven negro girls. It ise pointed out in the report that there has been blut one death among th pupils within the last six years, and that the sricken child was colored.

POLICEMAN PARHAM TO BE ARRAIGNED MONDAY

Policeman E. H. Parham, under indictment for murder for shooting H. Wright, a white youth, on Johnson street a year ago, probably will be tried for his life in criminal division of superior court on Monday. Parham's name appears on the calendar of cases, and his attorneys are eager that the trial be undertaken.

Parham shot Wright while on duty and while the latter, so the coroner's jury found, was attempting to evade arrest. The officer asserts that he was called to a negro house at 5-B Johnson street and told that someone was in the barn. Parham went back to the place, and as he stepped from the shadow of the building a man ran out. Parham called, he says, and the man failed to heed him. It was then that he shot.

MRS. ANNIE R. MOORE BURIED AT WEST VIEW

The funeral services of Mrs. Annie R. Moore, of Tampa, Fla., were held at the residence of her brother and sister, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. Lunquest, 1145 Peachtree street, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Hughlett conducting the service paid tribute to the memory of the deceased as a devoted wife and earnest Christian worker.

Several hymns were rendered feelingly by Miss Mary Loveless, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Scott and Mr. J. M. Cooper. The pall-bearers were Mr. W. F. Pattille, Colonel W. L. Peel, Mr. Coleman, Mr. R. A. Hemphill, Dr. J. W. Hurt and Mr. John S. Owens. Interment was in West View cemetery.

STARTED DEMONSTRATION FOR COLORED; DEAD NOW

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 20.—Maud H. Neal, who started a demonstration for Theodore Roosevelt at the 1908 Republican convention which nominated Taft by throwing a big "teddy bear" from the gallery into the midst of the delegates below, is dead at Crawley Downs, England, according to a cablegram received here today.

Miss Neal was working here as a newspaper woman. While a safe number of delegates were pledged to Taft, there were many among them who would not have been surprised at a stampede for Roosevelt.

MAYOR TO GIVE OUT CHARTER STATEMENT

Announes He Will Talk to the Public Through Newspapers on Sunday

Mayor Woodward announced Friday that he will give out a statement to the public in the Sunday papers touching the new charter proposed some months ago and the postcard ballot which was taken in connection with the charter.

As will be recalled, a mass meeting of several thousand citizens in the auditorium adopted resolutions asking council to submit the proposed new charter to a white primary election.

Council refused the request and consigned the charter to the waste basket, where it has been reposing ever since, and following this action on the part of council the new charter committee took a postcard ballot of the registered white voters of the city.

Upwards of 5,000 signed cards and mailed them to the committee, requesting that council let the people vote on the new charter.

Since that time no further move has been made. Just what steps the mayor will suggest is not known, as he declined to say in discussing the matter with the reporters Friday.

"I'll say what I've got to say in my statement," he said.

TEXTILE MEN TO MEET AT THE ISLE OF PALMS

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 20.—The annual convenion of the Southern Textile association opens at the Isle of Palms this afternoon with a welcoming address by the mayor of Charleston, Captain P. P. Melkleham, of Lindale, Ga., responds. An address by President McEntyre and papers by Charles Mills, of Boston; David Clark, of Charlotte; S. W. Oliver, of Columbia, and R. J. Smith, of Henrietta, N. C., are on the program. Between 400 and 500 delegates and visitors are expected, 200 having already arrived.

The convention lasts two days.

BISHOPS CONSIDER GIFT OF CARNEGIE TO COLLEGE

Southern Methodist Bishops Meet in Nashville to Consider Gift to Vanderbilt

(By Associated Press.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 20.—Great interest is felt here in the meeting of the college of bishops of the southern Methodist church, which convened here this morning to consider the Carnegie gift of $1,000,000 to the medical department of Vanderbilt university. The meeting was executive. Among those present were Bishops Hoss and Candler, both of whom have expressed vigorous opposition to the action of the university's board of trust in accepting the gift. Others present were Bishops Hendrix, Denny, Morrison, Lambuth, McCoy, Mouzon and Kilgo. Before the meeting none was disposed to forecast the action to be taken.

POSTOFFICE ROBBERS SEEK RELEASE FROM PEN

Claim Judge Sentenced Them to Term Above Maximum for Offense

Two federal prison convicts appeared before Judge Newman in the district court Friday in habeas corpuh proceedings brought through Attorney Lamar Hill for their release. The government wasn't ready, however, and the case went over until Tuesday.

The men are Edward F. Blake, of Massachusetts, and Frank Howard, of Connecticut.

They were sentenced for ten years for breaking into postoffices at Morris and East Morris, Conn., and, including good behavior, have served five years.

Their proceedings are based on the claim that the judge sentenced them to ten years on two counts of an indictment charging separate offenses, whereas he should have sentenced them to five years on each count. They claim that under his sentence they have served the maximum term.

STATE'S FUTURE, TOPIC AT LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Vice President Manss of the Southern Development Work Addressed Atlantians

At a luncheon tendered by Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, in honor of William H. Manss at the Capital City club Thursday, the plan and purpose of the Southern Settlement and Development organization were told authoritatively by Mr. Manss, vice president of that body, and were heard by some twenty representative Atlantians.

Mr. Maddox is the Georgia executive committeeman of the organization and is familiar personally with its work and outlook, therefore his introduction of Vice President Manss, now visiting Georgia to invite the co-operation of the state's leading men, established at once the character of the organization and made the luncheon guests cordially responsive to Mr. Manss' remarks.

Friday morning Mr. Manss had gone to Athens, after a stay since Sunday in Atlanta. He will visit other cities of the state in turn. In Athens Friday he was scheduled in advance to make an address before the principal business men of that city.

In introducing Mr. Manss Thursday, Mr. Maddox paid him high praise as an expert of national repute, and declared that the men behind the organization felt that they had achieved a real result when they secured Mr. Manss for personal charge of the work.

Mr. Manss in turn extolled those men behind the movement. Their vision is of the south of the future, he declared, the south that is to teem with diversified crops and wealth from its soil, that is to be hustling with industry and active life and prosperity. Those men are giving their time, their energy, their money, said he, to hasten the realization of this future for the land which they love as their own.

Mr. Manss described the charter of the organization, outlining its purposes clearly. He applied its aim to one specific matter in Georgia, the matter of foodstuffs, which Georgians do not raise, but which they send $172,000,000 outside the state each year to buy. The state can raise all of that, said he, without reducing its cotton acreage, and can raise a surplus for sale elsewhere.

"The organization hopes to interest your co-operation," said he. "It comes to Georgia, not to dictate, but to lend a helping hand to you in solving for yourselves your own problems. The organization was not born in a school of oratory. It comes to accomplish business results by the application of expert knowledge and activities."

SAM P. CRONHEIM GETS BOOSTED TO CAPTAINCY

Energetic National Guardsman of Atlanta Wins Promotion, Becomes Quartermaster

Sam P. Cronheim, of Atlanta, was Friday morning commissioned captain and quartermaster of the Fifth regiment, Georgia national guard. The commission was issued by Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash with the approval of Governor Brown.

Captain Cronheim, who was promoted from second lieutenant and battalion quartermaster and commissary of the Fifth regiment, succeeds Captain John Q. Nash, who retired about a year ago. Since that time the duties of regimental quartermaster have been performed by Captain Cronheim.

Arrangements for the Fifth regiment's encampment this year at St. Simons Island will be largely in the hands of Captain Cronheim.

Two other commissions were issued Friday by Adjutant General Nash. First Lieutenant Lovell Neal, of the Candler Horse Guards, Troop F, Second squadron of cavalry, Gainesville, is promoted to the rank of captain, succeeding Captain John M. Fay, resigned. Private Rupert McConnell, of the same troop, is awarding the examination Friday for the rank of second lieutenant. He desires to succeed Second Lieutenant A. C. Ashford, resigned. A commission has been prepared already for Private McConnell, it being anticipated that he will pass the examination.

LOWRY ARNOLD'S BARBECUE MAKES HIT

Court officials and attaches Friday are congratulating Lowry Arnold, solicitor of the criminal court of Atlanta, on the success of the barbecue given at his country place on Pace's Ferry road Thursday.

Some fifty court officials and friends of the solicitor attended the 'cue, and after a large time pronounced it "the best ever." The feed was served on the spacious lawn of the Arnold country place and lasted as long as any one could eat.

The guests went to the barbecue in automobiles furnished by the solicitor.

MILITIAMEN HELD FOR LARCENY FROM ARMORY

A. H. Bray, of 388 Fraser street, and Charles Treglown, of 316 Fraser street, clothes pressers, were bound over to higher courts on a charge of larceny from the house by City Recorder Broyles Friday morning. It is alleged that the men stole a typewriter from the local national guard armory and pawned it in a Decatur street shop.

Both men and members of the militia acids will, through careful quantitative tests made day by day, prove that the escape of albumen can be counteracted and that Bright's Disease is now curable by Fulton's Renal Compound if taken in hand soon enough. It is the duty of everyone interested to test this fact.

Kidney excitants (old-time kidney medicines) are contra-indicated except where there is suppression. With an agent to counteract renal degeneration Bright's Disease becomes curable in most cases where the heart is not broken down and there is recuperative power.

The new agent, Fulton's Renal Compound, is a mild infusion without stimulants, sedative or heart agents. Its motive being to counteract renal degeneration it can be seen that the usual heart, eliminative and tonic treatment which extreme cases may require can be taken with it without conflict. It commonly gets results alone if given soon enough. The substance of the formula surrounds each bottle.

If you have Bright's Disease you owe it to yourself and family to try Fulton's Renal Compound before giving up. It can be had at Edmondson Drug Co., 11 N. Broad street and 106 N. Pryor street, Atlanta, Ga.—(Advt.)

MAYOR WOODWARD RAPS POLICE AND RECORDER

Says Exorbitant Collaterals Are "a Hold-Up" and Speaks of Recorder Being Reversed

In discussing city affairs with the reporters Friday morning Mayor Woodward took another rap at the police department and Recorder Broyles.

"There's too much of this arresting people for trivial offenses and taking exorbitant collateral from them at the police station," said the mayor. "In most cases of this kind the people are not guilty of any serious offense and are not the sort of people who give the police trouble. On the contrary, they are people who shrink from the idea of a recorder's court trial, and are willing to put up heavy collateral in order to save themselves. That's why I say it is a hold-up, and the meanest sort of a hold-up."

Concerning Recorder Broyles, the mayor said:

"You fellows missed a right good little story the other day, or at least, you didn't print it. You remember Recorder Broyles not long ago attacking me in a newspaper interview for pardoning so many persons sentenced by him?

"Well, all of his noise was over three pardons from this office.

"Now, I suspect that maybe the real reason for his getting irritated—and this is what I have reference to your not printing—is the fact that the higher court has reversed him, according to my information, in no less than fifteen decisions handed down since May 23.

"Of course, he couldn't say anything against the court of appeals, so he took it out on me, charging me with obstructing justice."

Deaths and Funerals

EDNA HICKS.

The funeral of Edna Hicks, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Damon Hicks, who died Thursday morning at the residence, 329 Pulliam street, occurred at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon from the residence, and interment was at West View cemetery.

MR. WILL E. DICKENS.

The body of Mr. Will E. Dickens, who died Thursday at a private sanitarium, will be removed from P. J. Bloomfield's chapel, and sent at 9 o'clock Saturday morning to Bogart, Ga., for funeral and interment. He is survived by his wife, his mother and a brother.

MRS. MARY WALTZ.

Mrs. Mary Walz, aged 63 years, died at 3 o'clock Friday morning at a private sanitarium. She leaves one son and one daughter. The body was removed to H. M. Patterson's chapel, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

BAD MANAGEMENT OF MISS. PRISON FARM

Two Indicted on Such a Charge at Jackson, Miss., on Saturday

(By Associated Press.)

JACKSON, Miss., June 20.—True bills charging W. D. Gowdy, manager of the Jackson Oil and Refining company, and A. C. Davis, bookkeper at the state prison farm at Parchman, with grand larceny and conspiracy to defraud were returned today by the Hinds county grand jury investigating alleged irregularities in the management of the Mississippi state prison. Gowdy was immediately arrested and later released on bond.

The true bills charge that Gowdy and Davis were instrumental in arranging a contract by which the Jackson Oil and Refining company is alleged to have received from the state several large consignments of cotton seed without making any payment in return. The alleged fraud, it is charged, was perpetrated through agreement with Lawrence Yerger, former secretary of the prison board, who recently confessed to defalcations in connection with affairs of the board.

DANGER IN MEAT EATING

Medical Reports Show That People Who Eat Much Meat Are Susceptible to Typhoid Fever.

The death rate of Typhoid has been 10 per cent for many years. Even if patient recovers, there is danger. Weakened constitution, languidness, loss of energy, and other after effects.

In a majority of cases typhoid fever is caused by the inactive liver which has refused to clear away the masses of meat particles left undigested in the alimentary canal. This mass putrefies and sends out death-dealing poisons, to result in typhoid fever.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT is the greatest known liver stimulant. Its action is gentle, yet effective. It draws water to the alimentary tract, flushes the stomach and bowels, washes away the undigested meat particles and removes the danger of fermentation. The blood is purified through the renewed activity of the liver.

JACOBS' LIVER SALT does not cause nausea and vomiting, and there are no dangerous after-effects as with calomel. Don't take an inferior substitute; many imitate the name but cannot produce the same natural, flushing action of the genuine JACOBS' LIVER SALT. At all druggists, 25c. If your druggist cannot supply you we will mail full size jar upon receipt of price, postage free. Made and guaranteed by Jacobs' Pharmacy Co., Atlanta.—(Advt.)

RHODE ISLAND COMPANY AFTER GEORGIA BUSINESS

New Fire Insurance Concern Enters Loal Field With Its Facilities

Insurance Commissioner W. A. Wright on Friday issued a license to the Rhode Island Fire Insurance company, of Providence, R. I., and that company will begin immediately to seek business in this state.

The Rhode Island Fire Insurance company has qualified with the requirements of the Georgia laws, has submitted the necessary statements of its affairs to the insurance commissioner, and has deposited $10,000 in city of Atlanta 4 1-2 per cent bonds with the state treasurer.

According to the statements submitted to the insurance commissioner, the Rhode Island company has a paid-up capital of $400,000, assets of $1,298,360.65 and surplus over liabilities of $377,233.

BOYS HALED TO COURT FOR CARRYING WEAPONS

Police Commissioner Declares Boys Defaced English Avenue School Yards

Carl Stanford and Claude Ireland, youths about fifteen years old, living in the Fifth ward, were bound over to the higher courts on a charge of carrying firearms by City Recorder Broyles Thursday afternoon. Charles Jones, another boy, was placed on probation.

Police Commissioner Garner was a witness against the trio. He declares that the boys had defaced the grounds surrounding the English avenue school and were guilty of other acts of rowdyism.

"The school recently won a prize of $50 for having the best appearing grounds in the city and now it is the worst," said Commissioner Garner in testifying. "These boys have literally defaced the entire grounds."

Ireland was also fined $25.75 for discharging firearms in the city limits.

Exports Increase

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Manufactures exported from the United States have increased in the past thirty-three years more than ten times as rapidly as the agricultural exports, as shown by figures collected by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. The value of farm product exports have not decreased in value, but the manufactures have grown so much more rapidly that the increase is ten to one.

ECZEMA BROKE OUT LIKE RASH

Itched So Could Not Rest Without Scratching. Scales in Hair and on Coat Collar a Sight. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

R. F. D. No. 2, Box 46, Nickols, S. C.—"For nearly ten years my husband was troubled with eczema on his head. It broke out like rash in a small place and itched so badly that he could not rest without scratching it. It would anger up, itch and burn, and be about an inch thick. When the fever cooled down it would be scaly. He would scratch the skin off. The scales in his hair and on his coat collar were a sight. In a few days it would be better, then after a few days it would break out in a larger circle. About seven years the circle was as large as a tea-cup.

"Home remedies and treatments did no good. I procured one cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed it with the Cuticura Soap and warm water, then applied the Cuticura Ointment every night for a week. It improved so far that I only used them once a week. In six months it was entirely well. Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured him." (Signed) Mrs. H. V. Blanton, Apr. 16, 1912.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexions, red, rough hands, itching scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

B. M. HARWELL.

Dr. R. B. Kelly, City.

Dear Sir—I consider "Nuxcara" the greatest accomplishment in medical science; it produces harmony of action between the organs of digestion, and nervous system and metabolism, or the conversion of food into living tissues.

I sincerely recommend "Nuxcara" to be the ideal remedy for depression after eating, nervousness caused by fermentation of food forming gases and preventing the regular action of the stomach and bowels. "Nuxcara" acts directly upon the membranes of the digestive system and restores them to a healthy condition. I weighed 130 pounds when I began to take Nuxcara. I now weigh 185 pounds.

I speak from experience; break your bondage to tea and coffee, acquire the water drinking habit, breathe God's fresh air and take "Nuxcara," your palace car to "Wellville."

Wishing you much success, I am
Very truly yours,

COMMISSIONS SCORED BY ATLANTA BANKER

Col. W. L. Peel Says Developments Are Retarded by Restraint of Corporations

Colonel W. L. Peel, president of the American National bank, in an interview Friday, expressed the opinion that the state and county would be better off if the state railroad commission and the interstate commerce commission, as they now are run, were both abolished.

"There is too much interfering with corporations," the bank president declared, "and there are too many laws and too much legislation.

"The interstate commerce commission and the state railroad commission are too drastice in their rulings. Corporations, especially railroads, should be allowed to develop normally, and without so much restraint. As the result of the present conditions railroads hesitate to pursue developments, and as a consequence things are practically at a standstill along this line. There is no really large railroad construction going on in the United States as the result of the restraint put upon corporations."

With it all, however, Colonel Peel says that the local financial situation is good.

SENATE WILL AMEND INCOME TAX FEATURE

Senator Hoke Smith Declares That Plan for Collecting Tax Is Unreasonable

(BY RALPH SMITH.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Senator Hoke Smith declared today that, in his opinion, the senate will strike from the income tax provision of the tariff bill the plan for collecting the tax at its source by requiring tenants to retain part of their rent covered by the requirement. This feature of the bill has aroused a storm of protests in all sections of the country. The assurance from Mr. Smith that it will be stricken will be welcomed generally. The senator said today:

"I sympathize fully with the opposition which has developed in Georgia to a plan of collecting income tax at the source by requiring tenants to retain part of their rent covered by the income tax. This subject had attracted my attention even before I had heard from any Georgians in reference to it. One needs only to think upon it casually to realize how unreasonable and impossible such a plan for collecting income taxes would be. I feel sure that the senate will strike it from the bill passed by the house."

CENTRAL PRESBYTERIANS HOLD ENJOYABLE PICNIC

The annual picnic of the Central Presbyterian church took place Thursday at Powder Springs. Six hundred men, women and children joined in a day of merry frolic, which included fishing, baseball games and, of course, feasting.

Dr. Dunbar Ogden, the pastor of the church; John J. Eagan, Sunday school superintendent, and an able corps of teachers, had charge of the festivities. From the time the first merrymaker reached the springs in the morning, until all had departed at twilight, there was no pause in the fun and enjoyment.

A feature of the day was the baseball game between the teams of the Junior Brotherhood and the Covenanters. There was another game, too, between the church team and the Powder Springs club.

GEN. LEE'S PICTURE SENT TO ATLANTA CAMP, 159

A handsome engraving of General Robert E. Lee has been presented to Atlanta camp, No. 159, United Confederate Veterans, by W. D. Hoffman, Atlanta representative of the Otis Elevator company.

Mr. Hoffman, who is a northerner, wrote camp 159 that a friend of his in Boston, Mass., had done the engraving and given him the print. He expressed the sentiment that the picture would be more appropriately owned if it was in the custody of the comrades and followers of the distinguished general.

Referring to the engraving, Mr. Hoffman said: "The picture of the greatest commander this country has ever seen and one who represented the highest type of American manhood—General Robert E. Lee."

Camp 159 has accepted the picture and adopted suitable resolutions expressing its appreciation.

WESTERN CHILDREN MAY SEE OLD LIBERTY BELL

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—Pleading that the school children of the west should be given an opportunity of seeing the Liberty bell, nine young women teachers from Oregon, Washington and Idaho called on Mayor Blankenburg and city councils in an effort to secure the transportation of the relic to the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915.

Mayor Blankenburg informed them that he favored the sending of the bell, but said the question would have to be decided by members of councils, to be elected next fall.

Petitions signed by thousands of school children and by the governors of the states represented by the delegation were presented to councils, the members of which heartily applauded the speeches of the fair pleaders, but failed to take any action.

ISSUE WARNING AGAINST CULTIVATING THE DATE

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Lest the investing public be "roped in" by advertisements giving glowing accounts of the big profits to be derived from cultivation of the date, the department of agriculture today issued a note of warning that such claims are exaggerated and misleading.

The department has been conducting experiments in date cultivation in the arid regions of the southwest for years, with some degree of success. The experts point out, however, that while date growing promises well, it is no scheme for a non-resident or an absentee corporation to attempt, for the grower must "stay on the job" all the time. The mere fact that a date is a good variety in its native soil, say the experts, is no guarantee that it will prove good under American cultivation.

DEMONSTRATE PROGRESS OF BLIND-DUMB GIRL

PHILADELPHIA, June 20.—A demonstration of the progress made by Catherin May Frick, a thirteen-year-old girl, who was deaf, dumb and blind when she entered the institution four years ago, was a feature of the commencement exercises yesterday at the Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Mount Airy, near here. The little girl can now use a typewriter with proficiency and can enunciate in a clear and intelligible tone. She "listens" by placing her fingers on the lips of the speakers.

LAWLESSNESS CHARGED TO AMERICAN SOLDIERS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Charges that American soldiers on the Mexican border are as lawless as the roving bands across the line, were to be laid before Secretary of War Garrison today by J. J. Kilpatrick, a merchant of Candelaria, Tex.

Mr. IKilpatrick was prepared to assert that the American soldiers are unruly and that they fail to afford protection to Americns.

Candelaria is a border town of about 500 inhabitants, virtually all of whom are Mexicans. Mr. Kilpatrick and members of his family are said to be the only Americans in the place.

ATLANTA LOSES CUSTOMS SURVEYOR ON JULY 1

Oscar Underwood's Refusal to Allow New Bill Considered Results in Move

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The reorganization of the United States custom service in accordance with plans outlined by the Taft administration will become effective July 1, notwithstanding efforts to defer its operation until next January.

At a conference this morning between Leader Underwood, of the house, and Senator Fletcher, of Florida, the former refused point blank to allow the house to consider the Fletcher bill, deferring the reorganization. This bill recently passed the senate and it was the desire of Democratic senators the reorganization be deferred.

As a result of Underwood's refusal to allow the bill to be considered in the house, the custom surveyor's office in Atlanta and the collectors' offices at Brunswick and Darien will be consolidated with the collector's office at Savannah.

While Underwood refused to allow the consideration of legislation at this session, he said he would be willing to allow the consideration of modifications in the reorganization next December.

N. Y. CENTRAL EQUIPMENT UPHELD BY COURT

(By Associated Press.)

ALBANY, N. Y., June 20.—Legality of the New York Central lines' equipment trust of 1903 authorized by the public service commission and the railroad commission of Michigan was upheld today by State Supreme Court Justice Chester.

Minority stockholders of the New York Central and Michigan Central Railroad companies attacked the validity of the equipment trust certificates, of which $12,547,200 of the $42,000,000 authorized has been issued, on the ground that the equipment trust agreement is in affect a guarantee by each of the railroad companies interested of the debts or obligations of the five other companies and, therefore, beyond the corporate power of these companies to make.

The railroads asserted that the common use of equipment in through business is necessary to the proper conduct of transportation.

To Restore Maine Plate

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The bronze plate placed on the mainmast of the battleship Maine by the Daughters of the American Revolution of Havana, Cuba, is to be restored to the historic old spar when it is erected in Arlington national cemetery to mark the graves of the unknown dead of the ill-fated battleship.

FEW CASES LEFT BEFORE U. S. SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, June 20.—When the supreme court adjourned for the summer it had ninety-eight fewer cases before it than at vacation time a year ago. Data just compiled shows that twenty-one more cases were brought to the court within the judicial year just closed than during the preceding one and that the court disposed of seventy-seven more cases this year than during the one preceding. There are now 504 cases on the docket.

Perry Celebration

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The celebration of Perry's victory on Lake Erie beginning July 4, being regarded as essentially a naval event, the navy department is making making special preparation to participate. Ensign George M. Lowery today was detached from the battleship Arkansas and assigned to the special duty of collecting and arranging for public exhibition all available relics and mementoes o fthe famous naval engagement.

COURT SUSPENDS STRIKERS' SENTENCE

PATERSON, N. J., June 20.—Thirty-one striking silk mill workers, members of the Industrial Workers of the World, convicted recently of unlawful assemblage, were sentenced to serve three months each in jail. The court suspended sentence subject to good behavior of the prisoners.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS RAGING IN ARKANSAS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 20.—More than a hundred cases of infantile paralysis exist in three counties in this state, according to Dr. C. W. Garrison, of the state board of health, who returned yesterday to the capital from a tour of the counties afflicted. Dr. Francis, of the federal public health service, accompanied Dr. Garrison. The counties officially reported are Miller county, forty-five; Sevier county, county, thirty-one; Little River county, seventeen. According to the physicians, the disease is generally of a mild type, with few deaths resulting. While the paralysis generally attacks young children, several grown persons also were found suffering from the malady.

White Felt Hats

The High Novelty In Summer Millinery

An interesting showing tomorrow of the hats now in great favor. We have them from the little specialty shop of

20 E. 46th St., New York

With them came a letter telling of the vogue white felt hats are enjoying along the Avenue and in Atlantic City.

Atlanta sees them first here.

It is not hard to understand why they are liked so well. They are smart, decidedly cool looking. Medium shapes as a rule, roll brims, sometimes edged with a band of colored hemp---light blue, purple and black.

Feathers and wings are used, placed at queer angles, and always attractive.

No question, Atlanta will favor them just as New York has!

MINE PROBERS RETURN TO CAPITAL FOR REST

During Week 100 Witnesses Were Examined on W. Va. Coal Mine Conditions

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Three tired United States senators came back to Washington today, after a week of strenuous investigation in the coal strike district of West Virginia. Senators Swanson, Kenyon and Martine returned to the senate to take up their legislative duties.

During a week in Charleston the committee examined nearly a hundred witnesses, worked ten or twelve hours a day, often sitting until after midnight and took about 1,000,000 words of testimony.

The committee will resume hearings in Washington in a few weeks, and will take up the charge of the West Virginia coal operators that the Miners' union is in league with operators in the competitive fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois to ruin the West Virginia industry.

When the committee resumes, the coal operators will press their complaint that Senator Martine has prejudged the case against them. They will ask to be allowed to place in the record written statements by Senator Martine criticising the operators.

The attitude of Senator Martine will be taken up by the sub-committee and probably will be presented to the full committee on education and labor.

MAJOR SYDENHAM ANCONA DIES AT AGE OF 89

READING, Pa., June 20.—Major Sydenham W. Ancona, eighty-nine years old, believed to have been the last surviving member who served in the national house of representatives in 1861, died here today. He was a Democrat and served in the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses and had a personal acquaintnce with notable men of the Civil war period.

On the occasion of his last visit to Washington a year ago the house of representatives took a recess for fifteen minutes in his honor during which he was accorded a reception.

FAIR TRIAL ASSURED FOR PORTER CHARLTON

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Secretary Bryan today assured Paul Charlton that the United States would use its offices to insure a fair trial for his son, Porter Charlton, awaiting extradition to Italy to answer the charge of having murdered his wife at Lake Como, in 1910. An official of the United States will be designated to attend court.

CREDIT MEN DISCUSS LAW OF BANKRUPTCY

CINCINNATI, June 20.—Election of officers and discussion of the federal bankruptcy law was the most important subjects on the program of the eighteenth annual convention of the National Association of Credit Men today.

It was feared by some that there might be a split among the delegates. It was said there was a faction opposed to the present bankruptcy law.

The convention will end tonight. The next meeting place will be selected by the executive committee.

MOORE DRAWS ONE SECOND PRIZE AT SHOW

LONDON, June 20.—At the international horse show at Olympia today Judge W. H. Moore, of Philadelphia, had to content himself with second prize in the class for novice tandems not exceeding 15 hands.

J. Sumner Draper, of Boston, obtained second prize with Nimbus in the class for novice single harness horses between 15 and 15 1-2 hands.

NEGROES ELECTROCUTED IN KENTUCKY SATURDAY

EDDYVILLE, Ky., June 20.—Condemned for the murder of Hardin Ingraham in Shelby county two years ago, Tom Lawson and Tom Martin, negroes, were electrocuted in the state penitentiary here today.

Ingraham was killed near the village of Waddy after a young negro girl had complained to a kinsman that she had been knocked from the sidewalk while passing a group of young white men. It was charged that Lawson and Martin followed Ingraham from the village and killed him.

New Masonic Council

EATONTON, Ga., June 20.—At the regular convocation this week, thrice illustrious grand master, J. R. Roberts, of the grand council, Royal and Select Masons, organized here the "Robert Young Council" of this order. More than a score of members of the Royal Arch chapter signed the petition for charter, and by unanimous vote the council was named in honor of Robert Young, one of the oldest members of the Masonic order in Eatonton.

MACON RECORDER GIVES SPEEDERS $60 FINES

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., June 19.—Recorder Daly is not the friend of an automobile speeder. He manifested his desire to stop reckless driving and speeding on the main paved streets about the city yesterday when Albert Johnson and Joe Curtis, chauffeurs, were fined $60 or sixty days of stockade labor.

Three officers testified that the two negroes were racing their machines from the depot recently, and in a distance of three blocks, they acquired a speed of fifty miles an hour. Both pleaded guilty and expected a light fine, but the sentence was the heaviest ever handed down by the recorder.

IN LOCAL THEATERS

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
GRAND—"Quo Vadis," in pictures.
BIJOU—Tabloid Musical Comedy.

The program of vaudeville at the Forsyth this week has presented such a clever entertainment that a better than average attendance has been recorded despite the heat of weather. The bill is one of real novelty. There is so much that is interesting that even scenery is appealing to the humor of the people. One of the acts uses a curtain on which is painted funny signs that makes the audience laugh a couple of minutes before the actors appear.

Bud Fisher, whose real name is Harry, does some sketches of "Mutt and Jeff" that are funny.

A hit has been credited to Pauline Welch, the pretty singing comedienne. Miss Welch has a charming stage appearance, is a clever and interesting singer and wears some gowns that are worth while.

The acts of the Three Leightons, in songs and dances; Karl Emmy and his clever dogs, and others on the bill make the show one of worth while quality.

The headline feature for next week will be Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore, who will present a singing and dancing novelty. "Ideal," the diver and swimmer, is on the same bill, and will show some fancy diving and swimmiar stunts.

"Quo Vadis" is to remain at the Grand another week. There has been such a tremendous interest in the pictures that Jake Wells from his New York office wired that he had arranged to set forward the engagement of the pictures in one of the other cities in order to give Atlanta an additional week.

There will be the usual matinee and night performances on Friday and Saturday, and matinee and night performances every day next week.

Ministers of the gospel have joined with the theater-goers in giving indorsement to the pictures, and the people who have seen the exhibition have been busy advising their friends not to miss it.

In every city where "Quo Vadis" has been introduced there has been the same effect, packed houses as soon as the value of the exhibition was known, and a request for another engagement before the original ended.

Marjorie Lake, the lady with the phenomenal baritone voice; Lew Miller and Harry Loader, German comedians; Sol Carter, the Hebrew comedian, and a big chorus of girls and vaudeville artists, should make next week's attraction at the Bijou one of the best entertainments of the year in the musical comedy line. The comedy bears the catchy title of "The Merry Whirl," and has to do with the funny experiences and sayings of three comedians who take a trip to Paris. It is said to be one of the most amusing comedies on the tabloid circuit, and the music the most tuneful. Special and elaborate scenic effects, and beautiful costumes, add to the spectacular part of the show. From the minute the curtain goes up on a big musical number, till the grand finale in which the whole company appears in the swing song, there is never a dull moment, and the audience is kept laughing and amused.

Matinees will be given daily, and two shows every night at 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

NO CHANGES IN PLANS FOR HANDLING COTTON

Mass Meeting Will Be Held in Atlanta in Effort to Conciliate Interests

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 20.—Results of the general conference between steamship and rail interests, bankers, compress owners, cotton exporters and others held yesterday, were that the steamship lines had given an ultimatum that there will be no change in the proposed plans of handling cotton.

These rules are to go into effect September 1 and provide for uniformity in baling cotton, marking so as to give a full descriptoin of cotton, etc. Another mass meeting of interests interested will be called by E. H. Hinton, of the Southeastern Freight association to be held in Atlanta between now and September 1 to make another effort to reconcile the interests.

The ultimatum of the steamship lines was rendered by William P. Ross, of New Orleans. Speeches made in the conference here were by a representative of each interest involved. To carry out the steamship rules will mean rearrangement of compress work which will entail much expense and trouble.

ILLINOIS SUFFRAGE UNCONSTITUTION?

(By Associated Press.)

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 20.—Attorney General Lucey today said he would return the woman suffrage bill to Governor Dunne next Monday with an opinion as to the measure's constitutionality. He would not make a forecast as to what his opinion might be.

PENSACOLA WINS VICTORY OVER L. & N. RAILROAD

Interstate Commerce Commission Orders Road to Cease Discriminatory Tactics

WASHINGTON, June 20.—"Wharves and the tracks leading thereto, owned by a rail carrier engaged in interstate commerce and used for receiving and delivering property moving by rail in interstate and foreign commerce are subject to the act to regulate commerce and the regulations and practices affecting their use must be reasonable and non-discriminatory."

This broad principle was laid down today by the Interstate commerce commission in its report of an investigation of the use of wharfage facilities at Pensacola, Fla.

The commission held that the regulations and practices of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in the administration of its Pensacola wharves were unreasonable and unjustly discriminatory and the road was ordered by August 15 to cease such practices as the commission found discriminatory.

TESTIMONY IN COX TRIAL BEGINS SOON

CINCINNATI, June 20.—The defense's opening statement in the trial of George B. Cox, former political leader and banker, charged with the misapplication of $115,000 belonging to the Cincinnati Trust company, was resumed today. Attorney Dinsmore is expected to conclude this afternoon, when the taking of testimony will begin.

WILSON WILL SIGN SUNDRY APPROPRIATION

President Will Not Veto Measure Exempting Labor and Farmers Unions

WASHINGTON, June 20.—After the cabinet meeting today it was said at the White House that President Wilson would sign the sundry civil appropriation bill with its provisions forbidding use of funds for prosecution of labor unions and farmers' organizations under the anti-trust law. The president, however, will write a memorandum giving his attitude toward the exemptions and his reasons for signing the bill.

AVIATOR WINS DAMAGES FOR COLLISION IN AIR

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, June 20.—An action brought by Captains Dickson and Thomas, airmen, to determine who was responsible for an aviation accident in Milan in 1910, when two aeroplanes were in collision, ended with a verdict in favor of Thomas yesterday.

The judge decided that Dickson was to blame, and ordered him to pay $1,000 damages to Thomas and $2,000 damages to the makers of the aeroplane in which Thomas was flying at the time of the collision, in addition to paying eight-tenths of the costs of the litigation.

Thomas claimed $16,000 damages, while Dickson claimed $20,000 injuries which he received as the result of the accident and for the destruction of the bi-plane.

HARVARD GRADUATE OPPOSES THE RECALL

(By Associated Press.)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 20.—Asserting that the initiative and recall had been tried on Alcibiades and Socrates in Athens and had worked about as unjustly as it may be expected to work now, Zacharias Chafee, Jr., who takes his degree as a lawyer at Harvard, in a commencement speech yesterday, made a plea for a less hostile attitude on the part of the public toward the judiciary.

"While sources of dissatisfaction exist as they now do," said Mr. Chaffee, "what is the use of changing one lawyer on the bench for another, who thinks in much the same way?"

Not Too Late for Your Share of $7,000 in the Great Booklovers' Campaign

The Last Prize Picture Has Been Published But You Still Have Plenty of Time to Select Correct Titles to the Seventy-Five Prize Pictures

You can get the complete set of pictures, the catalogue containing all the titles and the Answer Book, giving you the right to ten answers on each picture.

For the benefit of those who are not familiar with the plan, we will briefly explain it:

Each of The Journal's 75 prize pictures represents the title of one book. You have the right to ten answers on each picture. Prizes aggregating $7,000 are to be given to contestants who will secure the most correct answers. You can get all these answers out of The Journal's new catalogue and you can secure all of the pictures at 2c each; the catalogue will cost you 25c at the office or 27c by mail; the Answer Book 80c at the office or 90c by mail. As we give the first thirty-five pictures free with the Answer Book, you will only have to buy the other 40 at 2c each. The Answer Book, catalogue and all the pictures will cost you $1.97 by mail, or $1.85 at The Journal Office.

Supplies can be secured until 10:00 P. M., July 12th. Positively none sold after that.

Then one whole week to get answers into The Journal Office.

No set of answers will be received before July 14th, and none bearing a postmark later than midnight of July 19th.

Fix these dates firmly in your mind and get all your supplies in time to get your share of the $7,000. Use the coupons in ordering and get in the GREAT HOME GAME TODAY!

NEGRO IS LYNCHED ON STREET IN HOT SPRINGS

For Slaying Fourteen-Year-Old Girl Negro Is Slain and Body Burned

(By Associated Press.)

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., June 20.—This city was quiet today following the excitement of last night which resulted in the lynching and burning of Will Norman, the negro who attacked and killed a 14-year-old white girl. All trace of the funeral pyre had been removed from the downtown street, where Norman met his death.

The negro made no resistance when found by the posse. As he was being brought into town to be placed in jail he was told that his little victim was dead.

"Well, I guess I will be, too, in a little while," he replied and the nbegged the officers to not permit the mob to burn him alove.

An investigation of the lynching has been ordered by city and county authorities.

FARMERS OF BROOKS TO MEET SATURDAY

QUITMAN, Ga., June 20.—The annual Farmers' institute to be held Saturday at Pidcock under the auspices of the Agricultural college will have an unusually large crowd, because this is the first of the institutes to be held in the county. The gathering will be near the W. W. Hast farm, where an experiment plot is cultivated under the directions of the state colleges, and the farmers will witness a demonstration of farm implements here.

The program for the institute includes: Lecture on "The Chicken Problem," by Prof. L. L. Jones; lecture, "The Value of Vegetables on the Farm," Prof. C. M. Kiger, instructor in horticulture; lecture, "The Best Methods of Increasing Productiveness of Our Soil," Prof. R. S. Hollinshead; lecture, "The Results of Farm Demonstration Work," J. Phil Campbell, state agent; lecture, "The Value of Soil Surveys and Fertilizer Test Plats," Prof. J. R. Fain.

ALLEGED SWINDLER HELD ON CHARGE OF HOTEL

SAVANNAH, GA., June 20.—A. C. Kish, the young man who was arrested here several days ago on the charge of trying to obtain money from a drug firm on a bogus draft, was taken to Jacksonville last night in custody of Sheriff Dowling. Kish, who is also known as A. L. Howard and A. C. Reynolds, is alleged to have defrauded a number of concerns out of amounts aggregating $200. He will be prosecuted in Jacksonville by the Seminole hotel, which he is alleged to have defrauded out of $35.

Killed by Lightning

DALTON, Ga., June 20.—While working on his father's farm near Ebenezer, this county, a young son of George Mullins, a well known farmer of the northern part of the county, was struck by lightning and instantly killed yesterday afternoon.

Captured By Japs In Private Yacht

Miss Elsie Ladew (above) and Miss Hilda Holmes (below) are two American girls who were aboard the yacht Columbia when it was seized by Japanese officials at Wakayama, Japan, June 11. The vessel, owned by J. Harvey Ladew, of the New York Yacht club, was voyaging from Agasaki to Yokohoma, and had put into Wakayama—which is not an open port—for repairs.

Court Awards Bequest After Heir Breaks Will By Marrying

TRENTON, N. J., June 20.—Taking the stand that it is against public policy to restrain marriage the court of errors and appeals here has refused to affirm a decision of the lower court, setting aside a note for $3,000 given by the late Henry Van Riper, of Paterson, to Mrs. May Lowe. A new trial of the action has been ordered by the court.

Mrs. Lowe before her marriage, was Miss May Wood. She testified that Mr. Van Riper gave her the note to be paid out of his estate on the condition that she should care for him until his death and that she should not marry. The executor of the estate refused payment on the ground that Mrs. Lowe had broken the agreement by marrying. The lower court upheld his attitude and it was from this decision that Mrs. Lowe appealed.

South Dakota Town Will Have Municipal Barrooms Very Soon

(By Associated Press.)

SISSETON, S. D., June 20.—Commencing July 1, Sisseton will have the nearest approach to a municipal saloon of any town in South Dakota. The licenses for two saloons to which the town is entitled were granted to W. E. Bollenbeck by popular vote.

Bollenbeck will conduct the business on unique lines. He will work on a salary of $1,800 a year, and the profits of the business will be divided as follows:

Fifty per cent to the county good roads fund and the remaining 50 per cent to the city treasury.

The daily receipts of the saloon will be turned over to two leading citizens, under whose control the business will be conducted. The name of the city will not appear in any of the transactions of the saloon.

Indianapolis Police Ban Music in Hotels, Carrying Out Orders

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 20.—Obeying every word of a police order that music in rooms adjacent to saloons must not be allowed, sleuths of the Indianapolis police department started on the train of melody here last night, and in a short time had spread indignation through the large hotels and brought a war party of austere hotel managers down on Superintendent of Police Hyland.

During the dinner hour last night, while a high-priced orchestra was playing in a hotel, a patrolman walked up to the manager and informed him he would have "to cut out that music stuff." It was the superintendent's order, the patrolman said, and it was obeyed. Two other big hotels received similar orders. The managers, after a council of war, hunted up Superintendent Hyland, who issued additional instructions to his police force that the order did not include the hotels or higher class cafes.

PUBLIC LIBRARY FOR EATONTON IS ASSURED

EATONTON, GA., June 19.—By the vote of 121 to 7, Eatonton decided Wednesday in a tax increase of one-tenth of a mill annually for the maintenance of a public library. In addition to a gift of $6,000 from Andrew Carnegie, the library will have an excellent supply of books donated by William Keith Fruden, of Michigan, whose parents were war-time desidents of Eatonton.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION PLEADS FOR PURE MILK

American Medical Association Closes Session in Minneapolis Saturday

(By Associated Press.)

MINNEAPOLIS, June 20.—With only three sections in session, the sixty-fourth annual convention of the American Medical association practically came to a close today.

At a joint session of the section on diseases of children, with the American Association of Medical Milk Commissions, pleas were made for pure milk, especially for children.

Dr. T. C. McCleve, of Berkeley, Cal., discussed the common misconception of certified milk. He gave especial credit to the American Associated of Medical Milk Commissions for the work that is being carried on to obtain for the consumer a purer supply.

Dr. Henry L. Coit, of Newark, N. J., showed the supervision and ocntrol employed by the milk system, to insure a product uniformly reliable and safe as based on fixed standards.

Dr. Henry F. Helmholz, of Chicago, told of ahe role that certified milk is playing in the infant welfare campaign, and urged the importance of good milk.

ANDERSON CONFIDENT OF THE SENATE PRESIDENCY

"I will, if I live, be the president of the next state senate," declared J. Randolph Anderson, of Savannah, senator from the First district, Friday morning. Mr. Anderson, who has opened his headquarters in the Kimball house, is exhibiting the written pledges of twenty-eight senators. He claims to have received four new pledges during the past few days, running his list up from twenty-four to twenty-eight.

"Every signature will be ratified by the roll call," he says.

Gossip is the mother-in-law of lies.

Your old-time opposition paper is printing every now and then rumors of disagreements between Wilson and the others of his administration.

Still, there isn't any disagreement between Wilson and the public.

Atlantians Will Support The Certified Milk Plan.

In accepting the pure-milk rules recently proposed by a committee of the Fulton County Medical Society, the Atlanta Dairymen's Association has shown a highly commendable spirit. The purpose of these rules is to establish more sanitary methods in the production and marketing of milk, a matter that vitally concerns public health and, particularly, the health of children. The dairymen have voluntarily agreed, under what may be termed a contract of honor, to observe certain regulations and all those who faithfully do so will be officially approved by the medical society committee.

This plan will work for the good of the producer as well as that of the consumer. The public will naturally patronize those dairymen, the purity of whose milk is certified by responsible authorities. Thus the dairyman who are progressive and who have the welfare of their customers at heart will have a distinct advantage, and one to which they are well entitled.

The "certified milk" plan has been adopted in many alert cities with highly gratifying results. It should prove particularly successful in Atlanta because the people of this city are ever ready to support, practically as a unit, any enterprise that looks to the public good. We may be sure that dairymen who measure up to the high standards prescribed by the medical committee and who thereby earn the committee's certificate of approval will meet with popular favor, and co-operation.

Atlanta has won the rare distinction of having made greater progress in the reduction of the infant death rate during the past nine years than any other American city. There is no surer means of maintaining this splendid record than that provided in the pure-milk movement. The public is indebted to the Medical society and the Dairymen's association for their co-operative plans to this end.

Love in a cottage is another name for a labor union.

Indications are that this is the busy season for roof gardens.

Concerning Calves.

The suggestion recently made by a Chicago banker that the killing of calves be prohibited by law as a means toward increasing the country's depleted beef supply is more ingenious than useful. There are some problems which laws can never solve and one of these is the exact age and liberties of a calf. If it be profitable to rear calves to fat maturity, the farmer will do so without compulsion or suggestion; if unprofitable, no statute could force him to do so. The result would simply be a decline in the bovine birth rate and the meat market would be more unsatisfactory than ever.

There can be no doubt, however, as to the imperative need of producing more cattle in the United States. Within the past six years, the country's beef supply has decreased more than thirty per cent. Prices to the consumer continue to rise but the western producers say that their profits from the industry are so meager as to be discouraging. As a matter of fact, the great cattle ranges of the West are growing fewer; land which was once devoted to that purpose is now being converted into farms.

The Louisville Post well says in this connection that the raising of cattle should be encouraged by every possible means, "by packers, by consumers and by remedial legislation. There are things the Government can do that nobody else can do in connection with the cattle business. It alone can eradicate the tick which in the South has been so costly." It may be added that the Government can prevent those *monopolistic practices by which a few special inter*ests have arbitrarily dictated prices both to the producer and the consumer.

There is good reason to believe that the South is awakening to its possibilities as a beef producing center. To this section, the country will look more and more for its future beef supply.

The Convicted Lobby.

If there was ever a doubt as to the existence of an "industrious and insidious" lobby designed to defeat honest tariff revision, it has been dispelled by the series of letters written by agents of the beet sugar industry and now made public through the Senate's investigation. This remarkable batch of correspondence reveals to what extreme lengths particular interests have gone in their efforts to influence legislation and bend national politics to their own selfish will. Little wonder the walls of high tariff have stood so long and impregnably.

Through these letters we learn of plans to purchase outright the control of great newspapers in order that they might be directed against the reduction of duties on sugar; of efforts to dupe news agencies into the circulation of partisan interviews and manufactured statistics; of schemes to cajole or browbeat congressmen and senators into supporting a high protective tariff; we learn of attempts to create an artificial public sentiment against the reduction of duties; of speeches prepared by representatives of the sugar interests to be delivered by members of Congress; of cunning devices to place "real protectionists" on the House Ways and Means committee; of *great sums of money spent in padding country week*lies with advertisements intended to prejudice and mislead public opinion; in short, we are shown first hand the elaborate and unscrupulous methods which beneficiaries of a high tariff have employed to retain their special favors from the Government.

But the day when such tactics were effective has fortunately gone, or at least it is fast waning. From the moment President Wilson put the country on notice that a lobby was at work in Washington, striving by unfair and covert means to defeat certain important clauses in the pending tariff bill, an atmosphere of keen and wholesome questioning has pervaded the capital and the eyes of the American people have been centered upon Congress. The air of secrecy that once overhung the presence of paid agents in Washington has lifted; and whoever approaches a member or a committee of Congress for the purpose of influencing legislation must let the source of his interest be known. The President has turned on the light and the result is that those forces which must work in the dark, if they work successfully, have all but disbanded.

No achievement of the administration thus far has been more valuable to the people. The rank and file of citizens employ no lobbyists to urge their rights. They must depend solely upon their ballots and their Senators and Representatives. The professional lobbyist, whether his work is that of manufacturing public sentiment by means of paid publicity or of seeking to influence Congress through clever schemes, is an enemy to the common interests and to popular government. He has long been the link between crooked business and crooked politics; but we may now hope, thanks to the plain talk of the present administration, that he will be more and more a missing link.

We had almost forgotten, but our old friend, the Georgia legislature will soon be in our midst again.

No need for calamity howlers, with a fine quality of peach on the trees, and the usual volume of blackberries.

Support the Corn Show Plans.

Plans are well under way to raise the Chamber of Commerce fund for the expenses of the 1913 Georgia corn show which is to be held in Atlanta next December. A number of merchants, manufacturers and bankers have voluntarily pledged liberal subscriptions, realizing as they do that the development of their individual interests depends largely, if not mainly, on the State's agricultural progress. A contribution to the corn show is a wise investment as well as a public spirited gift.

The Chamber of Commerce expects to make the 1913 show larger and more profitable than any which has yet been held. To that end, it wishes to raise at least seventy-five hundred dollars. This is an enterprise which peculiarly concerns the business men of Atlanta, for it makes their city the center of a great agricultural movement which reaches into every county of the State and strikes into action new forces of progress and production. Atlantians should, and doubtless will, support the corn show plans with generous enthusiasm.

If you have a skeleton in your closet train it to stay there.

Editorials In Brief

A London book collector has paid $1,500 for a first edition copy of a minor work of Oliver Goldsmith, who would have felt like changing his name to Goldmine if he could have secured half of that sum for the manuscript.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Can nothing be done about stray cats that yowl at night?" asks a contributor. Well, yes. You can throw your shoes, your watch, your bottle of toothwash, your military brushes and other portable articles at them. But, of course, the probability is that your marksmanship will be bad.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

In fairness it now becomes our duty to say that the passage of the equal suffrage bill through the Illinois legislature has greatly strengthened and encouraged those contending for the right of women to vote. Illinois is the third State in population and importance in the Union, and the influence of the action at Springfield should not be ignored by the opponents of this movement in their future efforts—New York Herald.

A Secretary of Education

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

They have a secretary of commerce and labor in the president's cabinet, and a secretary of the interior, and a secretary of war, and a secretary for almost everything else you can think of, but the one secretary they have not, and ought to have, and the one that is most important of all, is a secretary of education.

I would like to have a large, deep voice like an ocean liner, a voice that would megaphonically reach every citizen of these states, and speak to them and say that the one great big necessary and vital business of us ... is the proper training of all children.

It is city business, township, county, state and national business. Education has as much to do in the cabinet as agriculture or commerce. This people has never realized its duty toward the children. To be sure, we have spent millions; we ought to spend thousands of millions. We have done more than any other nation, but that is no proper test, for they have done precious little.

This nation should be one great university. It should be primarily an educational institution. Its main concern should be to build school houses, maintain school farms, and altogether convert itself into a child training machine.

Our present schools linger under the curse of the class system. The moth-eaten ideas of the class-universities contaminate the public schools. Education is supposed to be for the exceptional man or woman.

We have not yet grasped the truth that every child among us ought to be cared for and trained. Educa*tion is for the common man.*

We keep up a lot of battleships so that no foreign country shall destroy us; we are in a deal more danger of being destroyed by our own ignorance and vice due to child-neglect.

Our great enemies are at home. We allow brutal parents to maltreat children; we allow children to enter the maelstrom of money-making; we allow organized vice to traffic in their souls and bodies.

Every unschooled boy running the streets of our great cities is a menace more formidable than a foreign invader.

We send children (some of them) to Sunday school an hour a week to learn morals. What pitiful trifling. A child should be trained in honesty, sobriety, courage, and cleanliness every waking hour. The contention of religious sects has reduced school instruction to dry shucks. Teachers and school boards are afraid to instruct children not to lie and steal because the sects in town don't agree on the mode of baptism. The place for ethical instruction is the day school.

If is high time the American people woke up and strengthened, enlarged, deepened, widened and exalted the meaning of education.

If we could have a president and congress who for one administration of four years would hand every other business over to clerks and devote their entire time to providing for the right training and schooling of children it would be the greatest thinkable blessing.

The Greatest of Germans

(New York World.)

The German people do well to honor with enthusiasm the silver jubilee of their kaiser. He is the greatest German of his day.

We hear much of the German "war lords" clanking of the sabre, for it is that which gets on Europe's nerves and makes the markets of the world unsettled. But the mailed fist is apt at many trades. The extraordinary versatility of the kaiser makes him the natural leader of German thought and action in many fields.

German art, German literature, German education, German music, find in the kaiser a devoted and intelligent supporter. The immense development of German technical and scientific training and of German commerce has had his eager aid at every point. Perhaps not since Peter the Great of Russia has a monarch so perfectly realized that political power must rest upon a solid basis of industrial development or so identified himself with that development.

A practical man in a practical age is this German kaiser. He is in this the first of representative Germans. His genius would have made him that without a royal title. In a German republic he would have been elected the president. His art of striking speech, his gifts of common sense, his breadth of view and his superb nerve in diplomacy place him far foremost among continental statesmen. He knows well how to use the pomp of throne and crown; but he does not need them to be a commanding figure in the world.

Nature Study

We have been studyin' nature at school every day this spring;
Dissectin' buds that were comin' out, an 'pokin' in everything.
Why, we put some oats in a salt sack, an' sprinkled an' kept it wet—
An' grass growed right through the cloth, it did, and it's growin' yet!
An' teacher put a potato half into a jar, half out,
An' it wasn't a week before we could see it begin to sprout;
An' teacher explained the sproutin' an' told us jest everything—
Say, it's fun to be goin' to school and learnin' such things in spring.

Then teacher got some frog spawn from a puddle down by the run,
An' she's put it all in water an' set it out in the sun,
An' she says the eggs'll hatch and be tadpoles first thing we know,
An' the tadpoles will have long tails on—I wonder who told her so!
Then the tadpole'll drop their tails an' get legs on 'em by an' by,
An' they will sit out on the bank an' ka-boom when the moon is high;
For then they'll be frogs, though now they are nothin' at all but eggs—
It's funny to think that maybe I'll catch 'em an' eat their legs.

I thought I would try the frog spawn at home, an' have lots of fun,
An' so I rolled up my britches an' paddled out in the run.
It was easy to get a jar full; it set on my window sill;
Say, there never won't nothin' batch as quick as some frog spawn will!
An' I'd have raised frogs, I'm certain, if father had let them be,
But you'll not find another kid that has such bad luck as me.
I gave my tadpoles fresh water, an' gave 'em a clean white cup,
Then my father came home that night an' he drinked all my tadpoles up!

A French Beggar Poet

France possesses a genuine beggar poet in Germain Norveau, a close friend of Paul Verlaine, who has published a number of ballads and sonnets over the pseudonym, "Humilis." A selection of these issued in book form some years ago was very favorably received. In one of the notices of his work the author was described by a critic who knows him personally, as "a man soured by poverty, who declined to allow his lot to be bettered." Norveau lives at Aix-en-Provence, mainly on the alms of the charitable, and is frequently to be seen on Sundays amid the throng of beggars who line the approach to the cathedral.—London Chronicle.

Captain Barnacle's Log.

BY JOHN H. WISHAR

"Probably one of the strangest crafts that ever sailed any sea was commanded by me," declared Captain Barnacle. "This was the Mummy Ship, as it was afterward called, and sailors throughout the Seven Seas talked about it for many years afterward.

"I was captain of the clipper brig Edward H. Hurlbut, one of the trimmest and best crafts afloat. We were under charter to the London Historical society to bring back from Alexandria, Egypt, a load of Egyptian relics. We went from London in ballast and made a fast trip down to Alexandria, as the Hurlbut was a speedy little craft and could show most of those Mediterranean ships how to really get ahead. Well, we reached Alexandria and took on our load of curios. These consisted of great stones from the various temples; boxes of scarabs, and cases and cases of mummies. We must have had between three and four *hundred mum*mies on board. But I didn't care what they gave us.

"Now, most sailors will tell you that mummies are bad luck, and while I don't believe in these old superstitions myself, it looks as though they may be correct, for we hadn't been out from Alexandria three days when we struck a half submerged derelict and my vessel's bows were smashed in as far as the heel of the forem'st. Luckily it was clear weather and the sea was smooth. The ship started to fill at once and I knew she wouldn't remain afloat long. All our boats were old and rotten and couldn't be used to carry anything, much less shipwrecked sailors. It looked as though we were doomed. The water was pouring into the hold like a mill race. I glanced down below and then I got an idea.

"Quick as a flash I ordered the men to throw up on deck all the mummies. They saw my plan, and jumped in with a will. 'Here's another king,' some big sailor would shout, as he passed up a mummy. As soon as I had about a hundred mummies on deck I had them lashed together and they formed a big raft. We all stood on this and when my ship went down the raft floated away safely. But there we were marooned on a mummy raft in the center of the Mediterranean sea without food of any kind, although we had succeeded in saving a few barrels of water.

"Well, sir, I opened several of those mummies and lashed them together with their winding sheets, and then with these same cloths made a fine big mainsail. We had a fair wind, and the mummies being so light they floated high, and we tore through the water at a great rate. It was all I could do to steer the raft. I had to use an old king for a rudder, but he worked all right. Sea birds settled on the raft, and so we had plenty to eat.

"In eight days we made Naples, where I sold the entire cargo of mummies to the National museum for $18,000, which gave us all a good bonus. Of course the owners of my ship tried to claim the money, but I maintained that I had a right to salvage, as these old kings had saved our lives at sea at the time of the wreck, and so in return I had placed them in a fine museum. That was how I sailed the mummy ship."

THE PHILIPPINES

VIII.—THEIR COMMERCE.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Philippine commerce tells the same story of progress that other elements of Philippine activities display to even the casual student. Not only that, but a brief survey of its leading features from the date of American occupation in 1899 to the present time embraces other important phases such as the contest for commercial supremacy between the United States and her strongly intrenched European competitors, the strengthening of business ties between Americans and Filipinos, the gradual increasing earning capacity of the Filipinos, the surprising facility with which the Filipino people have adopted every improvement laid at their doors by American commerce, and the final realization of the American business world that the Philippine islands is one of the most attractive objectives of our expanding foreign trade.

• • •

The total trade of the Philippine islands at the present time is nearly 400 per cent greater than it was when the American flag was first hoisted by the First Colorado regiment over old Fort Santiago in the environs of Manila on August 13, 1898.

• • •

In 1899 the total trade of the islands was a little over $27,000,000. Of this trade $13,116,587 represented the imports and $14,640,142 the exports. The total trade of the fiscal year 1912 was $104,869,816. It is expected that the trade of this fiscal year will bring the annual volume to a point above an increase of 400 per cent over 1899. The total trade of the islands one year after American occupation was over $40,000,000, showing an increase of $13,000,000 within twelve months after the Philippines came into their new and better day. However, the balance of trade was against the islands as the imports exceeded the exports to the extent of $780,089. This was due to *the chaotic con*ditions and the general stagnation of trade resulting from the insurrection of the Filipinos against American authority.

• • •

Indeed, the balance of trade against the islands was ten times as bad in 1901 and 1902 as it was in 1900 and the reasons are the same. In 1901 the imports were $30,276,200, while the exports were $23,222,348. The following year the imports were nearly $3,000,000 greater, largely representing necessary food stuffs, while the exports were slightly over $1,200,000 in excess of the year before. The balance of trade against the islands this year was $7,484,499 or nearly half a million over the year before.

• • •

The following year, 1902 reflected the beginning of better conditions because of the partial rehabilitation of the islands through the gradual restoration of peace under the civil government of William H. Taft. By this time all honest peace loving Filipinos, and they are in the great majority, had dropped the bolo for the good old wooden plow. The rice fields which for several years had served no better purpose than that of muddy bivouacs for wily insurrectos and determined fever-stricken American soldiers, now returned to their natural function as the cradle of waving grain. Hemp stalks floated down the streams as of yore, cocoanuts resumed their old place on the little river landing places, bundles of tobacco leaf again formed the principal load of the patient carabao in the tobacco districts and the antiquated sugar mills of Negros and the Visayas groaned and creaked in the grinding of a few pounds of sugar every day.

• • •

The trade of this year represented $32,978,445 in imports and $33,150,120 in exports, showing a balance of trade in favor of the islands of $171,675.

• • •

The year 1904 showed a bare $300,000 increase in imports with a slump of nearly $2,000,000 in exports. This was due to a disastrous rinderpest epidemic which wiped out thousands of carabao in all parts of the islands. The carabao is the beast of burden of the Filipinos. The carabao is of use where the horse and the cow of the Filipinos. The Filipino who owns a carabao has little fear of poverty, and one who has been able to acquire a small herd is the envy of all his fellows. Consequently, the rinderpest of 1904 was a calamity, and to this day is a very perplexing and expensive problem to the government, which is still experimenting with it. The imports exceeded the exports for the year in consideration by $2,995,124.

• • •

The next five years, up to the great changes brought about in August, 1909, by the bill which established partial free trade between the United States and the Philippines, is a record of steady growth both in exports and imports. The imports were somewhat lower than they were in the off year 1904, when rinderpest struck its hardest blow, but the exports continued to expand. In all of these five years a comfortable excess of exports over imports is shown. The best year in this regard was 1906 when the imports were $25,799,290, and the exports were greater by $6,119,252. On the whole, however, the best balanced year was 1905 when the imports were $30,918,756, and the exports were $32,829,816.

• • •

In all of this time the United States did not have the bulk of the Philippine trade. As a matter of fact, the United States was not even the heaviest shipper of goods to the islands. This was because of the competitive tariff imposed by certain stipulations in the treaty of Paris in 1899 and for other reasons.

• • •

The principal exports of the Philippine islands are hemp, copra, raw sugar, cigars and cigarettes. Manila rope and heavy Manila envelopes are known the world over. Other exports of the islands are knotted hemp which is shipped principally to Italy, France and Switzerland to be woven into fine textiles, native fibrous Panama hats, a miscellaneous group of Maguey, shells, native cloth, Ylong-Ylang oil and perfume and native timber and lumber. Hemp was far and away the principal export of the islands until last year when the copra took a slight lead. Hemp represented over half of the total exports nearly every year even in 1911. Hemp exports were $16,000,000, while the total exports were over $32,000,000. In the year 1911 hemp constituted 40 per cent of the total value of the exports, but it now forms only 32 per cent, while copra which, in 1911, represented less than 25 per cent of the total export value, represented in 1912 a fraction above that of hemp. Hemp exports were $16,288,510. The copra exports were $16,514,749. Sugar was a poor third with $10,400,000 to its credit, while cigars, cigarettes and other tobacco struggled far in the rear to the sum of $4,500,000.

• • •

The principal imports of the Philippine islands are cotton goods, rice, manufactures of iron and steel, meat and dairy products, fur, coal, live cattle, leather and manufactures of chemicals, drugs and dyes (except opium), vegetable fiber and manufactures thereof. Opium did a thriving business in the islands until smothered by the United States as a result of an earnest campaign which began within the islands in 1903. It is a poor commentary on the economic condition of the archipelago that rice, which is to the Filipino what bread is to the American, should be imported in such great quantities year after year.

Manila, the capital, is the principal port of the Philippines. The bulk of the exports and imports go through its gates. Cebu and Iloilo are now next to Manila as seaports, but with much smaller trade figures and customs collections. They are growing places, however, both as cities and as cities and as ports being situated in the center of very fertile and agricultural districts.

CITIZENS PROMISE AID TO CORN CLUB MOVEMENT

Aroused by Statistics, Citizens Indorse Movement in Letters to Cooper

Letters from leading citizens of Atlanta and prominent people all over Georgia are pouring in on the chamber of commerce, indorsing the boys' corn club movement and promising support for the 1913 show. The whole state has been stirred by the statistics put forward by H. G. Hastings to show that Georgia's cotton crop does not bring in enough money to pay for the food imported into Georgia each year, and there is universal agreement that the corn club work is the way to take hold of the big problem.

Joel Hurt, in the course of a letter to Secretary Walter G. Cooper, says: "During the last convention two of these boys were entertained at my home. We were interested in talking with them. I believe the movement to organize and foster boys' corn clubs has been of untold benefit to the state, and even to other states. By all means keep it alive, at least until the attention of every farmer in Georgia has been directed to the economic possibilities of growing his own food stuff."

H. C. Foster, division manager of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, said: "It will be my pleasure to serve on your committee. I will do all I can to try to interest the others and to raise the necessary $2,000 and more, if possible."

R. F. Shedden says in the course of his letter: "I am considerable of a corn club man myself, and I am sure our league (the Raymond Civic and Progressive league) will be very glad to do what it can do to co-operate with the chamber of commerce." The Raymond league is in Coweta county.

The Swift Fertilizer works says: "We are thoroughly in accord with you in encouraging these exhibits. We have contributed in the past to the Georgia corn show, and we have no doubt our people will be willing to contribute again. If we can assist you in any other way, please let us know."

W. H. White, Jr., of the White Provision company, has written promising to lend his active endeavor to the cause.

W. D. Manley, of the Bankers' Trust company, says: "Your letter does not permit of any argument. Push the corn club and corn show as vigorously as possible."

A. B. Simms, of the Fulton National bank, says: "We heartily concur with you in your endeavor to increase the production of corn in this state."

REPORTER AND ALDERMAN FIGHT AT CITY COUNCIL

James W. Meade, of the Constitution, Hits James R. Nutting on Nose

Alderman James R. Nutting, of the Sixth ward, and James W. Meade, city hall reporter of the Atlanta Constitution, had a fight in council chamber Thursday afternoon just before council convened, over a story which Meade wrote about the alderman's clash with Mayor Woodward a few days ago.

Neither party pursued the matter further. Alderman Nutting said, "the young man lost his temper and struck without cause." Meade said he struck because the alderman "intimated that he had lied." He said he was satisfied.

As the fight occurred before council convened, there was no interruption of the proceedings, and council took no official notice of it.

SIMMONS IS EXONERATED OF RECKLES DRIVING

M. M. Simmons, district superintendent of the Southern Bell Telephone company, was exonerated of a charge of reckless driving, when the case against him was dismissed by Recorder Sam R. Broyles, Thursday afternoon. He was arraigned as the result of an accident which happened on Ponce de Leon avenue last Monday evening, when an automobile he was driving ran down little Eugenia Green at the corner of Barnett street.

Witnesses testified that the accident was unavoidable. One of them was the mother of the child. The little girl is still in St. Joseph's infirmary with a broken leg, but is recovering rapidly.

NORMAL TEMPERATURE IS FRIDAY'S FORECAST

Local thunder showers throughout the state had a refreshing effect on the temperature Thursday. The highest mark registered by the official thermometer in Atlanta was 89, which was 2 degrees lower than Wednesday's maximum. The forecast for Friday is for the same kind of weather as Thursday, and about the same temperature.

Complaint that the lake in Grant Park is stagnant and that it is offensive to the sense of smell, is made by citizens who say they live in the neighborhood and are more familiar with the park's usual conditions that are casual visitors at picnics. The offensive smell has been noticed by picnickers, however, they say. They declare it is almost nauseating.

"I WAS KICKED INTO FAME"

MISS CHRISTINE NIELSEN.

"I was born in Chicago—though you would not suspect it from my feet—reared in San Francisco and kicked into fame by fate," says Christine Nielsen, prima donna. "My voice may be termed a bounding soprano, the kind that hits the ceiling and bounces back to the footboards; but I was sixteen before I suspected that I owned such a thing.

"Imagine my joy when I discovered that I had a voice. Eight months of study preceded my first effort to secure a position, and my first appearance was in the chorus. That was one Monday night; the following Sunday I was playing a prima donna role—and I've played it ever since," said Miss Nielsen.

Miss Nielsen made a few tones with her mouth closed, and the bridge of her nose vibrated like a reed. "It is all a matter of anatomy," she explained. "The higher the roof of the mouth the higher the voice. Look in my mouth."

"That accounts for my voice," said the singer when the inspection was complete, "that and my high cheek bones, high forehead and large nostrils. Notice, hereafter, and see if you ever find a noted singer who hasn't such equipment.

"The forehead, nose bone and cheek bones act as sounding boards, the nostrils admit a large supply of air in the respiratory organs and the arch of the species is extinct."

CONDITIONS AT FULTON COTTON MILLS PRAISED

Article in Mill News Describes Model Community at Local Factory

High praise is given the Fulton Bag and Cotton Mills, of Atlanta, in the Mill News, a Charlotte, N. C., paper. The article is written by a member of the News staff who investigated conditions at the local mills on a recent trip to Atlanta.

The trip was made by the News man for the purpose of finding out whether certain reports circulated about conditions at the mills were true or not. According to his article, he not only found them erroneous, but discovered conditions here which are much better than those in the average cotton mill throughout the country.

It is all busy, he says, but the personal interest taken in the employes and their whole life is exceptional.

He tells of the high wages that the employes get, the care taken in sanitary conditions, the annual yard-beautifying contest, the proposed civic center and Y. M. C. A., the union church and concrete cottages, and the Wesley house, a hotel conducted for the benefit of the mill employes.

CHAMBER COMMITTEE TO NAME BUREAU SECRETARY

Who Will Land This Big Job to Be Given Away Tuesday?

More than usual interest is centered in the meeting of the chamber of commerce committee on the industrial and statistical bureau Tuesday for the purpose of electing a permanent secretary and making definite plans for the bureau.

It is an open secret that the salary of the secretary will be in the neighborhood of $3,000 per annum, possibly more, and there is much speculation as to who will land the ruch plum.

President Wilmer L. Moore said Friday morning a man well versed in the work would be named for the place. The position calls for an executive of ability and thorough experience along industrial and statistical lines and just such a man will be chosen.

That the official has been practically decided upon is also a known fact, but his name will not be made public until after the meeting.

HARDEMAN AS SPEAKER WOULD BAR FREAK BILLS

Frivolous and freak legislation will have but little chance to engage the attention of this year's general assembly if Representative H. N. Hardeman, of Jefferson, can prevent.

Mr. Hardeman, who is one of the candidates for the speakership, announces that there are too many important matters to be considered by the legislature for it to give time to trivial measures; and he declares that he will make it his especial business to use his influence to "nip in the bud" all freak bills proposed.

"I think it is quite settled now that there will be no factionalism in this legislature," says Mr. Hardeman, "but we shall have to work to keep down freak bills and to keep the house concentrated on really vital legislation.

"The first question that we will have to handle, of course, will be the financial problem and the matter of tax revision made necessary by it. Appropriations will have to be kept strictly within the revenue."

CAPITOL OFFICIALS GET ASSEMBLY'S BEST ROOMS

Members of the state legislature, more especially house members, will be hard put during the 1913 session for committee rooms. State house officials recently have invaded the third floor of the capitol and seized the more spacious of the house committee rooms for offices. They assert they will not be dispossessed.

However, it is the expectation of the capitol custodian to turn over several rooms on the third floor now used by the roster commission for records. If this plan carries, the legislature will be provided with chambers in which to stage their heart-to-heart wrangling matches.

The recent "squatters" on the third floor are the prison commission, state game and fish commissioner, and the commissioner of commerce and labor.

MANY HONEYMOONERS INSPIRE THIS WEDDING

Passengers' Happiness Redoubled Pullman Bachelors' Eloquene to Victory

Where there's an effect, invariably there must be a cause.

When June brides become so numerous that they and their handsome grooms turn the head of an eligible Pullman car conductor, and make him go and win him a wife of his own, that is a situation. It's the situation here.

Clifford Kinnett, in charge of one of the Pullman sections running back and forth between Atlanta and New Orleans, found that he couldn't stand it any longer to witness the spooning and love-making of newlyweds under his care. That conclusion lent renewed eloquence to his pleas for the hand of Miss Lillian Ira Lucke, of 52 Lee street, West End, Atlanta. And Miss Lucke (being predisposed, perhaps, who knows?) was won at last. Then. Thursday afternoon, without issuing any wedding invitations and without telling a whole lot of folks about it beforehand, they were wed. Rev. G. M. Eakes, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, made them man and wife in the reception room of his own home, 24 East Georgia avenue, at 6 o'clock Thursday evening. Then they went around to the home of the bride and introduced the new son-in-law. And after a while the parental blessing, somewhat tearful but none the less complete, was given.

There will be hundreds of friends in Atlanta and all along the line between Atlanta and New Orleans, and in New Orleans itself, whose congratulations will await the happy young couple after this announcement is published. For Mr. Klnnett is one of the most highly regarded men in the southern Pullman service, and Mrs. Kinnett is an attractive and popular young lady entirely in her own right.

Roy B. Elliott, also of the Pullman service, a close friend of the groom, and whose run lies also between Atlanta and New Orleans, was best man at the wedding, and Miss Ruby McDonald, of Atlanta, was the bridesmaid.

Now, whether there will be a sequel to this story, with Roy Elliott playing a principal part in it, is a matter of interested conjecture among the friends of that handsome young bachelor. The prediction is that there will be—for has he not been subjected to the double pressure of transporting his own quota of June brides and of seeing his ofn comrade succumb?

ROYAL ARCANUM LODGES TO HAVE GRAND RALLY

The two local lodges of the Royal Arcanum and all the members of the city not affiliated with the local branches will hold a grand rally in Knights of Pythias hall next Monday night. A thousand, it is expected, will make merry on the occasion. The joint meeting was decided upon Thursday night at the meeting of the Yonah council. The body was visited by a committee from Atlanta council, which proposed the rally. The celebration will mark the thirty-sixth anniversary of the order in the United States.

CHIEF BEAVERS AGAIN PUZZLED BY PROBERS

Vice Investigation Is Resumed Briefly Friday by the Grand Jury

The investigation into Atlanta's alleged vice conditions was resumed briefly by the Fulton county grand jury Friday morning, when Police Chief James L. Beavers was summoned, more or less unexpectedly, and quized for about twenty minutes.

While the chief refused flatly to discuss what went on behind the jury's closed doors, it was learned that he was questioned on general vice conditions. The jury, in pursuing the probe, according to L. H. Beck, its foreman, is attempting solely to follow Judge Ellis' charge urging a careful scanning of the situation.

A report that the chief had been questioned about locker clubs, and whether or not young girls were being taken to some of them, Chief Beavers denied. He said locker clubs were not mentioned in this connection.

Apparently the quizzing of the chief was the sole extent of Friday's probe. No other witnesses to whom significance in this direction might be attached were summoned, but the jury held a secret session, which lasted thirty minutes before Chief Beavers was called.

According to L. H. Beck, the so-called vice probe is following Judge Ellis' specified charge that reports have been circulated to the effect that the wiping out of the segregated district had caused the spreading of the evil over the city.

For this reason it is believed that the result of the investigation will take the form of written presentments to superior court at the end of the jury's term. No indictments in the line of alleged police graft are looked for. If any true bills are returned they are expected to be against women operating disorderly houses as unrelated instances.

WORKMAN FALLS OFF NEW COLLEGE PARK SCHOOL

Homer Jones, one of the workmen on the new high school building in process of construction at College Park, tumbled twenty feet off the scaffolding in the rear of the structure Friday morning, suffering severe bruises, but no broken bones.

Jones was working on the second floor of the half-finished building. Half of the scaffolding on which he was standing gave way and he was hurled heavily to the ground.

Why the Trust Company Makes the best Administrator

HEIRS FINALLY GET JUDGMENT FOR PART OF ESTATE

A case recently settled in the ordinary's court of a South Georgia county and to which wide publicity was given in the Georgia press, tells of a heavy loss sustained through the conduct of the personal administrator. The heirs who, six years ago, received only $5,000 from an estate valued at $20,000, brought suit against the administrator for the amount claimed to be due, and were given a judgment by the ordinary for principal and interest amounting to $7,110.

From the foregoing facts which were related more in detail in the Atlanta newspapers, it seems the heirs of the estate received only about 60 per cent of its value in something more than six years, and 60 per cent of the amount realized is in a JUDGMENT AGAINST THE ADMINSTRATOR, which is yet to be converted into cash.

In the hands of the

all estates are wound up and distributed as speedily as possible with due regard to their best interests, and no single beneficiary has ever complained of the loss of one penny that was due.

Spring Time Is Blood Cleaning Time

Let S. S. S. Rid You of All Blood Disorders.

If you are down with rheumatism; if you sneeze, feel chilled, are choked with catarrh, have a cough, or your skin is pimpled and irritated with rash, eczema, or any other blood disorder, just remember that almost all the ills of life come from impure blood. And you can easily give your blood a good, thorough cleansing, a bath, by using S. S. S. There is no need for anyone to be despondent over the illness of blood impurities. No matter how badly they attack the system, or how unsightly becomes the skin, just remember there is one ingredient in S. S. S. that so stimulates the cellular tissues throughout the body that each part selects its own essential nutriment from the blood.

This means that all decay, all breaking down of the tissues, is checked and repair work begins. S. S. S. has such a specific influence on all local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and afford a proper relative assistance to each other. More attention is being given to constructive medicine than ever before and S. S. S. is the highest achievement in this line. For many years people relied upon mercury, iodide of potash, arsenic, "physics," cathartics and "dope" as remedies for blood sickness, but now the pure, vegetable S. S. S. is their safeguard.

You can get S. S. S. in any drug store, but insist upon having it. And you should take no chance by permitting anyone to recommend a substitute. And if your blood condition is such that you would like to consult a specialist freely and confidentially, address the Medical Dept., The Swift Specific Company, 137 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

RENEWED BULL SUPPORT CAUSED RISE IN COTTON

Market in New York Closed 11 to 17 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 20.—Cotton opened steady at an advance of 2 to 5 points on scattered covering or local bull support inspired by steady cables, apprehensions of high temperatures in the eastern belt and rumors that strong interests were prepared to support the market on comparatively moderate declines. There was no aggressive demand, however, and general business was quiet, with prices easing off 10 to a shade under the closing figures of last night during the early trading.

The market became firmer later in the forenoon on covering due to nervousness over the small local stocks and reports of bull sentiment in the central belt. Prices were about 12 to 15 points net higher at middle. Estimated receipts today 5,000 bales.

The market continued firm during the early afternoon with prices ranging 16 to 18 points net higher on covering and bull support. Business was not particularly active, but offerings were light and selling seemed to be restricted to a few bullish sorts of the old crop situation and the feeling that boll weevil reports added to uncertainties of an adequate coming yield.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, June 20.—Cotton futures opened steady and unchanged to 2 points lower on yesterday's close, although cables were not as bearish as due. After the call prices were 1 to 3 points down, but on this slight decline good support was offered and a quick advance of 11 to 13 points followed. There seemed to be no special reason for the rise and beats charged it up to manipulation. The weather map was called favorable, high temperatures and little rain being shown over the belt, and the forecast promised little change in conditions. At the end of the first half hour prices were 5 to 10 points over yesterday's final figures.

The rise continued until nearly the end of the morning, the trading months were 15 to 20 points up, July showing the most strength. Good crop accounts were wholly ignored, as were less favorable trade accounts from England and the small mill takings for the week. Bulls circulated much gossip about the boll weevil, which records from Louisiana and this section claimed were appearing in great abundance, but comparisons with the figures of numbers with prospects that damage from this source would be great in the future and that plant is fruiting heavily. Bulls took their profits on the rise and left behind them a firm market. Final months were 12 to 16 points over yesterday's close.

A Plague of Mosquitoes

(Spokane Spokesman-Review.)

Mosquitoes in myriad swarms swept over Spokane Sunday in unprecedented numbers, penetrating to nearly all parts of the city, a plague of bites and stings, driving in precipitate flight, strolling parties whose hose and veils were inadequate protection and leaving painful marks of their encounters. Men and women tried with handkerchiefs to fight off their sudden onslaught, which fell in its greatest force between 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, but many were overcome by numbers and retreated behind screened doors.

The theory was advanced that the suddenness of the appearance of full-grown, aggressive mosquitoes in such numbers was due to the strong wind from the southwest and John W. Duncan, park superintendent, who has lived here many years, agreed with this theory.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: The shake-out in the crop reporting division of the agricultural department at Washington started the tongues of the gossips going in the commercial district. The condition of the crop was the leading theme of discussion, although nobody saw any practical progress in solving the riddle of the market and price variations were limited.

The bearish sections of the belt because of the mildness of the winter, the boll-weevil are unfolding every day in the time of the year and high price people never tire of exploiting the fact. But cotton market bears gain a bearing only after a cyclonic blow-off and more in the cotton fields in the big crop year, since when, through government enforcement, the farmers have learned how to light the pest more effectively.

In the last analysis it lacks impelling inspiration in either direction. The entrenched position of the bulls on July long, and the fact that the trade holds the bulk of the new crop months, certain Sixteen guests were invited to meet Mrs. Broughton.

Neville-James

Mrs. W. G. Neville, of Clinton, S. C., announces the marriage of her daughter, Mattie May, to Mr. William H. James, the wedding having taken place Thursday, June 19, at the home of the bride, Dr. Frank Jones, of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. James are at home at the Majestic hotel.

Kette-Riviere

Miss Bessie E. Kette, daughter of Louis Kette, of 683 South Main street, and Hiram Riviere, of Atlanta, Ga., were married Monday morning at 10 o'clock by Father Sieber, of Emanuel's church, at his residence. The bride wore a handsome blue traveling suit, with which the golden tones of her hair were adorned, blended harmoniously. Her flowers were pink sweet peas.

Miss Loraine Welchert, of Hamilton, was the bridesmaid, and she wore a blue tailored suit and carried pink and white sweet peas. Paul Kette, the bride's brother, was the groom's best man.

A wedding dinner was served at the Phillips hotel, where the guests included Mr. and Mrs. Riviere, Miss Loraine Welchert, Paul Kette, Louis Kette, Blanche Kette and Ella Lutz.

The bride and groom left during the afternoon for Roanoke, Va., where they will make their home, the groom, who is a civil engineer, being connected with the C. W. Lane company of that place.

The bride has many friends in Dayton who will hear with pleasure of the marriage, at the same time regretting her departure to another city.—Dayton Daily News.

Tribble-Dick Wedding

The marriage last evening of Miss Ruth Tribble and Mr. Sam Dick was of especial interest on account of the prominence and popularity of both the families. Hundreds of friends from all over the state witnessed the beautiful ceremony. The whole affair was characterized by an elegant simplicity and by that distinctive individual taste for which the bride and her mother are noted. The wedding was solemnized at the First Presbyterian church, and was performed by Rev. E. S. Hill, assisted by Dr. J. W. Lynch, of the First Baptist church.

In distinct contrast to the usual profusion of lights and flowers were the simple and artistic decorations. Handsome palms were arranged effectively behind the altar, forming a background for the masses of delicate green ferns in front. The only flowers were two tall silver vases of stately lilies on either side of the white altar. Just at twilight the bridal party entered the church. The bridesmaids entered alone and were met at the altar by the bridegroom. They were followed by Mrs. Tribble as matron of honor, and Miss Callie Hoke Smith as maid of honor.

The maids were gowned in exquisite creations of pink, and wore picture hats trimmed in pink. They carried huge Marie Antoinette baskets filled with pink roses.

The bride entered with her father. Miss Tribble is of a dainty, piquant type of beauty, and made a particularly striking bride. Her gown was an imported one of lace, with a short train of cloth of silver. Her veil was of real lace, and was fastened on Dutch cap fashion. Her jewels were diamonds, and she carried white orchids and valley lilies. The ceremony was followed by a beautiful reception.

Reception on Lawn.

The lawn was enclosed with a thick hedge of pine and spruce trees, and brilliantly lighted. The guests were served at tables placed at intervals on the lawn. Inside, the house was prettily decorated with sweet peas and pink hydrangas. The bride's table was in pink, a tall silver vase of pink roses forming the centerpiece.

Seated around the table were the bride and groom, Miss Smith, Mr. Jackson Dick, Miss Ruth Barron, Mr. Milton Dargan, Miss Jane Thrall, Mr. Wimberly Peters, Miss Martha Phinizy, Mr. James Harris, Mr. William Maury. At each bridesmaid's plate was a silver picture frame with the bride's picture in it—her gift to her maids.

Beautiful Toilettes.

Among the beautiful gowns seen was the handsome gray brocade worn by the groom's mother, Mrs. Dick, of Atlanta. Her flowers were gardenias and valley lilies. Other attractively gowned women were: Mrs. James Palmer, of Atlanta, in white charmeuse, with bodice of lace; Miss Helen Dargan, in night blue chiffon; Miss Sarah Rawson, in silver spangled net over blue, with a sash of American Beauty satin; Mrs. Hughes Spalding, in cream lace; Mrs. Charles Phinizy, of Augusta, in white satin and blue lace; Mrs. Harrison, of Washington, in white chiffon and lace; Mrs. William Bradshaw, of Kentucky, in violet messaline. Mrs. Billups Phinizy, in blue brocaded satin, combined with lace and swansdown. Mrs. Robert W. Sampkin, in yellow charmeuse, fashioned with black tulle and cloth of gold; Miss Nellie Phinizy, in embroidered chiffon; Mrs. C. B. Griffith, in black lace; Mrs. W. A. Carlton, in white chiffon; Mrs. E. S. Bussey, in black lace over white charmeuse, with crystal trimings; Miss Mildred Rutherford, in grey satin with cut steel trimmings.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick left at midnight for an extended tour, after which they will be at home to their friends in Atlanta, where Mrs. Dick will be an attractive addition to the young married set.

Final Recital

Those taking part in the program were Miss Marion Dunson, Miss Evelyn Dunson, Miss Kate Richardson, Miss Isabel Baldwin, Miss Margaret Baldwin, Miss Mary Louise Heinking, Miss Margaret Stovall, Miss Caroline Benjamin, Miss Clare Benjamin, Miss Irene Schlesinger, Miss Helen McCarty, Miss Annie Johnson, Miss Margaret McCarty, Miss Elisabeth Blalock, Miss Pauline Ware, Miss Martha Tomlinson, Miss Kathrine Blake, Miss Lillian Mitchell, Miss Mabel Wilde, Miss Kathleen Clement, Miss Mary Wills, Miss Clara Belle King, Miss Irene King, Miss Jeannette Victor, Miss Elisabeth Millard, Miss Jennie Hall, Miss Effie White and Mr. William McCarty. Mr. James Howard Cole and Mr. Lowry Nicolson. Diplomas were awarded two young ladies, Miss Kate Lumpkin Richardson and Miss Jeannette Victor.

Tennis Tea

An event of Friday afternoon was the tennis tea given by Miss Marie Cobb at the East Lake Country club in compliment to Miss Cothran and Miss Graves, of Rome, who are the guests of Miss Louise Couper.

Miss Cobb's guests included beside the honor guests, Miss Louise Dobbs, Miss Couper, Miss Dodo White and Miss Lyndall Haddon.

Marriage of Mr. Alexander And Miss Moses

A marriage of interest to friends throughout Alabama and Georgia was that of Mr. Cecil A. Alexander, of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Julia Moses, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Judah Tourg Moses on South Lawrence street. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with June flowers, which seemed to have bossomed their prettiest for the occasion. In the parlor bridal tones of white and green were carried out, and an altar was improvised of palms and ferns. Suspended just above was a basket filled with white roses and the mantel was banked with white oleanders and white peonies.

The second parlor was in pink and green, with a wealth of pink peonies, pink gladiolas and ferns. The bride's table was spread with a Madeira luncheon cloth, and the centerpiece was a basket of white roses and ferns. The hall was decorated with palms, ferns and pink peonies.

Before the ceremony a musical program was rendered by Miss Dora Sternfeld on the piano and Miss Nellie Wolff on the violin. They played Beethoven's Minuet, and several other numbers. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Adeline Moses, who was her maid of honor. She was pretty in a gown of white charmeuse, fashioned entrain and trimmed with Chantilly lace, and she carried a bouquet of "My Maryland" roses. The bride entered with her father, Mr. Judah T. Moses, by whom she was given in marriage. She was very handsome in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine, exquisitely draped and trimmed with Brussels lace and small chiffon roses. Her veil was fastened to her hair with sprays of lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Alexander was attended by his brother, Mr. H. A. Alexander, as best man.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. R. C. Ehrenreich. Afterwards an informal reception was held and ices and cakes were served. The prettily appointed punch table was presided over by Miss Emily Meyer and Miss Della Mohr. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Alexander left for a trip to Colorado and other western cities. The bride wore a stylish coat suit of blue with hat to match.

After July 1 they will return to Atlanta to make their home. The bride is a young woman of rare culture and brilliant mentality, and for the past several years has been principal of the Bellinger Heights school, a position which she filled most ably. She has a large circle of friends, who wish for her every happiness, but who regret that her marriage will take her to another city to make her home. Mr. Alexander is a prominent and successful young business man of Atlanta and has a host of friends, who extend to the bride a most cordial welcome.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A Little Prologue in Which We Announce the Opening of a New Department in this Store

The Down-Stairs Section

ON Monday morning the rising sun will welcome you to the opening of the latest and perhaps the most interesting Department in this big New Store--The Down-Stairs Section. And all the sunshine won't come from outside the walls. A new section vibrant with life.

A Down-Stairs Section that is perfect in its construction for safety, for healthfulness and for convenience.

Exceptionally well lighted, a high white ceiling; airy, pleasant, cool---in fact it is so well lighted and ventilated that all discomforts are entirely obviated.

You know all about the serenity and satisfaction that comes from doing a good day's work. Much of that feeling comes to us when we view the store which will be ready for your inspection on Monday.

We believe we are justified in being enthusiastic, and we also believe the public will be sufficiently so to make an editorial style of publicity interesting at this time.

An announcement which is intended to prepare and acquaint you with a new feature in this store. An expansion for the outlet of merchandise through a system of unique economies, the full benefit of which we now invite you to share.

A store where we can more broadly operate and develop our methods of SPECIALIZED buying and selling on a basis of constant and uniform economy, which will result in mutual benefit.

How to Reach the Down-Stairs Section

There Are Three Ways:

First: Five large, new elevators carry you directly there from any floor in the building.

Second: The broad stairway, with two very short flights of steps, leads you quickly there from the first floor, Whitehall street entrance, grand aisle.

Third: A spacious entrance on the Broad street side of the store brings you immediately into the Down-stairs section.

What You Will Find There

In so far as it is possible every upstairs department will be represented, with new merchandise, bought especially for this Down-Stairs Section.

Nickel Goods.

Trays.

Kitchen utensils.

Cutlery.

Household necessities.

Wash Goods, Domestics, Linens.

Women's Apparel — Dresses, Waists, Suits, Skirts, Kimonos.

Muslin Underwear, Corsets, Aprons, Knit Underwear.

Notions, Umbrellas.

Children's Apparel.

Important Facts to Remember

A new corps of men and women all intent upon one purpose, the right welcoming of all Atlanta on the opening day.

Your visit to the store Monday will not be complete unless it includes a thorough survey of The Down-Stairs Section, every advantage of which is intended for you to share.

Five roomy elevators will convey you quickly and safely there.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BED TIME

By Thornton W. Burgess

No matter how you feel inside,
Hold up your head! Call up your pride!
Stand fast! Look brave! then none will guess
The fear you feel but won't confess.

Jimmy Skunk learned this when he was a very little fellow. Now he isn't afraid of much of anything, but there was a time when he was. Oh, my, yes! There was a time when he first started out to see the world, and before he had found out that all the world is afraid of that little bag of scent he always carries with him, when Jimmy often was as frightened as Peter Rabbit ever is, and you know Peter is very easily frightened. But Jimmy used to think of that little verse, and though sometimes he had to shut his mouth as tightly as he knew how to keep his teeth from chattering with fear he would hold up his head, stand fast, and look brave. What do you think happened? Why, in a little while people began to say that Jimmy Skunk wasn't afraid of anything, and so no one tried to bother him. Of course when he found this out Jimmy wasn't afraid.

But Reddy Fox is different. He dearly loves to tell how brave he is. He brags and boasts. But when he finds himself in a place where he is afraid he shows it. Yes, sir; he shows it. Reddy Fox has never learned to stand fast and look brave. When Reddy had first been told that the stranger with the Voice which had sounded so terrible in the night was Old Man Coyote from the Great West, and that he had decided to make his home on the Green Meadows, Reddy had said, "Pooh! I'm not afraid of him!" and had swelled himself up and strutted back and forth as if he really meant it. But all the time Reddy took care, the very greatest care to keep out of the way of Old Man Coyote.

Of course some one told Digger the Badger what Reddy had said, and Digger told Old Man Coyote, who just grinned and said nothing. But he noticed how careful Reddy was to keep out of his way, and he made up his mind that he would like to meet Reddy and find out just how brave he really was. So one moonlight night he hid behind a big log near one of Reddy's favorite hunting places. Pretty soon Reddy came tiptoeing along, watching for foolish young mice. Just a little while before he had heard the voice of Old Man Coyote way over on the edge of the Old Pasture, so he never once thought of meeting him here. Just as he passed the end of the old log a deep voice in the black shadow said:

"Good evening, Brother Fox!"

Reddy whirled about and his heart seemed to come right up in his throat. It was too late to run for there was Old Man Coyote right in front of him. Reddy tried to swell himself up just as he sometimes did before Jimmy Skunk people who were afraid of him, but somehow he couldn't. "Go-good evening, Mr. Coyote," he replied, but his voice sounded very weak. "I hear you've come to make your home on the Green Meadows. I-I hope we will be the best of friends."

"Of course we will," replied Old Man Coyote. "I'm always the best of friends with those who are not afraid of me, and I hear that you are not afraid of anybody."

"N-no, I-I'm not afraid of anybody," said Reddy. "Everybody is afraid of me." All the time he was speaking he was slowly backing away, and in spite of his bold words he was shaking with fear. Old Man Coyote saw it and he chuckled to himself.

"I'm not your Brother Fox!" he snapped suddenly, in a deep, horrid-sounding voice. "Gr-r-r-r-r, I'm not!" As he said it all the hair along his back stood on end and he showed all his great cruel looking teeth.

Instead of holding his ground as Jimmy Skunk would have done, Reddy leaped backward, tripped over his own tail, fell, and then scrambled to his feet with a frightened yelp, and ran as he had never run before in all his life. And as he ran he heard Old Man Coyote laughing, and all the Green Meadows and the Green Forest heard it.

The Evening Story

A BLUE SILK DRESS

(Copyright, 1913, by W. Werper.)

Aileen laid the dress, a dainty blue silk affair, on the small table beside the sewing machine. Her pretty cheeks were red with resentment, and her eyes, usually a pleasant dark blue, snapped black. Mrs. Gage scornfully smiled and drew on her long kid gloves with affected nonchalance.

"I was told that you were a competent dressmaker, or I wouldn't have risked my goods. As it is—" She flung her white hands out in despair.

"I made the dress exactly as you ordered," stormed Aileen. "Only she found after it was made that the pale blue made her look washed out. But, as I said before, it's our word against hers. She's mean enough to go to court, and we can't afford to get a lawyer. Maybe we can sell the dress to some one for enough to pay for the silk."

"I WARNED YOU AT THE TIME THAT IT WOULD NOT BE BECOMING TO YOUR STYLE."

"And waste our time—over a week!" she cried, indignantly.

"We can't help ourselves," Aileen replied, wearily. She had worked every night for a week to get the dress finished in order to get the money for some bills, and she had hoped to have a few dollars left to get herself a new dress. The big social event of every year in the small town would come off the next month—the dance given every October by the militia company. Nell already had a dress, a pale pink organdie that looked as though it cost a great deal, but in reality had cost almost nothing, thanks to Aileen's and Nell's skill.

Both girls had been jubilant when the pretty, rich, young widow patronizingly entered the front room of the small cottage where they had worked and took care of an invalid mother. Her patronage would be worth a good many dollars. And this was the outcome.

A few days later old Mrs. Peel, who had owed them a big bill for three years, came in and paid it, to their voice broke and spoiled the effect.

However, Mrs. Gage did not seem to hear. She swept out, halting at the door to say: "I shall expect you to reimburse me for the material you have ruined. Good evening."

Nell, Aileen's sister and partner in the dressmaking shop, rushed in from the kitchen. "I heard her," she wailed. "Aileen, what'll we do? We can't afford to pay her for that expensive silk. And that dress fitted her."

"I did," Aileen retorted, "although I warned you at the time that it would not be becoming to—your style." The pause before the last two words was intended to be crushing, but Aileen's great surprise. Both had given it up. "I know how you feel," replied Mrs. Peel's shamefaced. "But seems as though I had so many things to pay any way. Mr. Peel came into some money, and I want some more sewing, and you won't have to wait for pay for it."

This was in the morning. Nell was delighted and was already planning Aileen's dress for the dance. In the afternoon Mrs. Gage, very determined, drove up to the small porch, and got out of her phaeton, leaving a tall, good-looking young man to hold her horses. Nell and Aileen knew him. He was Victor Hoyle, the new manager of the wholesale grocery house, the most pretentious business establishment in the small town.

"I quite expected to receive that money from you long before this," Mrs. Gage stated.

Nell would have squabbled, but Aileen immediately got what Mrs. Peel had given them. It happened to be the exact amount that Mrs. Gage demanded. "A receipt, please," said Aileen. Reluctantly Mrs. Gage wrote it.

"Such language!" Aileen cried.

"I don't care," sobbed Nell. "It's a shame. Cheating Peel her, and she couldn't have forced us to pay a cent! I wish that piece of haberdasher's art in her phaeton had come in. I'd have let him into a choice bit of knowledge concerning his lady love's disposition."

"Sometimes, Aileen, I think you're an idiot," Nell declared.

"Be careful," Aileen warned, with a glance toward the bedroom where her mother lay. "I don't want mother worried over it. And I wouldn't have her tell around that we spoiled her silk and wouldn't pay for it, especially to—" She closed her lips firmly and a bit of color appeared in each cheek.

"She'll tell it, anyway," said Nell, with conviction. "You see. As for that upstart, Victor Hoyle, I don't think much of a man that will tag around after her—or, rather be dragged around. For I really think the reason he's in her phaeton so much is because she swoops down on him when she sees hi min the street and he can't get away." Her breathless speech was an angry mixture of temper, grief for the vanished money and a genuine desire to assuage the ache that she knew festeredin Aileen's heart. For when Victor Hoyle first came to town he had spent several evenings on the vine shadowed porch, and Aileen, who had been never more than carelessly friendly to the boys of the town, had hurried her work in order to be dressed every evening when he came. Then he stopped coming. Neither Aileen nor Nell had talked of him since.

"I don't care about going to the dance," Aileen now said, curtly. She was really telling the truth and Nell, guessing why, had nothing to say in comfort. But inwardly she vowed revenge on Mrs. Gage.

The days went by quickly. Mrs. Lane had a bad spell and Aileen had to give her all her time, leaving the sewing entirely to Nell, who was the swifter worker. The doctor was a kindly old man, but both the girls were ashamed to think how small he made his bill. And Nell murmured anathemas into the whir of the machine. That money given to Mrs. Gage would have helped in so many spots.

At last Mrs. Lane was well enough to be wheeled from the bed room out to the sewing room. Her faded old eyes suddenly lighted while Nell was showing her Mrs. Peel's neat percale. "It that Aileen's dress for the dance?" she asked admiringly. "My! I always did like that shade of blue! I remember when Aileen was a baby, she wore bows of that color on her bonnet, and they just set off her curly brown hair."

Nell and Aileen, struck by the same thought, stared at each other.

"Why not?" Nell demanded, producing the blue silk that Mrs. Gage had scorned. "You're just her size. And it won't she rave when she sees you?

"OH!" SHE WAS NOT TALKING TO TOM AS SHE SUPPOSED.

Won't"— Nell stopped, but Aileen, looking with yearning eyes at the dainty dress, was framing the same question, and a little, spiteful gleam shot through the yearning.

Aileen was very human. "I'd like"— she began slowly.

"To have that snippy Victor Hoyle see you in a decent dress," Nell finished. "So would I. Try it on. But I know it won't need a stitch of alteration."

It didn't. Mrs. Peel, who came to stay with their mother for the night of the dance, went into raptures. Tom, the struggling young doctor who was going to marry Nell some time in the future when his practice grew, told her she was a vision. And when, with Nell and Tom, she entered the armory, there was a buzz of admiration.

Nell looked straight across the room and smiled straight into the angry eyes of Mrs. Gage. "I guess I've fixed that cat," she announced gayly. "She is probably sorry she— Oh!"

She was not talking to Tom, as she supposed. Tom had moved off with Aileen and Victor Hoyle was standing beside her. Nell was impulsive and had little command over her tongue. "Why doesn't he stay where he's supposed to?" she asked crossly. "Any one would think he was engaged to Aileen instead of me," smiling and pouting at the same time.

"To you?" Victor Hoyle demanded excitedly. "Why—I was told—I understood—that he and your sister—"

"I guess not," declared Nell. "He's mine—all mine. Why, was that the reason—"

"It was." And then, without delay, Mr. Hoyle hustled across to Aileen and Tom, told that young man that Nell wanted him immediately and took possession of Aileen. And Nell, watching joyfully, saw that Mrs. Gage was watching, also. But there was no joy in that lady's eyes.

What Anne Rittenhouse Says

The growing fashion of having private beaches added to the acceptance of expensive costumes and vivid colors opens the way for amazing bathing suits this summer.

The ownership of private swimming places is not quite as luxurious and plutocratic as it sounds. Long ago, before great cities were invented over here, it was quite an ordinary thing to than a stream or brook with stone and mortar and own a swimming pool in which the neighborhood or the family took its daily pleasure. Such a possession was not considered expensive, and at half the country houses that one visited twenty years ago there was always such a swimming pool. These were succeeded by more costly ones, in which the ground was covered by a cement floor and the dressing rooms, instead of being shanties along the banks, were well fitted up with the toilet necessaries.

This idea has become so prevalent in America that the majority of people who live out of the city consider a swimming pool as necessary as they do a tennis court. One must be arranged for in some fashion and at any price. When salt water and a beach is obtainable then no expense is required beyond picketing off that part of the beach which belongs to the nearest house in the club of bathers, or merely keeping it free from glass, china, or drift of any kind.

So it is that private beaches and swimming pools have become a most important feature of American summer life. Just as they have been inaugurated on the new liners and put up in the seashore hotels.

Brilliant Bath Costumes.

The condition has given an impetus to the brilliancy of women's bathing costumes. There is no question now that women have adopted the bathing costume of a man, consisting of the jersey and tight knickerbockers half way to knees whenever they bathe in private swimming pools, if there are gymnastics to go through with.

Women who are really good swimmers do not care to be hampered by skirts, no matter how narrow they are; they feel as helpless in them as a man would if he had to wear such impedimenta. However, we are all quite well aware that the other kind of brilliant costumes, made of red and blue satin, with fanciful caps and coquettish fichus are by no means kept for private beaches and pools. One glance at any of the popular coast resorts will show how the fancy for color and eccentricity has got possession of the people.

Blue serge, which was once a standby, is now entirely out of the question. It is heavy and drags one down in the water. Satin, which has been made waterproof, and also taffeta, are among the two materials most desired. Linen is worn and Japanese crepe, Chinese Shantung and a wide striped ticking, the kind that once served for coat suits. Here and there one hears talk of crepe suits, but they are not advisable. And even the old time brilliancy of red, yellow and blue silk or satin, plain black, with its white accessories, has never been ousted. Made in satin, with a deep bloomer and sash belt, it remains one of the best looking suits that any woman can swim or walk in.

There is no doubt that the fashions of the time allow much laxity in the materials chosen for the beach and the way in which they are draped and plaited and caped. The bathing suit of a half dozen years ago would look thoroughly old-fashioned today, and it is better for a woman to accept this condition and take the trouble to arrange for a good looking suit if she intends to go near the water.

Our Bathing Suits Are Cut.

The tendency in the new swimming clothes is to leave the waist as free from pressure as it is left in street and evening clothes. To do this there has come about an extra long waisted effect, which gives a woman the silhouette of a fifth girl. There is often a belt of some material, oftenest kid, because the life guards on the beaches have requested this addition to the costume as a means of saving a woman who is in trouble. By grasping a strong belt they have a means of getting her out of the water.

The French costume has been modified for our beaches, and one never sees a number of women wearing short full bloomers with a short Russian blouse over them, held in at the hip line by a belt. The bloomers are quite as modest as a skirt and far safer if one is going into deep water or through a heavy surf.

The perforated sleeves is merely a shield of the material placed under the arm with eyelets at its edge, through which ribbon is laced across the arm and finished in a flat bow. The open neck is an essential for comfort and safety. It is cut to a deep V and finished with a sailor collar, which must be securely sewn to the blouse, as it is most uncomfortable when flopping around the face when one is swimming. Home of Former Miss Baxter

A. Volney Foster, an interesting young north side widower, has recently married and now he has just done another clever thing—bought the pretty house for his bride at 66 Cedar street, that was formerly occupied by the George Barr McCutcheons.

These uptown streets near the drive full of pretty little houses are rapidly being bought up by young married couples who are the possibilities of the future.

Mrs. Volney Foster was Miss Margaret Baxter, of Tennessee, the sister of the famous beauty, Mrs. Tevis, of Paris, who keeps Paris society stirred up with her romantic love affairs, unusual beauty and dashing toilettes.

The Foster bride is a slender blond, slightly resembling Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy and very attractive. She is reputed to be as clever as she looks and to have spent her leisure moments as a demoiselle in writing poechina or drift of any kind.

Mr. Foster is a polo player and a golfer—an unusual combination, and he, like all the rest of the fashionable polo playing north side, will be in the International polo games at the Meadowbrook Hunt club.—Chicago Examiner.

To Miss Payne

Miss Mildred Payne, of Elberton, Ga., was the honor guest at a spend the day party given by Miss Mary Barnett at her home on West Peachtree street. Miss Barnett was assisted in entertaining by her mother.

Those invited were Miss Elise Hendon, Miss Evelyn Brazelle, Miss Margaret McCollister, Miss Bessie Hallis Jackson, Miss Floy Bell O'Rear, Miss Julia Bryan.

Summer Comfort for the Stay-at-Homes

The warm days bring disappointments to many of us who cannot join the general summer exodus from town, but who, for one reason or another, must stay in our houses or apartments during the warm months.

We can't all go to the mountains or seashore, but, by a careful and judicious expenditure, every woman can make a summer atmosphere in her own home if she chooses.

Rugs, heavy curtains and draperies can be put carefully away, and in their place can be substituted a whole new set of things at a surprisingly low cost. There is an infinite number of fibre rugs in the market to fit any size space; there are dainty, fresh, cotton curtain materials in charming designs; and as for cretonnes for furniture coverings, their beauty and variety are bewildering.

THE MISSES BARILI IN INTERESTING RECITALS

WHAT ANNE RITTENHOUSE SAYS OF THE STEAMER COSTUME

Too many women go to Europe nowadays for a summer vacation to make any discussion of what to wear on the steamer come under the classification of "talks to the rich."

You know there are high-brow fashions as well as high-brow literature, and it is difficult to know exactly what every one would like to read, because if all the fashion writers and artists gave only middle class fashions, those who want smart clothes protest; and if only extra fashionable clothes are discussed the conservative women say they are not attended to.

There were days when the idea of going to Europe was not even entertained by any but women of leisure and full purses, but we live in a day of incessant transportation, and even the woman who has to work hard in the winter looks forward to a European vacation on one of the inexpensive liners as a good way to spend her savings.

Even the experienced traveler is not altogether sure of what she wants for the steamer. Fashions change and experiments decide one to do differently the next time. There are few women who still cling to the idea of wearing out shabby old clothes on the decks of the liner, for modern transportation is too smoothly adjusted to breed indifference to one's appearance.

One would no more think of looking one's worst on the ocean today than on a hotel piazza. Ship life has been made very interesting, and what with the dining and dancing and game playing and tea-ing in palm gardens or sun parlors, there are reasons to be well turned out.

THE KIND OF GOWN TO WEAR.

Even if one does not have a modern steamer trunk with its extra length and its sides of enamelled canvas that holds all the clothes one needs for a two months' trip abroad, the modern liner gives its passengers access to the baggage room every day, and one can easily get clothes needed for an occasion.

The main thing is to have a hat that is comfortable, a coat that is warm and a suit that is cool. Right at this point is where the inexperienced one often makes a mistake. She imagines that the moment the ship leaves the harbor she will encounter cold weather, whereas she is apt to go for five days across the ocean in midsummer without needing a wrap.

A cool suit of thin serge or Shantung or linen is agreeable in weight, but it necessitates adjusting three garments whereas the one-piece frock fastened down the front with belt and collar attached is the most desirable costume for any trip. Linen is chosen by many well dressed women, but it easily wrinkles and one does not want material that does not keep smooth. Any of the thicker silks will serve, so will a wool back satin, while heavy Chinese Shantung not only makes an agreeable one-piece frock, but with the addition of a short belted coat it will serve for weeks of travelling.

The trouble about serge is that one cannot always count on the weather being cool enough to make it comfortable, but next to black satin it is the most sensible of all suits for July and August, as far as wear and smoothness and appearance are concerned.

If one has any fears of squeamishness on ship board in the morning, one should be sure to have a gown that is loose at the waist line and low in the neck. Tight belts and tight collars are serious drawbacks. It is for this reason that the one-piece frock is more comfortable than the suit which calls for the adjustment of a shirtwaist.

The Comfortable Ship Hat.

The first rule about a hat on ship board is that it must not have a brim in the back unless it is of soft felt or panama straw. It should not have wings or plumage of any kind. Barring these two conditions, a woman may wear anything she chooses, provided it is not ornate.

There never was a time when shore fashions fitted in so well with seagoing fashions as now, for the small modern turban, with its lack of anything that offers to the breeze and its comfortable fit down over the head is the admirable hat for a liner.

In it one can lean back comfortably in a deck chair or promenade the decks without discomfort. It should cover the hair, but one should take the precaution of wearing a veil of thin plain net or an invisible hair net, not only to keep the hair neat, but to make one comfortable in the wind.

Marshallville Social News

MARSHALLVILLE.—Miss Eunice Jolly attended the Georgia Normal and Industrial commencement at Milledgeville, a school she graduated last year.

An interesting evening a very charming lawn party and barbecue were enjoyed in the Civic park, by the young people. The pleasure was given by the young men to the visiting guests, Miss Clara Dennard, of Elko, Miss Clara Dennard of Pineview, and Misses Mattie Smith and Clara Spivey of Talbotton.

Mrs. P. R. Frederick's church circle held a lawn party at Miss Mary Niles on Friday afternoon. Dainty tea and sandwiches were sold, and a nice sum was made for the Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Neil, of Atlanta, are on a visit here.

Mrs. Donie Bryant Williams, a former resident of Marshallville, now of Daytona, Fla., was a recent visitor, with her husband, son and two daughters, students at Brenau. Twenty-four years had elapsed since she moved to Florida. Mrs. Williams noted with pride the civic improvements, in new brick stores, handsome banks, new Methodist and Baptist churches, new hotel, crate factories, canning factories, lumber and brick yards, steam gineries and a handsome school building that had changed the quiet village of her girlhood to a thriving town.

Rev. J. C. Massee, of Dayton, Ohio, visited relatives here recently, Mrs. T. W. Brown and T. W., Jr., are with Mrs. Miles Patrick, Mrs. Cope Winslow and Mis Kate Winslow, of Fort Valley, with Mrs. Simpter Goodwin; Miss Clara Dennard, of Pineview, with Miss Eunice Jolly; Mrs. W. H. Felton and Mrs. M. J. Hatcher, of Macon, at their summer home.

The Misses Barili In Interesting Recital

A delightful entertainment, to which the public is invited, will be given Friday evening by Misses Louise and Viola Barili at Central Congregational church, Carnegie way and Ellis street.

The recitals of the Misses Barili are always enjoyable, and an especially attractive program has been arranged for this occasion.

Their talent in music and elocution has been recognized not only in Atlanta and throughout the south, but has also received favorable comment in the east.

The recital is given under the auspices of the Averill Bible class of Central Congregational church for the benefit of the benevolent work carried on by the young ladies of that organization.

The program will include:

"The Moo Cow Moo," Cooke; "Thomas, the Pretender," "At Aunty's House," Riley—Viola Barili.

"Margarite's Bear Story," "The Bumble Bee," "The Doodle Bug's Charm," Riley—Viola Barili.

(a) "Madrigal," (b) "Colette," Chaminade—Louise Barili.

(a) "The Uninhabited Island," (b) "The First Friend," (c) "There was Never a Queen Like Balkis"—Kipling—German.

Flag Day Luncheon

A pleasant event of recent date was the luncheon given in Gainesville to the Piedmont chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, by two of its officers, Mrs. D. B. Blucard and Mrs. S. M. Dean, at the home of Mrs. Dean on June 14. It was in celebration of Flag day, and the columns and railings of the long veranda were appropriately decorated with flags and bunting.

An interesting program was rendered. A number of visiting Daughters of the American Revolution were present from the Newnan chapter, among them being Mrs. R. H. Harncurey, regent; Miss Lutie Powell, Mrs. Ruth Powell and Miss Henriett Strickland. From the Fairburn chapter, Mrs. W. T. Roberts, regent; Mrs. Emma Swan Floyd and Mrs. Swanson; Atlanta chapter, Mrs. E. Rivers, Mrs. W. A. Hemphill, Mrs. R. L. Walker, Mrs. E. S. Morris, Mrs. T. J. Ripley, Mrs. W. E. Austin and Mrs. E. B. Stewart.

Mrs. Martin, of the Piedmont chapter, read an extract from the letter of John Paul Jones. Mrs. Brooks, regent, gave a paper on "What the Daughters of the American Revolution Stand For in Georgia."

Mrs. Edward Alfriend urged the necessity of securing the "Varner House," her former home, of McIntosh, an Indian Spring, as the property of the Georgia Daughters of the American Revolution, as it should be the Mount Vernon of the south.

Miss Lamar Lowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Lowe, gave a hearty salute to the flag in a most charming way.

Organ Recital

Miss Eva Davis, member of the organ class of Miss Eda E. Bartholomew, will give her organ certificate recital this evening at 8:30 o'clock, Harris Street Presbyterian church.

Mr. Lucius Hinman, violinist, will assist. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Linen Shower

Mrs. John L. Grice and Miss Leila Powell entertained Tuesday afternoon at a linen shower in honor of Miss Mary Mashburn, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Rhea Flynn will take place June 24. Progressive games were played and the first prize, silk stockings, were won by Miss Grice; the consolation, a boudoir cap, by Miss Sewell. After the game the bride was presented a basket filled with linen.

Those present were: Miss Louise Armstead, Miss Genevieve Sewell, Miss Carrie Jennings, Miss Annie Peake, Miss Lillian Bellingrath, Miss Marguerite Olson, Miss Louise Postell, Miss Ethel Milliken, Miss Jennie Armstead, Miss Mamie Williams, Miss Kate Bellingrath, Miss Baker, Miss Julia Bone, Miss Louise Hignam, Miss Florence Miles, Miss Lillie Kennon, Mrs. Tracy Newton, Mrs. Summers, Mrs. Joe Morton, Mrs. Jack Salmon, Mrs. Will Mashburn, Mrs. W. M. Powell.

Mrs. Evans' Luncheon

An event of Friday was the luncheon at which Mrs. Robert K. Evans was hostess at her home on Peachtree street.

The occasion was informal and very pleasant, covers being laid for six guests.

Atlanta Club to Open Roof Garden

An interesting event of Tuesday evening will be the carnival ball, given at the Atlanta club, to mark the formal opening of its attractive roof garden.

The ballroom will present a brilliant appearance with quantities of pink roses and smilax festooning the walls and chandeliers. Hanging baskets filled with pink blossoms will be suspended from the ceiling, making an artistic background for the dancers.

The roof will be transformed into a veritable summer garden, with hundreds of pink roses blossoming over an improvised arbor and almost concealing the myriads of multi-colored electric lights.

Fouche-Forbes

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Fouche announce the marriage of their daughter, Nelle, to Mr. Jamie Vernon Forbes, of Montgomery, Ala.

The marriage took place Thursday evening, June 19, at the home of Dr. DuBose, pastor of the First M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Forbes will go to Montgomery to visit Mr. Forbes' parents, and from there they will go to Dallas, Tex., to make their home.

BROWNE-KOOD

Browne-Wood

The wedding of Miss Mabel Claire Brown and Mr. Claud Galloway Wood took place Thursday evening at 9 o'clock, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Dolph Walker, in Inman Park.

Dr. A. M. Hughlett performed the ceremony.

After a visit to relatives in Brookhaven, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. Wood will be at home at 91 West Fifth street.

In Honor Miss Green

Mrs. Charlie Chapman was hostess on Tuesday morning at a heart-dice party and handkerchief shower in honor of Miss Lily Green, a bride-elect of next week.

To Miss Oliver

Miss Eloise Oliver will be the honor guest at a number of pretty parties preceding her marriage to Mr. Frampton Ellis on June 30.

One of the first will be the matinee tea with which Mrs. Joseph N. Moody will entertain Monday afternoon.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Lula Dean Jones will give a five o'clock tea at the Piedmont club in compliment to Miss Oliver, and other events have been planned.

English-Gauntt

Mr. James M. English, of Warrenton, announces the marriage of his granddaughter, Martha Montgomery, and Dr. Tom Goodwin Gauntt, of West Point, Thursday, June 19.

C. Y. Smith and Nat Thornton to Meet For the Tennis Honors

Thornton and Smith Clash On the Court

Match Between Ed Carter and Smith One of the Prettiest Ever Played—Finals to Be Played Friday

Nat Thornton and Carleton Smith will again be seen opposing each other on the local courts. This time they will battle for the Georgia state title. Thornton now holds the title, and Smith has won the right to challenge him by winning the tournament. The odds favor Smith in the coming match. His work against Ed Carter Thursday afternoon shows him to be in top form. Thornton was unable to handle his hard drives the last time they met in the southern tournament. Smith kept him in the back of the court and away from the net by the great control of his strokes. And unless Thornton can reach the net his game is not so effective. The match will be a good one and hard fought for all the way through, and it is expected to bring out the best tennis of the whole tournament. It is set for 4 o'clock Friday.

Ed Carter's work against Carleton Smith in their match in the final round was one of the features of the day's play. Smith started off in great style, running the set to 5-1 by his hard drives. At this point Carter took a brace and, by some of the prettiest playing seen during the tournament, won four straight games and duced the set. From then on it was a battle of serves, each man winning his own. Smith at last broke through for two straights and took the set. The next set was Smith's without much trouble. The third set was different. Carter started off with a rush, took the net and ran the play to suit himself. His fast volley shots at the net and his overhead work finally gave him the set love. The pace was too hard to follow up, however, and Carter had to abandon the net in the last set. Smith came back too strong, having wonderful control of his drives, and took the set and match. The scores were 10-8, 2-6, 0-6, 6-2.

Mansfield-Smith and Grant-Thornton are in the finals, fighting for the double title. Each team won their matches Thursday afternoon. Grant and Thornton had a close set in their match with Carter and Middlebrooks, but never were in danger of dropping a set. Their work was good throughout, especially the overhead kills. The play in the match was slow, and outside of an occasional fast shot or pretty get, had no feature. Carter and Grant did some nice volleying. Middlebrooks' lobs gave the opposition some trouble, though Thornton killed many of them.

Mansfield and Smith had a much easier time against Smith and Draper, winning handily in straight sets. The style in the final doubles is about even. Grant and Thornton's long work together will be worth something, but as a team they are not as fast as they were a few years ago. Mansfield will have to bear the brunt of the net work, as Smith is rather weak there. The match should be a very close one. It is set for Saturday afternoon.

In the consolation singles there will be a battle royal for the cup between Harry Hallman and Jake Orr, with the odds slightly in favor of the Tech star, who has been putting up a great game, winning his consolation matches easily. The same can be said of Orr, but he is not as fast as Hallman, and this may cost him something. The match will be played Friday afternoon.

Another Tech boy who has been doing fine in this tournament is Hardy Hall. The boy worked his way to the semi-finals and took a set from Carleton Smith. His playing in this match stamps him as a coming star, and he is sure to be heard from later.

BARONS HIT AND WON OUT

Musser Is Treated Rather Harshly in One Round—Score Was 7 to 2

The Baron sluggers were not the least bit puzzled by Paul Musser's curves in his short stay in Thursday's game, and the battle was safely put on ice by the Baronville bunch in the opening round, when four runs were tallied. Three more were later added off Price, while Atlanta made just two, and the count ended 7 to 2, with the Barons at the big end.

Musser has pitched far better ball, and can do so again, but he was just simply not right, while the Baron sluggers were at their best at the batting game. Five hits, four of them of the cleanest kind, produced the four runs scored off Musser before Price came to the rescue.

Bill Foxen was the Baron flinger to get credit for the win, and yet he hurled a most ordinary game. He had horseshoes stuck all around him, the Crackers hitting him at every moment but the old opportune time. Two hits each in the first three rounds did not send home anything that looked like a run, and yet the Crackers hit the ball hard, a fielder always being right in its path.

Whitey Alperman and Harry Chapman played stellar ball in the field for Atlanta, while Whitey also acquitted himself most nobly with the willow, getting three hits. Chapman's throw to the bags, and Alperman's tagging were about the only bright features so far as the Cracker end of the game was concerned.

Welchonce, Alperman, Bailey, Smith, Bisland and Agler did all of the hitting for Atlanta, yet they did not ever happen to come to the bat when a bingle was most needed. With runners on the bags, it was always some one else who came up.

A big batting rally was threatened in the eighth inning, when Bailey tripled, Smith doubled and Bisland singled, all of which counted two runs. These were the first three batters up, and after that the others went out in order.

In the hope of keeping up the rally, Manager Smith let Rohe bat for Price, and Conselman finished the game in place of Price, who had relieved Musser in the first round. The collegian turned out his usual classy work.

The Baron bunch was just there with the stick. Marcan, Mayer, Foxen, Messenger, Kelechey, McBride, McGilvray, Ellam and Foxen all hit safely, Carroll being the only player wearing the uniform of the visiting club who did not connect.

American Handicap Shoot

DAYTON, Ohio, June 20.—The grand American handicap opened today. An unusually large number of amateurs were present. All the nineteen sections of five squads each shot four rounds yesterday. The fifth round, twenty targets, will be shot this morning. No official scores were announced yesterday.

Herbertson Wins

OGDEN, Utah, June 20.—Jack Herbertson, of Ogden, last night defeated Henry Trallinger, European middleweight champion, in straight falls, the first in twenty-four minutes and the second in five and a half minutes. Mike Yokeni, world's champion, has agreed to meet Herbertson.

"LAND OF COTTON" PAIR BEST PLAYING THE NATIONAL GAME

Two stars from Dixie—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, most wonderful ball player the world has ever known, and Joe Jackson, batter and sprinter extraordinary.

Cobb, the sensational, is playing the same marvelous game he has played ever since he broke upon the vision of the fans as a star.

In the field and upon the bases the "Peach" is the same old hair-raising specialist, taking extra bases on seemingly impossible chances, out-guessing the infield, stealing home with the winning run or killing off seeming sure hits in a manner that breaks hearts.

Cobb is the biggest attraction in baseball and sends more money into the box office than any individual that ever played the game.

Jackson is Cobb's persistent rival. With as much speed as the Georgian, Jackson does not possess the flashlight initiative of the blond whirlwind, but then neither does 90 per cent of the ball players, for Cobb's thinking is instantaneous.

TY COBB,
The world's greatest ball player, rounding third base on one of his typical dashes for the plate. Below, Joe Jackson, who is forcing Cobb to divide his honors as batter and run-getter.

Jackson is as great an outfielder as Cobb. He hasn't put the brains into the game that has marked Cobb's career, because he hasn't had to. He is a natural born player. Cobb is also, plus the high-power brain which raises him above all rivals.

Ever since Cobb joined his team after settling the salary question with Detroit management, Jackson has been kicking his heels and the pair are in a nip-and-tuck race, away out in front of all rivals.

Lacking the electrifying spontaneity that makes Cobb so brilliant a performer Jackson is equally effective. He is more methodical than his rival and doesn't stage the sensational performances on the base lines that have made Cobb the most talked of player in the game.

But the fans love Jackson for his good, old-fashioned manner of putting his weight behind his hits—those long, clean, extra base drives of the born slugger, which go, as Willie Keeler has been quoted as saying, "where the fielders ain't."

Few Notes On Games

Kid Elberfeld is getting in bad all around. Yesterday he was beaned by Brackenbridge, the ball giving him a loud crack on the head and rolling back into the diamond. The pitcher picked up the ball and threw it to first. This filled the Kid and he hurled his bludgeon at the pitcher, for which he was benched.

Zimmerman, the professional umpire baiter, was handed $50 yesterday by Umpire Klem as he stepped up to the plate, with the promise that the other $50 was coming to him if he would refrain from being chased from the game for two weeks. They are trying to placate Zim now.

The Giants and the Reds had a big session in the eighth yesterday, registering four runs apiece. This was a hair-raising windup to a close 8 to 7 game.

Ping Bodie would have made his third home run in as many days had he not been robbed by Walsh yesterday.

Tyrus Cobb is coming down.

Only four bingles were made in the Memphis-Montgomery game yesterday, Memphis getting one and Montgomery three.

"Mugsy" McGraw is certainly out to fulfil his prediction that he will be back in first place by July 1. He has acquired another $10,000 beauty, and has purchased an outfielder.

EVADING SALARY LIMIT BREAKS MANY LEAGUES

Some of the Smaller Circuits Ruin Themselves by Paying Too Much Money

Violation of the salary limit is one of the very worst horrors that can befall a minor baseball league. It is just as sure to put them on the blink as drives over the left field fence at Ponce de Leon are to go for home runs and you know that is hard to beat.

Right now there are several smaller leagues in this immediate section that are in hot water because of the eagerness to win games at the expense of bankrupting the club. To win is all good enough, but when you consider that but one team can win a fig in each league it is quite foolish to jump way over the salary limit in trying to hire a team of major league talent for a class of organization. It will get you sooner or later.

Baseball leagues are classified according to their population and the attendance they should turn out and the salary limit then prescribed and it is out of the question for towns to think they can afford to overstep this limit. The proper salary limit for the different classifications has long been closely studied by the baseball powers and they do not go far wrong in the placing of the salary limit. They place the monthly figures at a long experience has taught them and for a few baseball fanatics to think they can overstep this mark is not but suicide. If it was suicide for only that one town it would not be so bad, but it hurts the entire league.

Rivalry and close races of course helps baseball, but you can have this without overstepping the salary limits. If every league will just agree to a certain limit and then have the cities to conform to this agreement there will be no danger of suicide and the race will be just as close and exciting. The class of ball put up by some of the teams might not be quite as good as that turned out if the higher priced players were used, but then it will be just as close and plenty good enough for fandom. Just as long as there is baseball the salary limits will be broken, but for all parties concerned it is better that it not be quite so flagrant as is now shown in some few of the smaller leagues now enjoying life around this immediate section.

Ritchie Quits Nolan

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, has dismissed Manager Billy Nolan. The champion went down from Nolan's ranch yesterday to begin training for his Fourth of July fight with Joe Rivers, announced the break, adding that his reasons were "personal and financial."

RICHARDS AND M'NEIL MEET

These Two Riders to Get Together in Four Events—Faster Machines

The closest contests of the racing season here are looked for Saturday night. The program has been arranged with especial care and with a view of making each heat an exciting race. Riders of about equal merit and machines of practically equal speed have been thrown together in each heat, and every one should be closely contested.

The sweepstakes for Saturday night has been named in honor of Mayor Jim Woodward.

To settle the long-standing dispute between Jock McNeil and "Tex" Richards as to which has the speedier machine, these men have been thrown together in the third preliminary of each big event. It is pretty likely that they will finish one-two in each preliminary and that their time will be the fastest in the preliminaries. That will mean that both of them will qualify for the finals, for the first and second man in the fastest heat always qualify in the finals. So McNeil and Richards will, with ordinary luck, get four chances against each other Saturday night—in the third heat of each big event and in the finals.

The record crowd of the season is looked for Saturday night. This is naturally the big night for a spectacular show like motordrome racing. The overflow from local moving picture places is enough to fill two motordromes. With a sensational show at two bits, right within easy reach of Five Points, there will be a real crowd out Saturday night. On Tuesday night the stands were filled, but there was room for more in the infield. Saturday night a crowd that fills both stands and infield is expected. Racing with motorcycles on a banked board track is a sport that appeals to people of all sorts, to everybody who loves excitement. Its popularity seems to be growing with a rush in Atlanta.

Trophy Given Cracker Club By Kavanaugh

Cholly Frank Followed League Head to Atlanta to Get Him to Settle Dispute—Play Over Forfeited Game

President William Kavanaugh, of the Southern League, spent a most busy day in Atlanta Thursday, for besides awarding the Atlanta club the handsome attendance trophy he held several conferences with Manager Charley Frank, of New Orleans, regarding the exchange of players between Montgomery and New Orleans and then discussed at length with the directors of the Atlanta club the forfeited game at Nashville.

The Atlanta club was well satisfied with the president's action in awarding the attendance trophy to the club, but in deciding that it would be best to play off the forfeited game with Nashville the local directors were not so well satisfied. Neither was Cholly Frank any too well pleased when the judge did not order Montgomery club to turn over Bagby and Sutton to the Pels in exchange for Snedecor and $750.

After spending a strenuous day with the Atlanta and New Orleans officials and attending the game in the afternoon President Kavanaugh was tendered a dinner during the evening by the local club. At this dinner all baseball was forgotten and a royal good time was the result.

"I am well pleased with the manner in which every detail of the Southern league race is moving along," said President Kavanaugh in discussing the great season at hand. "It looks like 1913 will be a banner year in every respect. All the cities are drawing well while the race is exciting and promises to be far from a runaway affair.

"Good baseball is what helps the attendance and this the fans of most every city are getting in large doses. The sport of the Mobile club has helped a great deal and Mike Finn promises to keep right in the race and keep up the enthusiasm. In Montgomery the same is true as is the case at Nashville and Chattanooga, all these clubs being right in the running for high honors.

"Atlanta has always been a good baseball town and the record is being held this year. Should the team keep right in the race, as is most likely, Atlanta will show a very large attendance mark."

Hardgrove and Brady to Work

In today's game with the Barons Billy Smith will probably use Brady, while Molesworth's most likely choice is Hardgrove. After their off day with the stick yesterday the Crackers should do quite considerable clouting this afternoon and get away with the contest. Birmingham slipped one over yesterday, but the Crackers are fighting still for that second rung, and will have to trample on the Barons slightly to get it.

The time is 3:45 and the place is the park. Today is ladies' day, and so the time, the place and the girl will all be there.

WHO'S NEXT.

Why, here it was but yesterday
We cheered you in the Big Corral
And paid the tax to see you play;
One with the old, world famed machine
That held its sway amid the Push,
And yet your shadow leaves the green
And fads away amid the bush.

But yesterday I saw you dash
And yonk one down upon the run;
But yesterday I heard your smash
Proclaim another battle won;
But yesterday—and here I see
That Time has beckoned and you go;
One with the "bunch that used to be"—
One with a "guy I used to know."

I watch the Big Parade, and cheer;
Postmasters of the Poling Log—
Par peggers of the pelting sphere;
Another day I look once more
At strange and unfamiliar clans.
And there is none I saw before
Beyond a Matty or a Hans.

Frank Leroy Chance is another keen-eyed expert who confesses that the 1913 Pirates have crossed his dope to a finish. "Baseball," says the P. L., "is a queer game, but while I have seen a number of upsets I have never hit upon one like this Pittsburg affair. Last fall I thought Clarke had one of the best ball clubs I had ever seen. I didn't see how any club in the old league could stop him. Boston looked to have nothing, and yet these two clubs have been neck and neck for over two months with Pittsburg practically out of the race before July. The answer? I give it up. There isn't any answer. It's just one of those things."

THE EXCEPTION.

The dope may be erratic in a large number of spots save in the presence of the Athletics. When they make up their mind what they want there's nothing else to it. They carry a unique system which doesn't depend upon the dope but almost exclusively upon obtaining more runs than the other club. Which by many is believed to be one of the greatest little systems now extant.

SLUMPS AND SLUMPS.

Ty Cobb slumped .105 batting points in two weeks and yet was still around .395. "Gee," remarked a Yank outfielder, "I wish I could pick up a slump like that. I don't care about hitting the ball; I only want to slump like Cobb."

Mr. Stallings isn't claiming any pennants yet, but those who are no longer esteem it any terrific bliss to encounter Mr. Stallings' club on the highway. Which is something of a rebuttal, at that.

Johnson's percentage—.826.
Washington's percentage—.537.
Washington's percentage (minus Johnson)—.406.

The Book of Westminister is planning to spend another half-million for a shot at the Polo cup next summer; a ripping game sport, we should. After lamping the polo standing of the clubs fror the last four years, viz.:

England—won 0—lost 6—per cent .000.

Wyley Sutton, of the Lowry National bank, received The Journal ticket to the big trophy-day game at Ponce de Leon park on Thursday. Sutton was snapped at the game Tuesday and his likeness appeared in the Wednesday issue of The Journal.

It was not the least bit of trouble for Mr. Sutton to identify himself. He came to The Journal shortly after the noon edition of the paper appeared on the street and was given his ticket.

LONDON, June 20.—Wallace F. Johnson, of Philadelphia, today beat the German crack, F. W. Raho, by three sets in two in the fourth round of the open singles in the London lawn tennis championship tournament.

Ferns to Fight Denney

NEW ORLEANS, June 20.—Young Denny, of New Orleans, and "Wild Cat" Ferns, of Kansas City, have been matched for a ten-round fight here July 4. They are welterweights.

Ascot Derby Is Marred

ASCOT, England, June 20.—The race for the Ascot gold cup, one of the most coveted prizes of the English turf, was marred by an incident similar to that which brought the king's horse down in the Derby, when Emily Wilding Davison sought and found death in the cause of the militant suffragettes. In this case it was a man, Harold Hewitt, who duplicated Miss Davison's feat.

According to the Ascot police Hewitt was not connected with the suffragettes, but was of unsound mind and of a type peculiarly liable to be carried away by the imitative impulse. He suffered the same penalty for his temerity as did Miss Davison—a fracture at the base of the skull.

At a late hour last night Hewitt was lying unconscious in a hospital, after undergoing an operation in the forlorn hope that his life might be saved.

King George and Queen Mary, ex-King Manuel, of Portugal; the crown prince and crown princess of Sweden, the duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada, and Princess Patricia, and a number of lesser royalties were watching the race from the royal stand.

JORDAN IS GOING FAST

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 20.—Valdosta easily took the first game of the series from Thomasville, 6 to 2. After the first inning Winges had the heavy hitting Thomasville batters completely at his mercy, while his teammates hit Roth all over the field.

Franks, for Valdosta, drove in three runs and scored two himself.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Thomasville ...200 000 000—	2	6	3
Valdosta. .....120 003 00*—	6	12	2

Another Big Sale

NEW YORK, June 20.—Alexander Smith Cochran, who recently bought the colt, His Majesty, for $20,000, has just secured from John E. Madden, Early Rose, a two-year-old chestnut filly by Star Shoot-Lady Bedford, for the reported price of $12,000.

Madden bred Early Rose at Hamburg Place. Her dam, Lady Bedford, won several important stakes as a two and three-year-old in the Madden colors. Early Rose showed several fast trials over the Belmont park straight away before Mr. Cochran concluded to buy her. She is eligible for the Futurity.

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

In Answer to the Above Question, by Arthur F. Rolf, the Poultry Husbandman at the Georgia Experiment Station.

Thus you have absolute proof that the members of the board of directors had varying ideas as to why the abolishment of the poultry department was recommended. Why then, was the poultry department abolished? Perhaps a personal letter from Director-elect DeLoach to A. F. Rolf, poultry husbandman, may give further explanation. In this hope, let us look at this letter which was written under date of April 24, at Athens, Ga. This letter reads as follows:

"In order that you may understand the reasons for my recommendations to the board of directors of the experiment station in reference to discontinuing the poultry department of the station, I suggest for your information that such action on my part was based solely on what I thought to be the best interests of the station. There are so many stations that have strong and effective poultry departments that it is rather hard to find work that we can do in the Georgia station that will be acceptable to the authorities at Washington. Besides there are many other lines of work that are more important at this time that Georgia should undertake. Soil work and agronomy are greatly neglected generally among the southern stations, and it is our hope to undertake work immediately in both these lines of investigation.

"For your information, I wish to say that the recommendation was not made because of any complaint against you or your work. So far as I could learn, your work has been satisfactory and efficient, perhaps as much so as one could have made it with the limited amount of facilities at your disposal."

Well, well! Instead of finding an explanation of the previous letters, we are in deeper than ever. This letter has amused me very much, and I still am forced to smile when I read it. Now, I think it distinctly understood that I do not reflect upon Mr. DeLoach in any way, for I have no reason to believe that his action was not as he says, "based solely on what I thought to be the best interests of the station." However, some of the so-called reasons that he advances make me smile. For instance, when he says that there are so many stations with strong and effective poultry departments that it is rather hard to find work that we can do at the Georgia station that will be acceptable to the authorities at Washington. Why, I would not ask anything easier than to outline work along poultry lines that could be done at Georgia which would be entirely satisfactory to the authorities at Washington. I know that I can outline work of this kind—work that will be acceptable to the authorities at Washington—work that could be done at the Georgia station, and outline enough of it to keep ten men busy the year round. And that can be done by the application of only a little intelligence of some people, on some subjects, could be put into your eye, and not cause you to wear glasses at all.

When he says—"There are many other lines of work that are more important at this time that Georgia should undertake," I have nothing to say. You can judge that as you see fit, for that is wholly a matter of personal opinion. However, if one will take the trouble to look up the statistics, one will find that the poultry industry of Georgia is not quite so insignificant as it might be.

Immediately upon receipt of this letter, I was interested in looking up the statistics to see how many southern stations afford poultry departments, as against the number that are doing work in agronomy or soil work—for, as you see, he says—"There are so many stations that have strong and effective poultry departments." Soil work and agronomy are greatly neglected among the southern stations."

Well, I do not know from what source Mr. DeLoach derived this information. I do know, and can prove it by the last government report of the office of experiment stations, that at least twice as many of the southern stations are doing work in soil work or agronomy, as are doing work with poultry. If the country at large is taken, this percentage will be much greater. Here, then, I must conclude that Director-elect DeLoach was in some way misinformed.

Now in support of my claim that poultry work in the south can be carried on at the experiment stations—that it is not necessarily extension propaganda in Georgia as DeLoach claims—and that work can be found that will be acceptable to the authorities at Washington, the office of experiment stations, I will quote a portion of a letter from the office of experiment stations, and signed by one of the chief officials, who writes to me as follows:

"I have received your letter of April 22 notifying us of the action of the board of directors in abolishing the poultry department. In regret this much that this action was found necessary, as the department was so recently established and seemed in a way to serve a useful purpose in the state."

Now does that sound like the office of experiment stations did not consider that poultry work could be made, and had been made experimental work in Georgia—or that it should be made a purely extension propaganda.

My views may be one-sided, but I have always wondered how extension work could be intelligently pursued in a section where the principles of poultry husbandry had not been proven by or adapted to local conditions by experimental work. We know that different climatic conditions and other local phenomena will affect poultry practices—and yet, here we have a man who is advising the teaching of the people before the teachers have reached the foundation truths themselves.

I could go on to show how the economic feature of the case are effected by this action, or I could present my own personal views of the matter, but I do not wish to inflict these latter upon the public, and as this article is already too long, I will rest the case here, and allow you to form your own opinions on the matter.

All personal considerations aside, I will say to the poultry fraternity of Georgia—I regret to see you losing any possible advantages which might accrue from the pursuit of experimental poultry work. Wherever I may be located, or in whatever line of work, I will always appreciate the co-operation which has been extended to me by the poultry clate the co-operation which has been extended to me by the poultry breeders of Georgia, and, if I can ever be of service in any way, I am at the command of each and every poultry breeder.

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.
Atlanta, Ga.

I would like a little information about my White Leghorn chicks. They seem all right until they get about four weeks old. Then their wings droop and they die in a few days. I feed them baby chick feed, Aunt Patsy, white shorts and bran, also beef scraps and plenty of fresh water. They have dry and comfortable quarters and have the best of care. Any information will be very thankful for.

MRS. H. F. W.

ANSWER.

In this same issue read reply to Mrs. H. F. W., which practically covers your case. You should omit the shorts and bran. Two parts bran to one part beef scraps with some charcoal will be all right and can be safely fed from a hopper. Aunt Patsy or fed along with it after the chickens are ten days old. The should not be fed before. The wings should be clipped. I am confident in both cases the chickens have been overfed at some time and have indigestion. More chickens are killed from overkindness and overfeeding than from any other one thing. I do not think there is any doubt but this is the trouble in both cases. Exercise and a variety of food will get their digestive organs in shape and they will eventually outgrow this trouble if you use judgment in feeding.

FOR RENT

AT No. 25½ Whitehall street, corner of Alabama, the very busiest corner in the city of Atlanta, we have a large, bright office room, newly painted and papered, with electric lights, gas and water, windows can be seen from three streets (Whitehall, Alabama and Broad). This should be an ideal location, and can be rented for a very reasonable rate, either unfurnished or completely furnished, ready for business. See us for particulars.

ON the corner of Hill and Clarke, out in the Grant Park section, we have two pretty brand-new brick stores, large floor space, well finished inside, water, gas and electric lights. Corner store would make a splendid location for drug store, as there are none other within several blocks; grocery, dry goods, or any other reputable business should do well in either one of these stores. Price $20 and $25 per month.

ON Peters street, close to the Peters street viaduct, and just a short distance from the heart of town, we have several good stores of almost any floor space wanted. These stores are close enough in to be in touch with the business center, right at the railroad, and freight office, and can be rented at very reasonable rates. See us.

IF YOU HAVE MONEY TO LOAN WE CAN PLACE IT.

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Corner in Decatur Is Sold for $9,000, or $90 a Front Foot, Linwood and Piedmont Avenue Sales of $8,000 and $6,000 Announced—Peachtree Improvement — DeKalb Measures for Legislature—Result of Thursday's Auction

More medium-sized sales featured real estate announcements Friday. Decatur was featured in this connection with probably the largest front foot value ever recorded in DeKalb county.

The Edwin P. Ansley agency has sold for Mrs. L. S. McKoy to C. J. Metz the northwest corner of Ponce de Leon and Clairmont avenue. The price was $9,000, or $90 a front foot.

The property consists of a lot 100x200, with a dwelling on it. It corners on the central house square of Decatur, and on Ponce de Leon avenue, which is being extended through Druid Hills into Decatur. Other recent sales in Decatur have brought as high as $60 a front foot.

LINWOOD AVENUE SALES.

The same agency sold for James W. Cook to Mrs. Lucie C. Christian 128 Linwood avenue, a residence property, for $8,000. This consists of an eight-room brick residence on a lot 44x200.

PIEDMONT AVENUE SALE.

This is the southwest corner of Piedmont avenue and Twelfth street, 106x100, and vacant. The consideration was $6,000, or at the rate of $60 a front foot. J. A. Fritz sold the property to Mrs. Lucie C. Christian.

PEACHTREE IMPROVEMENT.

It was reported Friday that Colonel Willis Ragan was planning improvements for the Plaza hotel corner at the intersection of Peachtree and West Peachtree streets, where there is at present a vacant lot and old buildings.

The improvements contemplate a store in the point of the triangle and a general remodeling of the present building.

EAST LAKE LEGISLATION.

The legislature at its approaching session will consider two local bills affecting the section around East Lake.

One of the measures is for the corporation of Lake View, known as the Poplar Springs district. The idea is to make it possible to build a water and sewer system and enjoy other advantages of an incorporated town.

The bill is to withdraw from incorporation, except for police protection, certain territory in the town of East Lake.

THURSDAY'S AUCTION.

Five lots were sold Thursday afternoon on the auction sale of lots in the Ansley Park annex on North Boulevard and Flaclet avenue.

A good crowd attended, but not large enough to suit R. S. Hawkinson, who had charge of the sale for the Edwin P. Ansley agency and was the auctioneer, to go on with the sale.

RECEIVER IS ASKED FOR PAINTER'S ORGANS

Attorneys for U. S. Fidelity and Guaranty Company Ask Receiver

(By Associated Press.)

BALTIMORE, June 20.—Another step was taken here today in the legal battle for the possession of the vital organs of Edward O. Painter, the Jacksonville, Fla., fertilizer manufacturer who lost his life in the St. Johns river some weeks ago.

Attorneys for the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, which issued a large accident policy to Painter, applied for a receiver for the organs which had been sent to Baltimore for chemical examination. The court was asked to authorize the receiver to make an independent examination.

Judge Duffy gave the defendant until next Wednesday to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The guaranty company alleges that a portion of the viscera had already been turned over to the Painter interests.

A Foe to "Baby Talk"

(Dr. A. A. Berle.)

It is not enough that a thing be spoken. It makes a great deal of difference how it is spoken. The proper vocalization of words has an effect upon children which is often, one may say generally, overlooked. Almost everybody is fond of repeating the baby efforts to talk and baby talk lingers in many homes, an innocent but costly pleasure for the parents and the children alike. There are many persons of mature age at this moment who will never pronounce certain words properly, since they became accustomed to a false pronunciation in childhood because somebody thought it was cute. There are many persons who will never get over certain false associations of ideas, because somebody thought it was very amusing and funny to see the child piling up things in such a beautiful childlike way!

For June 22. Amos 6:1-8.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DR. MARION MEL. HULL.

Golden Text: "Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live." Amos 5:14:

It is remarkable how God chooses and uses His instruments. Suppose you had to choose a messenger for a very important message to a rich, proud, ease loving, luxurious people. What kind of a man would be your choice? Would it be a simple farmer, a herdsman and fruitgrower? Yet this was God's choice in Amos, and a most powerful message he delivered. He had been raised in a little village south of Bethlehem, but in the transaction of his business he had to go to the cities of Judah and of northern Israel. He came thus in contact with the people, and had an opportunity to note the danger in which the nation was by reason of its blindness. Its leaders did not see the corrupting influence that was weakening its moral backbone and preparing the way for a terrible judgment of the God whom they had forgotten.

Oh, yes, they were still outwardly religious; a certain show of worship was kept up, but deep down in their hearts God was forgotten. They were living for self only.

THE DANGER OF PROSPERITY.

How had all this come about? Under Uzziah Judah had reached the highest state of prosperity the nation had ever known. God had blessed the efforts of a remarkably able man and as long as he remembered God, He prospered him. Cities were built, otherwise fortified, armies and the government improved—internally and externally the nation was growing rich and powerful.

In Israel much the same story could be told. Jeroboam II was king and a man of unusual parts. The kingdom of Israel reached its highest state of prosperity under him.

But this very wealth had developed a condition of affairs that was becoming alarming. The people who were in authority had grown rich, not always by the most honorable methods. They had added this luxury and that until their whole attitude towards life was that of ease-loving and self-indulgence. It doesn't take long for excesses to grow out of such a life, and these had grown in Israel and Judah to an enormous degree. Their self-confidence, their self-indulgency, their self-love had blinded their eyes to any possible danger from without, and made their condition one of peril because of ignorance of danger.

The worship of God with its simplicity, its constant demand for the recognition of sin and need of atonement, and of submission to a Higher Power was not pleasing to the taste of these luxurious livers. The lascivious worship of Baal with its excesses of the grosser kinds was more to their taste, and into it they had entered.

Raised as he had been away from the temptations of luxury and wealth, Amos, the herdsman and presser of figs, was so shocked by what he saw of their blindness and danger that God used him to bring warning to them of their impending doom.

Our passage is a part of the close of the second sermon. He showed them that their corruption was ripe for judgment, that the destruction should be far reaching, that their luxury, and extravagance and self-indulgence should be punished, since God had done all He could to save it, but in vain.

He presented it with plainness and with vigor, but alas, their sin had so blinded their eyes that they could not see their sin and change from it. The fact that instead of cups they drank bowls of wine may have something to do with this, for drunkenness was one of the nation's sins at that time. Finally the destruction came, but not in Amos' time. God mightily strengthened him, and through him averted the danger for a while, not willing that any should perish if they would but turn from sin.

A POSSIBLE PARALLEL.

Is it not possible that we may find a parallel in the life of our nation? God has wonderfully blessed us in many good things. There never was a time when this country was so prosperous, the chronic smokers in the White House notwithstanding. Internally and externally we are stronger than ever in the history of our country, and we occupy a peculiarly position of pre-eminence in the galaxy of the nations.

But along with our prosperity, alas! there has come the usual train of dangers. Selfishness sits in the lap of luxury, and instead of God, self rules this country. Extravagance is the fashion, and in some places there is real piety. But too often we sit at ease, we think our position as impregnable as Samaria, we feel secure, and we deceive ourselves with the chief ointments. Alas, the lambs of the flock are devouring the fatted calves for their gain and gold, and we are not grieved for the afflictions of Joseph.

A recent census in twenty cities by the Men and Religion movement showed that there were three saloons to every church in those cities, and the other cities would probably show about the same relative proportions. When we realize that every eight minutes there is one death from drink, we can appreciate in some measure the fact that America is using bowls instead of cups.

And yet we sit securely, blinded by sin, to the nation's danger. Oh, that we might hear the words of Amos, and as individuals and as a nation turn from self to God, and escape.

Examine your life critically, my brother, and answer to yourself and to God this question—for whom, and to whom, and by whom is my life lived; is it self or God?

DEFENSE MAKES STAND IN COTTON POOL CASE

Case Against W. H. Coyle and tOhers Goes to Oklahoma Jury Soon

GUTHRIE, OKLA., June 20.—After the examination of twenty-two witnesses, the defense closed its testimony in the case of W. H. Coyle and others indicted for violating the anti-trust laws in pooling cotton prices and destroying competition.

The defense sought to prove by these witnesses that $5 per bale, the price to which cotton ginning was raised by Crescent, was not unreasonable but below the actual cost of ginning.

P. W. Norris, a prominent Texas cotton man, on cross-examination testified that he was a director of the new state brokerage company, successor to the "Sons of Plato," whose purpose was to control cotton prices in Oklahoma, Texas, Tennessee and Arkansas.

Saving and Investing

TWO GOOD ADVERTISEMENTS.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

Everybody who is interested in writing about finance for the people—telling people about money and securities in plain words—know of Lee Scovil and Harry Robbins. It happens that they are the advertising representatives of two big bond houses, but what they've done in making a hard subject clear to the average reader has not been confined, by a long shot, to the literature they've put out boosting their own firms and securities.

The other day I ran across two advertisements, one directly under the other, which were put into a New York paper by these two men. They show the sort of educational, clear-to-your-mind copy which Scovil and Robbins use, and the sort which they have made popular with many other advertising men in bond selling houses.

Scovil's ad was called "Frugality," and it was this:

"Considering that practically every fortune, big or little, can be traced back to individual frugality and individual savings, no man should despair of acquiring a competency. Individual frugality is rewarded no less today than in days gone by. This is evidenced by the fact that the man with savings is now offered many opportunities to make conservative investments yielding approximately 4 to 6 per cent."

Robbins, in the next advertisement, took up the argument in a piece headed: "Our April Circular." This he said "presents a variety of sound issues at low prices reflecting the influence of the prevailing high rates for money." He used a little list suggesting municipal bonds which will yield from 4.25 to 4.73 per cent, railroad bonds to yield from 4.20 to 5.05 per cent, and public utility bonds to yield from 4.50 to 6 per cent.

I don't remember seeing anywhere a more compact statement of the whole legitimate appeal which can be made to the thrifty than is contained in these two small ads. They are true in every word, they are backed by big and square organizations, and they are crisp and appealing. I'd like to see more of the same kind spread all over the country.

Resinol

Heals itching skins

Resinol Ointment, with Resinol Soap, stops itching instantly, quickly and easily heals the most distressing cases of eczema, rash or other tormenting skin or scalp eruption, and clears away pimples, blackheads, redness, roughness and dandruff, when other treatments have proven only a waste of time and money.

DON'T TAKE BOWEL MEDICINE WHEN IT'S YOUR LIVER THAT'S WRONG

If Your Liver Gets Lazy You Need a Liver Tonic, Not Merely a Laxative for the Bowels.

Many people take a simple laxative when their liver gets sluggish rather than take calomel, which they know to be dangerous. But a mere laxative will not start a sluggish liver. What is needed is a tonic that will liven up the liver without forcing you to stay at home and lose a day from your business.

You have such a tonic in Dodson's Liver Tone. Dodson's Liver Tone must be all that is claimed for it because every druggist who sells it guarantees it to take the place of dangerous calomel and agrees to hand back the money with a smile, to any person who tries Dodson's Liver Tone and is not satisfied with the relief it gives.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a harmless vegetable liquid with a pleasant taste and is a prompt and reliable remedy for constipation, billiousness, sour stomach and the other troubles that come from a torpid liver.

Ask your own druggist and he will tell you that he gives Dodson's Liver Tone his personal guarantee to refund the price if it fails to do good. Large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone is 50 cents.—(Advt.)

Wireless Phone a Success

(Chicago Tribune.)

Paris—Prof. Vanni, of the Rome Wireless Institute, who telephoned by wireless from Rome to Brussels recently, in an interview he gave the details of how he was able to send a telephonic message across the Mediterranean sea, a distance of nearly seven hundred miles.

Prof. Vanni said in his experiments he uses a liquid Microphone, the idea of which was given him by Professor Bill, Alexander Graham Bell's brother. With this and Moretti generators the members of the Tripoli wireless station heard him with perfect distinctness, and those who know him personally at once recognized his voice.

He also told how, as an interesting experiment, he placed the horn of a talking machine near the liquid microphone, and the tunes and songs played by the instrument were heard clearly.

Prof. Vanni said he is following up these results with Dr. Ruthmann, the German president he will soon be able to telephone by wireless from Rome to Paris. Although the distance between the two capitals is only 1,100 miles more than to Berlin, the Hertz waves, he says, find it a good deal more difficult to pass such obstacles as mountains, hills and forests than to cross the sea.

(London Mail.)

Fixing the Blame

(Judge.)

"Yes," said Mrs. Jenks, "on the whole, Freddy and Katie take after their father. Of course Katie has her big brown eyes from me, and Freddy his cute little rosebud mouth—the Jenkses all have ungainly features—but otherwise they're their father's children.

"Of course, though, Freddy's scholarly tendencies come from my side of the family. I was among the foremost in my class at school. And Katie absolutely cannot be made to vary a hair's breadth from the truth. That trait, I suppose, she does get from me—that and her ability to overlook the faults of others, and her modesty. She's so neat and orderly, too. If there's one thing I never could tolerate it's disorderliness. Jenks used to be so careless about throwing things around that he nearly drove me wild.

"Freddy's teacher says he shows great promise in his piano studies, too. Father, Mr. Jenks, used to touch violin, you know; but I think Freddy inherits his talent from a cousin of mine who played the melodeon. He couldn't read notes, but really he was a virtuoso.

"Katie sews beautifully with needle and thread, just as I was. Why, I could make doll dresses when I was 4. You would die laughing to see how clothes-pins and I used to make his socks. Katie's so industrious—she resembles me in that. Mr. Jenks is really awfully lazy. He grumbles because he has to cook breakfast for himself and the children.

"On the whole, though, I think they resemble their father. They're so irritable at times when things don't go smoothly, just as he is. And Freddy's deceitful occasionally, and he makes that same horrid face when caught stealing jam, too. Of course, as I said, some of their good qualities they inherit from my side of the family, but mostly they take after Mr. Jenks. Children are an awful trial."

As They'd Have Been Done By

Parents who were severely punished as children do not punish their children at all; and the most austere parents are those who, when children, were "spoiled." Almost regardless of the views of their children, parents deal with them, so far as discipline is concerned, as they themselves were dealt with.

This implies no lack of love, no lack of respect, for the older generation. On the contrary, it is the slish and symbol of a love, a respect, so great as to permit of divergences of opinion and procedure, in spite of the differences of age.

"I am not going to bring up the baby in the way I was brought up, mamma, darling." I once heard a mother of a month-old baby clear first child say. "I am not going to remember. "Aren't you, dear?" replied the older lady with a smile. "Why not?"

"Oh," returned the child, "I want her to be better than I am. I think I would be brought to be very different from the way you did, I'd have been a much more worth while person."

She spoke very solemnly, but her mother only laughed, and kissed her child once more, and her granddaughter. "That is what I said to my mother when you were a month old!" she said whimsically.

Therefore, Spare the Cat

(New York Independent.)

A lover of birds sends a new plea for them. He tells us that cats kill the field mice that rob the nest of bumblebees, and that bumblebees fertilize the blossoms of the clover, which feeds the cows that give us milk. Such is the chain of nature. Links of any link may do grave damage." This is the way of it:

This is the clover that fed the cow that gave the milk that nourished the babe that mother loved.

This is the bee that saved the clover that fed the cow that gave the milk that nourished the babe that mother loved.

This is the mouse that killed the bee that saved the clover that fed the cow that gave the milk that nourished the babe that mother loved.

This is the cat that ate the mouse that killed the bee that saved the clover that fed the cow that gave the milk that nourished the babe that mother loved.

Therefore, will mother protect the cat or she will incur a dearer loss than that of the malt in the house that Jack built.

HERE ARE THE PROVISIONS OF CURRENCY MEASURE

New Administration Bill Will Make Many Changes in System

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Twelve or more federal reserve banks, which will be controlled by the government through a federal reserve board of seven members, in which the banks will have no representation.

The reserve board will be composed of the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of agriculture, the comptroller of the currency as members ex-officio; four other members to be chosen by the president and confirmed by the senate.

That national banks and state banks and trust companies which conform to a certain standard be stockholders of the reserve banks. The government will not hold stock.

That the national bank note circulation remain undisturbed, that no plans be made for retiring approximately $700,000,000 of 2 per cent bonds, though a separate bill may later be drafted to refund these bonds into those of 3 per cent denominations.

The probable issuance of not more than $500,000,000 federal reserve treasury notes at the discretion of the federal reserve board, these notes to be issued to make advances to the federal reserve banks, which would do no business with the public, but deal only with their member banks and receive deposits only from the United States. These notes would be secured by a gold reserve of 33 1-3 per cent.

Stringent provisions are made against counting any of these notes as a part of bank reserves, and the system is guarded against inflation by lodging power with the federal reserve board to exact an interest charge upon the treasury notes in order to secure their prompt redemption.

The federal reserve board would require one federal reserve bank to rediscount the paper of another, and would establish a rate of discount not necessarily uniform for said reserve banks, but made with a view to accommodating the commerce of the country and promoting a stable price level.

For recasting the present bank reserve system, the bill proposes to transfer the reserves from national banks in the present reserve and central reserve cities to federal reserve banks, carrying the process of transfer over thirty-eight months to avoid shock to market conditions.

The bill proposes ultimately the establishment of a reserve system in which country banks will have 15 per cent of reserve (1 e., 15 per cent of total demand liabilities), such 15 per cent to be held 5 per cent in the bank vaults, 5 per cent with the national reserve bank and 5 per cent either at home or with the reserve bank, while reserve and central reserve city banks have reserves of 20 per cent of demand liabilities, of which 10 per cent will be at home, 5 per cent with the reserve bank of the district, and 5 per cent either at home or with the reserve bank," the statement says.

"The presumed effect of this plan will be to end the placing of reserves with central reserve city banks for use in stock market operations, to keep reserves in some measure at home, and to acquire speculators to get the funds they need in their operations either by directly borrowing them from persons who hold them and want to lend the cash for that purpose, or else by borrowing from the banks in the places where the operations are to be carried on."

notes or bills drawn for the purpose of carrying or trading in stocks and bonds or other investment securities, except notes and bills having a maturity of not exceeding four months and secured by United States, state, county or municipal bonds.

Notes and bills generally arising out of commercial transactions must have a maturity of not more than forty-five days.

The Glass bill proposes that the new currency law shall become effective ninety days after its passage, through a period of thirty-eight months is allowed for shifting of present reserves to the new federal banks.

NEW MONEY TRUST PROBE?

Representative Neeley, of Kansas, a Democrat, of the house banking and currency committee, in a long speech before the house today, advocated a renewal of the money trust inquiry. He emphatically announced, however, that he favored immediate currency reform.

"No person conversant with present conditions," he said, "will dispute the necessity for this action. I have full confidence that this Democratic congress, acting in conjunction with the president, will be able to devise a plan free from the control of special and profit-expecting interests. The good faith of the Democratic party is pledged to do this as soon as we may, even though it be necessary to remain here until the regular session convenes in December."

sion of the court. The deputies will be busy in the court during next week, and if the trial of Frank were by any means a certainty, preparations would be under way.

When a two weeks' session of the criminal division of the superior court is to be held it is customary to draw the names of the talesmen who are to serve the second week with those who serve during the first week of the session.

Now, however, talesmen have been drawn for service only during the week of June 23, according to Deputy Sheriff Plennie Minor.

WHEAT ON FRE ELIST.

Wheat, 10 cents per bushel in the Underwood bill, was added to the free list, but the senate committee retained a retaliatory provision for a duty of 10 cents a bushel on wheat, 45 cents a barrel on flour and 10 per cent ad valorem on other wheat products when imported from a country that imposes duty on Americ can Wheat or wheat products.

A retaliatory duty of 10 per cent upon potatoes imported from countries imposing duties against the United States also was inserted. Potatoes were unreasonedly on the free list in the Underwood bill.

Other principal changes were as follows, the new senate rate being stated first in each instance:

Agricultural Products—Oats, 6 cents a bushel; oatmeal and rolled oats, 33 cents per hundred pounds, and oat feed, 9 cents per hundred; house free list, cheese, 2 1-2 cetns.

Consternation Is Caused Among Banana Planters

(By Associated Press.)

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 20.—Consternation has been caused among the small planters here by the receipt from Washington of a cablegrm announcing that America will impose a tax on Jamaica bananas. The government was appealed to for help and a cablegram asking for details ws sent to the British ambassador at Washington.

The banana industry is the principal one of Jamaica and as most of the fruit goes to the United States, the tax it is claimed, will be a serious blow to the British colony.

GEORGIAN IS INJURED IN HYDRO-AEROPLANE FALL

Lieutenant J. H. Towers Hurt and Ensign W. D. Billingsley Killed

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Ensign W. D. Billingsley, of Mississippi, was killed and Lieutenant J. H. Towers, of Georgia, was seriously hurt by the collapse of their hydro aeroplane while flying over Chesapeake bay near Annapolis this morning.

The two officers started early today from the naval academy in a hydro aeroplane for Claiborne, Md. When about five to seven miles fro mAnnapolis the hydro aeroplane, at an altitude of about 1,600 feet, capsized. When it had dropped about 400 feet Ensign Billingsley fell or was thrown out. His body has not been recovered.

Lieutenant Towers remained in the machine and fell with it into Chesapeake bay, where he was rescued and hurried to the naval academy hospital. Injured, although it is not known how seriously. Boats from the naval academy are searching for Billingsley's body and for wreckage of the machine to find evidence of the cause of the accident.

Billingsley was born in 1887, graduated from the naval academy in 1909 and was attached to the aviation corps in that year.

Lieutenant Towers was born in 1885, graduated from the naval academy in 1906 and assigned to the aviation corps last December.

WAS COMPETITOR SHUT OFF FROM SALE?

DALLAS, Tex., June 20.—The state of Texas in its oil penalty suit hearing here today further probed its charge that the Magnolia Petroleum company, of Texas, shut off gasoline and naphtha sales to a Texas competitor, the Pierce-Fordyce Oil association, while continuing such sales to Standard Oil companies outside of Texas.

"The city's business takes too much time," he said, Friday. "I've got my own business to look after."

Councilman J. J. Greer, of the Fifth ward, says he would join Councilman Thomson in a minute, except that his term expires on January 1 and he is ineligible for re-election, owing to the charter limit of service in council.

Alderman John H. Harwell, who has consistently supported Mayor Woodward's administration from the beginning, made an appeal for harmony in a speech to the aldermanic board Thursday afternoon, in connection with the crematory matter. Every alderman present voted against his motion.

MAYOR STANDS PAT.

So far as Mayor Woodward is concerned, he refuses to be worried over the recall proposition, and stands pat on his reply as quoted in The Journal Thursday, which was that the proposed new charter gave council a chance to forsake their offices, and take him out along with them, but they refused to let the people vote on the charter.

Much speculation is going the rounds in city hall circles as to what stand the mayor will take if the Thomson recall proposition is seriously urged by council members.

Some of the mayor's friends say he will treat it as a joke and refuse to be "caught in any such trap." Others say it would be "just like him to take council up on the proposition and go before the people for a test of sentiment."

$50,000,000 OF MEXIC LOAN NOT AVAILABLE

(By Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, June 20.—Fifty million dollars of the Mexican government loan may not be available for six months, according to an explanatory statement to the public made by the minister of finance today.

Thirty million dollars, he says, will be at the disposition of the government June 26 and the remainder in the form of two options of six months each. He continued:

"The only thing to prevent a consummatio nof the transaction will be that conditions in Mexico become so bad as to make the placing of the bonds by the bankers impossible."

Negotiations for the loan were conducted in aPris through the Banque de Paris, Et Des Pays Bas.
